VOTE! As a matter of safeguarding both public welfare and personal interests, every registered voter should express his or her decision today in the various issues on the several ballots to be submitted to the electorate. Delegates to the Republican and Democratic national conventions are to be elected in a State-wide Presidential preferential primary; city and county bond issues approximating $68,000,000 must be adopted or rejected; a new charter for Los Angeles awaits approval or disapproval; district representation in the Los Angeles City Council is again an issue. Failure to vote today will be a deliberate surrender of the rights of self-protection and of a citizen's privilege to participate in government. Polls open at 6 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

DEMOCRATS GIVEN HELP OF JOHNSON

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Hiram Johnson, the man who is asking the voters of California tomorrow to indorse him for the highest office in the land, today again slapped the Republicans of the State in the face in order to embarrass the present administration when he voted with the radicals and Democrats to kill the Mellon bill to reduce taxes.

The Senate voted 43 to 40 for the Simmons surtax rates in preference to the Mellon recommendations. By the same vote the Longworth compromise was scrapped. The normal income taxes urged by the Senate Democrats then were accepted 44 to 37 and the Mellon schedules scrapped. A vive voce vote gave approval to the Simmons plan over the Longworth normal taxes on incomes.

As both bodies have now rejected the Mellon tax plan that Women Urged to Strive for Pure Country

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, May 5.—"The women of America have a vital part to play in upholding the cause of clean government," said President Coolidge in a letter read today at a luncheon of the Republican women of Philadelphia called to indorse the President's candidacy. "But that influence cannot be exerted unless they are conscious of their duties as well as their privileges in the exercise of the franchise," the President added.

The President said the "forces of evil are always organized and if they are to be successfully combatted there must be constant effort, intelligently directed."

REVOLT OF CUBANS IS SPREADING

Uprising is Extended to Oriente Province; Troops Sent in Pursuit

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

HAVANA, May 5.—The revolutionary movement which started last week in the Province of Santa Clara has spread to Oriente Province, according to an official announcement tonight.

Approximately 150 men revolted in the historic little town of Baire, about forty miles northwest of Santiago de Cuba. It was at Baire that the last revolution against Spanish rule in Cuba was begun in 1895.

Immediately the revolt was announced the government sent soldiers in pursuit of the rebels. Information was not forthcoming from the office of the Secretary of the Interior as to the number of troops that took the field, but it was said it was sufficient to handle the situation.

LONDON, May 5.—Marquis Bottini arrived in London today with all the original manuscripts of Gabriel D'Annunzio's plays and novels, which he intends to offer at auction. With the money thus obtained the warrior-poet intends to build a great monument to Elonora Duse. The manuscripts brought an offer of $200,000 together or $6000 each from an American collector, but D'Annunzio did not need the money then.

CONGRESS TACTICS SCORED

Council of National Chamber of Commerce Denounces Passage of Bonus Bill in Face of High Taxes

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CLEVELAND, May 5.—American business is faltering, awaiting renewed expression of governmental policies, Julius H. Barnes of Duluth, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce and spokesman for three-quarters of a million affiliated members, said tonight in outlining the aims and ideals of the organization on the eve of the first general session of the twelfth annual convention.

He urged a vigorous re-dedication of the nation to the traditional American policy of competitive private enterprise, unhampered by unintelligently directed government interference.

The address concluded the preliminary session of the convention in which the National Council, composed of representatives of some 1300 affiliated organizations, expressed almost unanimous opposition to the pending soldier bonus bill and approved the program for the general sessions which are scheduled to begin tomorrow morning. Taxation, transportation, immigration, foreign trade as influenced by the Dawes report and various problems of industry are scheduled for consideration in group meetings.

SELECT NEW HEAD

A successor to President Barnes will be selected by the new board of directors Thursday. Robert F. Grant, former president of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, and Lewis E. Pierson of the Irving Bank-Columbia Trust Company, New York, are mentioned for the post in the event of Mr. Barnes declining to accept for another year.

Seventeen nationally known business men were nominated for places on the board of directors of the Chamber, including the following: O. M. Clark, president Clark-Wilson Lumber Company, Portland, Or., and Arthur S. Bent of Bent Brothers, Los Angeles. The sessions were attended by approximately 1000 members, representative of the entire country.

The council refused to submit to a national referendum of the Chamber the proposition of adoption of the metric unit system as the American standard, submitted today by the Foreign Trade Club of San Francisco.

Eulogizing American business for its contribution to better homes, finer schools and the ever-broadening effectiveness of humanitarian institutions made possible by the increasing material prosperity of national life, Mr. Barnes urged his audience to visualize the human aspects of industry in forming judgment on the advisability of new relationships between government and business.

URGES TAX SOLUTION

He urged immediate settlement of the question of national taxation, ascribing to the general uncertainty in this matter a large measure of responsibility for the present tendency toward retirement in business.

Next in importance, he said, were the questions of transportation, immigration, agriculture and the European adjustment.

The resolution against the bonus, introduced by Meyer D. Rothschild of New York, representing the National Jewelry Board of Trade, expressed the hope that "his own conviction" would lead the President to veto the measure. It expressed the view that "there is a strong public sentiment against using the taxing power of the government to levy on all our people in order to make such a grant to able-bodied veterans."

Another paragraph of the resolution cited that the hesitancy in business and industry today, manifestly slowing up employment, is largely based on a mistrust of the sincerity of a Congress that will

URGES NAVY DOMINATE

Wilbur Proposes Expansion

Secretary Favors Strength Supreme in Field Not Limited by Treaties

Mutual Restrictions After America Reaches Goal Declared Desirable

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Declaration that he stands for an American Navy not only equal to any other, but "a dominating" one "along lines not restricted by mutual agreement" was made in an address here today by Secretary Wilbur before the Republican women of the District of Columbia.

"I stand absolutely for a 100 per cent Navy, the equal at least in every respect of any power on land or sea," Secretary Wilbur declared. "That is my personal belief and I think it should be the attitude of the government and the mission of the department. Although I say at least 100 per cent equality, I see no reason why we should not undertake also to advance our Navy along lines not restricted by mutual agreement so that we will again be in a dominating situation," and then again secure mutual limitations on all activities along lines at present unrestricted by any treaty."

SIGNIFICANT ITEM

The Secretary's declaration of his personal position with respect to the question of the strength that should be maintained for the Navy in cruisers and other auxiliary craft upon which there exists no treaty limitation as to numbers any power may possess, was viewed as particularly significant since the report of Admiral Coontz, commander-in-chief of the United States Fleet on its winter maneuvers, laid stress on the weakness of the fleet organization in these particulars.

Secretary Wilbur's suggestion that the United States might embark upon an auxiliary ship building program with the view in mind that the Washington government would be in a good position then to seek agreement among the naval powers for the extension of limiting treaties to other craft than battleships, battle cruisers and airplane carriers, also attracted attention in view of the recent statement by President Coolidge in New York making a preliminary proposal for new discussions of limitation of armament.

NO DEFINITE PLAN

There was nothing to indicate, however, that Mr. Wilbur had any definite projects of the kind in mind when he made the statement. It was recalled that Washington officials almost invariably have held that the key to the situation which resulted in the call for the Washington conference by President Harding was the tremendous capital ship building program on which the United States was then engaged.

If that program had been completed, the American Navy would have been overwhelmingly greater in modern warcraft than any other, it has been said, and it was by sacrificing that program that the other naval powers were induced to join in the limiting agreement.

Percentage of Native Sons in State Reduced

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, May 5.—Native Sons in California number only 37 per cent of the State's population today, whereas twenty years ago they numbered 45 per cent, according to figures announced today by the State Bureau of Vital Statistics.

Illinois leads the list of States which have sent their own sons and daughters to California. There are today 140,000 residents in California who were born in Illinois. Colorado is second on the list.

When Californians leave the State they go mostly to Washington, Oregon and Arizona. The largest percentage of Native Sons in California is found in Mendocino and Humboldt counties, according to the figures of the bureau.

COOLIDGE VICTORY SEEN AT THE POLLS TODAY

Indorsement of President Expected in California; Defeat of Power Bonds Predicted

That delegates to the Republican National Convention pledged to the nomination of Calvin Coolidge for President will be elected at today's California Presidential primaries was the prediction last night of leading men of the State, the President's probable majority being placed between 70,000 and 100,000

The defeat of the $21,000,000 power bonds was predicted by Chairman Dana Weller of the Citizens' Bond Committee, while the Association for Better Police Equipment declared that the $1,600,000 police bonds would carry. Fire Chief Scott said the fire-boat bonds would win and Commissioner Eldridge of the Board of Public Works forcast a victory for the bridge and incinerator "safety" bonds.

The polls open today at 6 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. It is estimated that in the State at least 600,000 voters will cast their ballots, while the Los Angeles city-county vote was estimated at 200,000, of which at least 90,000 would be cast at the 991 precincts in the city. At the city election last June the total number of ballots was 86,590.

CHARTER PROSPECT

Adoption of the new charter generally was predicted, as the defeat of charters in the past has been due to strong opposition to the proposed governing instruments for the city. The new charter has this year met with practically no opposition and requires only a majority vote to be adopted. The six bond issues on the city ballot—water, power, police, fire boat, bridges, incinerators — each requiries for adoption two-thirds of the total vote cast on each issue. The county flood control bond issue requires only a majority.

AGAINST POWER BONDS

In predicting the defeat of the $21,000,000 power bonds, Dana Weller said:

"I am firmly convinced from our canvass that the power bonds will be defeated. Few people have supported the bonds during the campaign other than the politicians and salaried employees of the power department, while on the other hand, organizations which stand for the upbuilding of Los Angeles and the preservation of the city's credit and bonding capacity for essentials, for the schools and for fire and police protection have opposed the bonds, such as the Los Angeles Realty Board, Commercial Board of Los Angeles, Associated General Contractors of American, Lions Club of Los Angeles, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, Women's Christian Temperance Union, City Board Western Motion Picture Advertisers' Association, Investment Dealers' Association of Southern California, San Pedro Tax and Bond League, Wholesale Dry Goods Association, Committee of Ten Thousand, Slauson Avenue Women's Club, Washington and Pico Heights Taxpayers' League, Citizens' Bond Committee, Business Property Owners' Association, California Citizens' Civic League.

NEW MARTIN TRAIL HIT

Plane Reported Seen in Air

Two Men Tell of Sighting Craft Near Port Moller on Bering Sea

Remainder of World Flyers Ready to Resume Their Journey Today

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

CORDOVA (Alaska) May 5.—An entire new face was today given to the hunt for Maj. Frederick L. Martin, commander, whose squadron has gone on without him in a flight around the earth. The change was effected by a report that two men "felt certain" they had seen a plane yesterday near Port Moller, on the Bering Sea coast of the Alaska peninsula.

The squadron, minus Maj. Martin's plane, was at Atka Island, in the Aleutians, preparing to depart tomorrow for Attu Island, 530 miles from Atka and the last stop scheduled in American territory.

The report from Port Moller was received at False Pass, and caused immediate planning to extend a search of the Bering Sea side of the peninsula that was set afoot soon after it became known that Maj. Martin had reported Wednesday from Chignik, Alaska, 730 miles east of Atka Island, but had not appeared at Dutch Harbor, where the other three planes of the expedition were then waiting for him.

The report said that two men at Port Moller, which is on the opposite side of the peninsula from Chignik and 100 miles west of Chignik, had noticed something circling in the sky above some hills in the Aleutian range yesterday evening. The men thought that they saw "between the wings" of an airplane although they estimated it to be ten or fifteen miles away.

California Votes Today on Candidates for Presidential Honors

BALLOT CAUSES MUCH INTEREST

Huge Coolidge Majority is Predicted by Hale

McAdoo Camp and Foes Both Certain of Victory

Registration 1,499,595, With 523,427 Living Here

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 5.—California's voters will go to the polls tomorrow in the Presidential primary election to register their choice for candidates to the Republican, Democratic, Prohibition and Socialist conventions. There are no contests on the Prohibition and Socialist tickets and the candidates for these parties are the only ones who may say definitely that their election is assured.

The registration of the State is 1,499,595 and overwhelmingly Republican. The members of that party eligible to vote number 1,012,701; the Democrats have mustered 339,302 voters; the Prohibitionists 18,281 and the Socialists 17,888. The remainder of the registration is confined to the "declined to state" and "miscellaneous" classifications.

Los Angeles county, including Los Angeles city, leads the State with a registration of 523,427, a little less than one-half of the State's total. San Francisco is second with 193,378; Alameda is third with 170,259 and San Diego fourth with 81,601.

INTEREST CENTERED

Public interest in the primary is directed chiefly at the contest on the Republican ticket between the supporters of President Coolidge and Senator Hiram W. Johnson, although there is no small measure of speculation over the outcome of the contest on the Democratic ticket between the candidates pledged to William G. McAdoo and the no preference, or anti-McAdoo ticket.

Optimism and confidence prevailed tonight in the camps of the opposing tickets, and the campaign managers issued statements voicing belief in the success of their candidates or tickets.

"A smashing victory for Hiram Johnson in the election tomorrow is assured. I predict that the Johnson ticket will sweep Northern California and go to the Tehachapi with a lead of more than 100,000, which will be substantially increased by the Southern California vote. In the last few days of the campaign the California spirit has been manifested in striking fashion in all parts of the State and students of the political situation are convinced that California's candidate will receive a splendid indorsement from the voters of his native State."

COOLIDGE BACKED

Marshal Hale, president of the League of Coolidge Republican Clubs, issued a statement in which he said the State will go for President Coolidge by a majority ranging between 70,000 and 100,000. He said:

"The campaign in California to elect a delegation to the Republican National Convention pledged to the nomination and election of President Coolidge has been successful. The President will carry the State by a large majority. We feel justified in making a positive assertion on the eve of this election because of the universal support accorded the efforts of the loyal Coolidge workers in this State and because of the issues involved. Our only concern now is that thousands of his well-wishers may fail to vote tomorrow."

William J. McGee, in charge of the San Francisco McAdoo headquarters, sees a great victory for his ticket over the no-preference opposition. His statement said in part:

"We believe McAdoo will carry every county in the State, with one or two exceptions where there is small vote. Our reports show that the Democratic vote in San Francisco will be cast in ratio of two or three to one for McAdoo, and that in Los Angeles, the Democratic vote will run as high as five to one for him. We believe that out of the 135,000 Democrats expected to vote tomorrow, McAdoo will receive the ballots of 100,000."

JUST AS CONFIDENT

W. W. Bedford, secretary of the Progressive Democratic League of California, expressed complete confidence in the success of the no-preference Democratic ticket in the following statement:

"After a strenuous campaign of eight weeks, we are entirely confident that we have conveyed to the voters of California the reason why he should vote the Progressive Democratic ticket of candidates to the national convention which appear in the 'no-preference' column on the ballot. The reason is: The unavailability of electing the State Central Committee's choice, William Gibbs McAdoo.

"We have made this a clean-cut issue. We have contended that McAdoo cannot win the convention in New York, and that it would be impossible for the Democrats to win in November with a candidate for whom they would have to make explanations."

POOR POLICY IN GAS GRAB IS REVEALED

Attorney Asks Why Deal One Industry Blow While Bidding Others Come

Attorney Francis D. Adams, in a statement to voters issued last night, urged a "No" vote on Propositions Nos. 9 and 10 (gas "grab" ordinances) at today's election. He said:

"We are called on to vote on two propositions, Nos. 9 and 10, which, if carried, would mean that an industry long established and in successful operation in this city would be compelled to dispose of its property at a value fixed by others. The idea of forcing any industry to dispose of the business which it has fostered and built up is abhorrent to me, as I believe it is to every business man.

"Here is a case where there is no undue burden upon the streets; no complaint of excessive rates is made; no complaint of service, and no complaint of unfair competition. Why, then, should this company be forced to retire from business? The only advantage claimed for the acquisition of this property is the saving of overhead expenses by combining the two systems, and this is certainly not such a great public necessity as to justify our forcing this concern out of business; in fact, it is very doubtful if there would be any advantage at all. Lack of efficiency, which always results from a monopoly, whether municipal or private, will more than offset such saving.

"Let us vote Propositions Nos. 9 and 10 down and assure the world that we have just as much consideration for the industries which have located here as we have for those we are inviting to come."

How to Mark Your Ballots Today

To vote for a measure mark a cross opposite the word "Yes" with the rubber stamp which you will find in the voting booth. To vote against it, mark the cross opposite the word "No." To vote for a group of candidates, as for the Coolidge ticket of nominating delegates, make a cross in the center square to the right of the list of names. Only the Republican ballot is shown here, as this is the only one regarding which The Times makes a recommendation. Note that there are actually three separate ballots reproduced here—that for the Presidential primary, that for the Los Angeles county flood control bond election and the special municipal election ballot. The positions of the crosses indicate the recommendations of The Times.

bonds (as of last June) the people of Los Angeles will again express as they did last June their lack of confidence in the management of the Power Bureau and at the same time will show that the people of Los Angeles are guarding the bonding capacity of the city so that the school bonds can be approved at the special school election on June 3."

In urging support at today's election for the $35,300,000 flood control bonds, William Lacy, president of the Chamber of Commerce, which has indorsed the bonds, said:

"The flood control bonds are important for the continued growth and development of the entire county. The conservation and flood control works to be built with the bond money are for the benefit of every person in the county and should be supported by every one, whether his prosperity is dependent on manufacturing or on agriculture. Water must be conserved if we are to maintain our prosperity."

Supported by the chiefs of all municipal departments pertaining to the harbor, Fire Chief Scott yesterday issued a final call to the voters to go to the polls and vote for the $400,000 fire-boat bond issue.

"The person who says, 'Oh, I'll get down to the polls later,' and who keeps putting it off all day until it is finally too late to go may have the responsibility of the loss of a fire boat to face if this issue does not carry," he said. "Civic pride, business interest, the welfare of humanity and common sense all bespeak the necessity of carrying that bond issue. Don't forget to go and vote 'Yes' on No. 6."

STAND OF MALLARD

Councilman Mallard yesterday announced that he will vote "No" today on Proposition No. 2 on the city ballot, which is the district representation plan for the City Council. "Proposition No. 2," said Councilman Mallard, "increases the number of Councilmen from eleven, as proposed in the new charter, to fifteen. What the city needs is not more Councilmen but better Councilmen. Fifteen Councilmen just means that much more for Council salaries and that much more time wasted in talk at Council sessions."

ARCTIC CRUISER BEAR WILL TAKE BARTLETT

PEARY'S COMPANION TO MAP AIR ROUTES AND LOCATE LANDING PLACES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 5.—When the famous United States Coast Guard ship Bear sails from Seattle for her summer cruise in the Arctic she will have aboard Capt. Robert A. Bartlett, who was the companion of Peary in his North Pole expedition.

Capt. Bartlett is going into the Polar regions as a representative of the National Geographic Society to map air routes and locate landing places for various types of aircraft between Nome and Point Barrow.

The Navy Department is extending to Capt. Bartlett all possible co-operation in his work, which may be of value in future cruises into the Polar region by the "Shenandoah" or other airships of the Navy.

Horrible Plot Feared; Polls to be Guarded

There's a horrible plot afoot, Councilmen Criswell and Wheeler declared at yesterday's session of the City Council, and all for the purpose, they said, of defeating the $21,000,000 power bonds.

"Gangsters from San Francisco," they said, "were to be at the polls today to prevent people from voting for the power bonds."

"Nonsense," said Councilman Baker.

"Rubbish," said Councilman Mushet.

So the Council solemnly adopted a resolution asking Chief Vollmer to see to it that the polling places be adequately policed.

BOY DEAD, FOUR SICK FROM POISON SUGAR

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

HONOLULU, May 5.—An 11-year-old boy is dead and four adults were taken violently ill, but are now out of danger, the result of eating poisoned sugar, according to the belief of the police. A cat and dog which ate some of the sugar also died.

ELEVENTH-HOUR ATTACK UPON POLICE BONDS BY GRAFTERS REFUTED BY CHIEF VOLLMER

BY AUGUST VOLLMER,
Chief of Police

Just as I had expected, an eleventh-hour attack on the police bonds is being made by the crooks, the grafters and the professional politicians.

The bond issue of $1,600,000 to provide for adequate police protection for all sections of Los Angeles and every individual citizen was placed on the ballot after a careful study and analysis of the situation. It will provide exactly what the city requires.

Inasmuch as the vicious elements of Los Angeles have come out openly against better police protection, it is clearly the duty of every good citizen to cast his ballot tomorrow in favor of the bonds.

JOHNSON VOTES AS DEMOCRAT

legislative recommendation which stirred the country cannot be revived. The Democrats showed surprising party agreement on the Simmons program. But two of the minority Senators—Bruce of Maryland and Edwards of New Jersey—supported the Mellon plan. The Republican insurgents and the Farmer-Labor party Senators voted with the Democrats.

The Republican insurgent group, with whom Senator Johnson hobnobs whenever there is a chance to embarrass the administration, was always ready to support the Democrats, though wishing at times to go even higher. The Republican majority in both houses has existed only on paper. It did not exist when a showdown came. No amount of argument as to the equity or science of the Mellon plan prevailed against the political capital which its foes expected to make.

The President has indicated frequently that he would not approve any tax bill which destroyed the principle of the Mellon recommendations. That principle was killed this afternoon. Whether Mr. Coolidge would veto a tax reduction bill on the eve of a Presidential campaign has been doubted by some politicians, but these same politicians on the other hand cannot see how the President can consistently sign a bill which would cause such a $38,000,000 deficit to the treasury—which is estimated under the present bill.

INDIANA VOTERS AT POLLS TODAY

Host of Candidates in Race for Nomination

No Democratic Presidential Preference Vote

Klan Issue Strong in State Political Battle

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) May 5. Indiana voters, confronted with a host of candidates for public office, will register their preference at a State-wide primary election tomorrow.

The election offers Republicans an opportunity to show their preference for either President Coolidge or Senator Hiram Johnson of California for the Presidential nomination.

Democrats have a choice of eight candidates for the gubernatorial nomination, while the Republicans may choose from six aspirants to the Governorship. In addition, both parties will nominate Congressmen and co-officers. They also will elect precinct committeemen who form the nucleus of the party organizations and State convention delegates. Democrats will have no opportunity of expressing a Presidential preference, no candidates having filed.

Republican voters find themselves confused by last-minute efforts of candidates to gain control of the party organization machinery.

Failure of any candidate to obtain a majority leaves the selection of a nominee to the State convention. With so many candidates in the race, the probability of anyone obtaining a majority seems slight.

Among the Republican candidates are Ed Jackson, Secretary of State, supported by the Ku Klux Klan, and Samuel Lewis Shank, Mayor of Indianapolis, who has expressed his opposition to the Klan.

In the Democratic race, Dr. C. B. McCulloch of Indianapolis has the indorsement of his party's leader, Thomas Taggert, and George R. Durgan, Mayor of Lafayette, has made an appeal to those who oppose the Klan. The polls open at 6 a.m. tomorrow and close at 6 p.m. Unsettled weather with thunderstorms is predicted for a large part of the State.

SENATOR FLAYS RELIEF BUREAU

"Ruled by Ring," Oddie, Nevada, Declares

Republican Urges Ouster of Six Assistant Aides

"Veteran Funds Misspent," Among His Charges

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Existence in the Veterans' Bureau of a "ring" which controls its policies and operation was charged in the Senate late today by Senator Oddie, Republican, Nevada, who declared "all the laws in the mind of man" would not make the bureau function properly so long as the present conditions obtained.

The Nevada Senator asserted that the six assistant directors now in the bureau should be "ousted forthwith" and that similar action should be taken in the cases of "every official brought over from the War Risk Insurance Bureau." He declared appropriations made for veteran relief had been "squandered and misspent" and that the bureau operated under a policy which "presumed a majority of ex-service men to be dishonest."

Senator Oddie, who is a member of the special Senate committee appointed to investigate the administration of Director Charles R. Forbes, criticized the manner in which Maj.-Gen. John F. O'Ryan, the committee counsel, had directed the inquiry. Three months before it began, he said, Brig.-Gen. Frank T. Hines, the present director, was given a complete set of the questions which would be asked.

"ABLE TO PREPARE"

"Officials of the bureau were thus able to prepare answers for the committee," he said.

The attack upon the bureau came late in the day when few Senators remained from the strenuous hours devoted to the revenue bill. Senator Oddie launched into his vigorous denunciation of conditions after several amendments offered by him to a pending bill which proposed the codification of laws affecting the bureau had been defeated.

The desirability of ousting the assistant directors and "other officials in key positions" had been presented to Director Hines, the Nevada Senator said, but added that "that official is under the influence of the ring."

"The President is very anxious that the bureau shall function properly," he said, "but he is advised by the director that everything is proceeding satisfactorily and the director is under the influence of this ring."

Many veterans get no reply at all to their inquiries to the bureau, Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, interjected, "or when they do, they receive only form letters."

Caraway said he understood that Gen. Hines had issued an order stating that "what he was pleased to call political influence should not be noticed."

Employees of the bureau who reported the conditions to President Harding were "thrown into the street," Senator Oddie resumed, and orders recently were issued that employees should not confer with members of Congress.

"It is sheer tyranny," declared Senator Oddie.

There have been defective functioning, Senator Oddie said, generally improper and unjust adjustments, ratings and awards and "widespread dissatisfaction and suffering in all parts of the country affecting the needs of the disabled ex-service man and his dependents."

Senator Oddie declared that men belonging to the "ring" in most instances had had their salary increased several times since the charges were made against them and none had been discharged. Some, however, had been transferred to other positions within the bureau.

SAYS MORALE LOW

The morale in the bureau is low, the Senator declared.

"Employees of the bureau who have been in my presence have been threatened with discharge and some have been discharged," Senator Oddie said, while men in hospitals who complain of their treatment or in any way criticise the bureau "have their compensation reduced or completely cut off."

"Who is in the ring?" asked Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington.

"In my opinion," replied Senator Oddie, "every assistant director should be dropped — —."

"Will the Senator say how many he thinks should be ousted?" persisted the Washington Senator.

"— — there are six or seven of these, I think," continued Senator Oddie. "Their posts should be abolished."

He read the draft of a resolution which, he said, would be presented to the special committee at its meeting. It would declare the sense of the committee to be that nothing short of a top-to-bottom reorganization of the bureau could make it efficient and would recommend that Gen. Hines replace the ousted "key men" by promotion from the ranks.

SENATE PASSES BILL FOR RELIEF REVISION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The bill providing for codification and revision of laws governing the Veterans' Bureau was passed by the Senate late today without a record vote.

The Senate turned aside from consideration of the tax bill to take up the veterans' measure and adopted a number of amendments before passing it. It first voted down a proposal to increase the salary of the director of the bureau from $10,000 to $12,000. It then aproved an amendment by Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington, providing that where former service men developed tuberculosis, encephalitis, lethargia or a neuro-psychiatric disease within five years after discharge from the Army, the disease would be conclusively presumed to have been of service origin.

An amendment by Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, also was adopted to permit tubercular patients to go to their homes after one year of hospitalization, if they desired, and to hold a "permanent total disability" rating for three years.

SENATE KILLS MELLON PLAN

ences. Announcement then was made that both sides were ready for the test of strength.

The first roll call was on the Simmons substitute surtax rates and resulted as follows:

THE LINE-UP

For the Democratic substitute:

Democrats—Bruce, Edwards—2.

THIRTEEN ABSENTEES

Thirteen Senators were absent. Ten of them were paired.

The Simmons plan having thus been substituted for the Mellon surtax schedule, the vote came on the question of the Democratic or the Longworth compromise contained in the House bill, and the Senate affirmed its approval of the minority rates by a vote of 43 to 40, with no change in the line-up of Senators.

The normal rate substitute then was offered and there was brief discussion, with Senator Smoot alone defending the Mellon rates of 3 per cent on incomes of $4000 and 6 per cent on those above that sum. The roll call resulted as follows:

For:

Farmer-Labor—Johnson of Minnesota, Shipstead—2.

Republicans—Ball, Borah, Brandegee, Bursum, Colt, Cummins, Curtis, Dale, Edge, Ernst, Fernald, Fess, Gooding, Hale, Harreld, Keyes, Lodge, McKinley, McLean, McNary, Moses, Oddie, Pepper, Phipps, Reed of Pennsylvania, Shortridge, Smoot, Spencer, Stanfield, Sterling, Wadsworth, Warren, Watson, Weller and Willis—35.

Democrats—Bruce and Edwards—2.

DECLINES TO VOTE

Senator Jones, Republican of Washington, was the only Senator present and not voting, he announcing that he declined to vote because he would have a personal pecuniary interest in the legislation.

Without a roll call the Senate then reaffirmed its vote and the Democratic normal taxes thus were substituted for those in the House bill, which were 2 per cent on incomes up to $4000, 5 per cent on incomes between $4000 and $8000 and 6 per cent on all above the last-named sum.

Chairman Smoot said his first compromise proposal would provide for a maximum surtax rate of 30 per cent as against the maximum of 25 per cent in the Mellon plan. If that is rejected, he will propose a maximum of 32 per cent.

Before there is a final vote on the bill, Senate Republicans probably will hold a party conference to discuss and seek to agree upon a general compromise. This conference would not be binding, however, on those who participated.

With the preliminary fight over the income-tax rates disposed of hurriedly, leaders expected that the bill could be brought to a final vote by the end of this week. Corporation and estate taxes are the only remaining big fighting points in the measure but two score or more individual Senators have offered amendments to various sections.

Senator Simmons announced that he would call up later his amendment to increase from $2000 to $5000 the exemption allowed to heads of families whose incomes exceed $5000. The exemptions for single men would not be changed. Other Democrat Senators, however, have amendments pending proposing to increase exemptions for both heads of families and single persons.

In the discussions today, Senator Simmons explained his amendments in detail and declared the effect would be further to reduce the taxes paid by persons with small incomes and yet bring to the Treasury slightly more in revenue than would the Mellon plan.

SEES HEAVY LOSS

After the surtax substitute had been adopted and before the vote on the normal rate substitute, Senator Smoot declared the Simmons normal rates would result in a loss of $38,000,000 to the Treasury. Democratic Senators replied that this loss would be more than offset by the increased returns under the surtax brackets.

An analysis of the Longworth compromise adopted by the House and the Simmons plan shows very little difference either in the surtax or normal rates. The Simmons surtax rates are slightly lower on incomes up to $60,000 and about the same on incomes between that amount and $80,000. On sums above $80,000, they are a little higher.

The only difference in the normal rates is a 5 per cent tax in the Longworth compromise as against 4 per cent tax in the Simmons plan on the amount of incomes between $4000 and $8000.

CHURCH YOUTH ASKS WAR BAN

Young Methodists in Session Arraign Sidestepping

Resolutions on Enforcement of Prohibition Offered

Asiatic Bishops Report on Progress of Missions

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SPRINGFIELD (Mass.) May 5.—The younger element of the Methodist Church had their day in court today when three delegates representing the youth movement presented the aims and problems of the younger generation before the General Conference. The speakers concerned themselves chiefly with the question of whether the church should sanction war under any circumstances, making it plain that in their opinion, it should not. In presenting their pleas they made a virtual arraignment of what they characterized as the church's inclination to sidestep important problems.

The younger element, said the speakers, feel that the church has not yet faced the issue squarely for itself and would much prefer an easy way out to grappling with the problem while it is hot.

Resolutions calling for the placing of prohibition enforcement officers under civil service and the enactment of legislation for the deportation of aliens who persistently violate the prohibition and narcotic laws were received with enthusiasm by the conference. A resolution was also offered which would disenfranchise American-born citizens who persistently violate the prohibition laws.

None of the resolutitins were acted on by the conference. That calling for placing agents under civil service and the deportation of aliens was recommitted for the clarifying of several passages. The suggestion that American violators be disenfranchised failed to be included in the general resolution.

The night session was devoted to addresses by bishops from the Asiatic field on the progress being made by the Methodist missions in those lands.

NEW TRAIL HIT IN MARTIN HUNT

the peninsula had been considered complete until the Port Moller story opened a possibility that Maj. Martin had reached the vicinity of the eastern end of the Aleutian Islands, 220 miles from Chignik. The Coast Guard cutter Algonquin tonight was still engaged in the marine search south of the peninsula. Every cove from Chignik to the Shumagin Islands, 150 miles southwestward from Chignik, had been entered, it was reported, without finding a sign of Maj. Martin or his companion, Sergt. Alva L. Harvey.

A party of two natives equipped for traveling on land, ice or water, was out seeking signs of the missing aviators north from Chignik to the Bering Sea. The cause of this expedition was the statement of a trapper that he had seen a plane over Lake Chignik, twenty miles from Chignik, an hour after Maj. Martin departed for Dutch Harbor. These men were not expected to return before Wednesday night at the earliest and probably not before the end of the week.

WEATHER IMPROVES

Meager reports had come here today concerning the weather between Atka and Attu, but those few indicated that storms which beset the aviators and which were believed to have caused Maj. Martin to go north instead of sticking to his scheduled route, which was southwestward, had been succeeded by pleasant weather.

"Ideal weather for this time of year," was reported at False Pass, at the eastern end of the Aleutian Island chain, and at Dutch Harbor, late yesterday.

The Coast Guard cutter, according to the latest report received, was speeding to Atka to see the flyers there off and the United States Fisheries patrol boat Elder was due at Attu tomorrow. Aboard the Elder was Weather Observer Blair, who happened to reach Attu in time to inform Atka tomorrow whether the weather was suitable for a flight. This communication is possible because of emergency wireless stations established on Atka and Attu at a time when it was thought that the Algonquin would be working with the Haida to aid the flyers.

The time, four hours and fifteen minutes, made by the three flyers when they went to Atka from Dutch Harbor Saturday, was declared the best attained since the expedition, which started at Santa Monica March 17, left Seattle April 6.

Delayed dispatches stated that the flyers at Dutch Harbor, Lieut. Lowell H. Smith commanding; Lieut. Erik Nelson and Lieut. Leigh Wade, were ready to go Friday, but delayed for the possibility that they might be called to assist in the hunt for Maj. Martin and that he might proceed with them. A dispatch from the Haida said: "Planes and personnel at Atka are okeh."

MARTIN SUPPLIED WITH EXTRA RATIONS

ON BOARD THE COAST GUARD CUTTER ALGONQUIN, o(BY WIRELESS VIA CHIGNIK, ALASKA) May 5.—We have not despaired of finding Maj. Frederick L. Martin, commander of the round-the-world flight, and his mechanic, Alva Harvey. I received definite information today from R. J. Sachenroder, a white trader on the north side of Chignik Lagoon, that he had seen Maj. Martin at 11 a.m. on April 30, flying up the lake in the direction of Bering Sea.

I also learned that before leaving Chignik, the world flyers were provided with a large package of sandwiches and thermos bottles filled with hot coffee, by Mrs. James Osmund, wife of the cannery owner at Chignik, at whose home they stayed. Mrs. Osmund is a resident of Astoria, Or., and comes north each spring with her husband. This food, in addition to their regular rations, may well be the means of saving their lives.

From Sachenroder's statement it is evident Maj. Martin changed his plans to fly to Unalaska while in the air, due to the snow storm. Instead of flying from Chignik southwest, he turned his ship due north and headed into the twenty-five mile wind, blowing from the northwest, in the hope of finding the wind on his right hand after he reached the Bering Sea side of the peninsula. The drift of his plane would then be continually towards the land and not away from it, as would have been the case had he flown south.

HOPE RESTORED

This is the most hopeful news up to date, for it gives us a definite locality to search for the flyers and eliminates the greatest fear of Capt. Gabbett of the Algonquin, that the Major and his mechanic had been blown out into the mid-Pacific.

The Indians sent out from Chignik with a dog team are now nearing Unangashik Lake, where it is hoped that Maj. Martin landed his plane. If they do not find him there they have been instructed to proceed as far as Bering Sea. They are equipped with first-aid supplies.

The information as to whether the plane passed over Unangashik will do much to establish the place where the flyers went down, for if they did not reach that village it is reasonable to believe that they crashed somewhere in the area between Chignik Lake, where they were seen by Sachendroden and the Bering Sea at Seal Islands. It will take forty-eight hours for the Indians to mush back from Bering Sea to Chignik with this information.

Meanwhile Dr. Spear and Capt. Gabbett and the crew of the Algonquin are in readiness here to lend first aid in case the flyers are found, and, if need be, to go overland to Bering Sea and bring them out.

TERRITORY COMBED

All the territory on the north shore of the peninsula has been covered by boats from the Nichols cannery and Port Moller, up to within seventy-five miles of the Seal Islands.

These islands are at the northern end of the watershed which runs from Chignik on the Alaskan Peninsula to the Bering Sea. As the Port Moller tugboat left that port yesterday, there is every reason to suppose it has reached the islands by this time.

In the meantime the crews of the Coast Guard vessels are straining every nerve to rush the work of rescue. We are pinning our hopes either on word from Unangashik or the Seal Islands. The flyers have been lost now for five days, but with their spare rations and Mrs. Osmund's sandwiches there is still a chance that they may be rescued alive.

SCORE OF DUELS OVER RED CROSS ELECTION

GENDARMES, CIVILIANS AND MEMBERS OF CHAPTER IN POLAND TAKE PART

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

CRACOW (Poland) May 5.—Twenty-four duels have taken place between gendarmes, members of the Cracow chapter of the Red Cross, and civilian members of the chapter, as the result of violent controversies over the annual election of officers of the Cracow Red Cross.

The entire regiment of gendarmes, all members of the Red Cross, entered the hall where the meeting was being held and voted for and elected a ticket composed of gendarmes. Protests were made and the gendarmes felt insulted and issued challenges. No fatalities resulted from the duels.

WELLS AND O'DONNELL CLASH

Lightweight Tackles Welter at Vernon

"Bermondsey Billy" Wells

MONS. JACQUES DOYLE will probably wake up with a sore arm tomorrow morning from raking in the shekels at the Vernon Coliseum tonight. Matchmaker Wad Wadhams has arranged one of the most attractive main events pulled off in many a moon and the fistic palace among the stockyards should be packed to capacity. "Bermondsey Billy" Wells, noted British welter, will exchange punches with Johnny O'Donnell, the St. Paul lightweight, in the star attraction. Both men are well primed for a gruelling contest and the bout should be a bang-up scrap from gong to gong.

The supporting card for tonight's doings at Vernon is also well up to par. Bode Bercot, a newcomer from the lumber camps, is matched with Joe Layman at 138 pounds in the semi-wind-up. Young Farrell, a great favorite with local fans, is scheduled to mix up with Tommy Barone in the special event at 155 pounds. Other bouts on the card follow:

McADAMS KAYOED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

Huerta Evans Beats Blood in Main Bout

The Newsboys' Club was the scene of some nifty fisticuffs last night, eight good bouts being dished up by that hustling manager, Carlo Curtis. In the main event Huerta Evans beat Phil Blood (112 pounders) in a good fast scrap. In the semiwind-up Ralph Volke put it on Daniel Hernandez (112 pounders.) The set-to was so fast that both lads were exhausted when the final gong sounded. Dick La Pan defeated Herbert Turchie (105 pounders) in the special event. The other bouts resulted as follows:

Eddie Anderson beat Sam Foreman, 100 pounds; Dominic Distarco beat Jimmie Olivas, eighty-five pounds; Meyer Hirsch beat Armand Cappela, sixty pounds; Heimie Miller beat Sam Einstein, eighty pounds and Bobbie Olivas beat Roy Gardner, seventy-two pounds.

Irving Messenger, the golden-voiced announcer, kept things moving along in prompt order and there was no delay between scraps. The Variety Musical Comedy lads entertained the newsies with some fine selection. House packed. Among those present were Fred Soloman and Deacon Pyle. The boys sure had a joyous evening of it.

Dudley Tennis Tourney Opens on Next Friday

The annual Dudley tennis tournament, which is played at Santa Monica every year for high-school students of good standing from Southern California, will be played this year on Friday and Saturday. The entries will consist of both boys and girls. Two large silver cups, one for boys and one for girls, will be the trophies. The school whose student wins a cup is allowed to keep it until the next year and when the same school has won it three times it becomes their property. Elinor Van Valin of El Monte and Allen Herrington of Hollywood were the 1923 victors.

Play will start Friday morning at 9, at which time all entrants must be present. The boys will report to Municipal Courts, corner Seventh street and Wilshire boulevard. Girls report at the high school girls' gymnasium. The school will serve a free lunch Friday to those actually competing in the tournament.

GOLF TITLE AT STAKE

Flintridge, Annandale and Los Angeles Meet Today in Triangle Match for S.C.G.A. Team Honors

BY CHARLES WEST

It's going to be a sad day for Old Man Par. This afternoon at the Midwick Country Club thirty of the finest golfers in Southern California will attack the venerable gentleman, giving no quarter, in a best ball match play against par event which it is hoped will settle once and for all the disputed golf team championship of the S.C.G.A., Flintridge, Los Angeles and Annandale being represented in the titular event.

When the schedule of matches in the interclub series ended recently these three clubs were tied with twenty-four matches won and sixteen lost each, and the doings today will settle the question, the team which massacres par the most enthusiastically winning the championship. Should two teams do an equal amount of damage to Brother Par, another play-off will be necessary.

Annandale stands an excellent chance of carrying off the title, Dr. Paul Hunter, Harlow Hurley, A. D. S. Johnston, R. E. Hunter and C. P. Erdman being expected to score heavily. The aggregate handicaps of the Los Angeles players are the lowest of the three teams, Everett Seaver being the most accomplished golfer with a handicap of only 2, while seven 4-handicap men will also help matters along for the Beverly Club. Flintridge, with Fred Wright, is also considered a team of championship caliber, although in competition with par players with lower handicaps are figured as stronger. The recent victory of the Flintridge players over Los Angeles 4 to 1 in an official match indicates the ability of the Arroyo Seco representatives. At the start of the team match schedule last January, the Los Angeles Country Club team got away to splendid start, and by February was leading by a large margin. Then Flintridge began to come to the front, and finally tied the Beverly golfers at the tail-end of the season. Annandale, considered out of the running, finished the schedule with a flourish by winning all five matches from Wilshire, and went into a three-ply tie with the other clubs.

George Cline, chairman of the team-match committee of the S.C.G.A., will handle the tournament today, attending scoring and settling any disputes which may arise.

The personnel of the three teams, with the handicap of each player, follows:

HARRY GREB STOPS CLARK

Middleweight Champ Simply Plays With Opponent Who Lasts Little Over a Round

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON (D. C.) May 5.—Harry Greb, middleweight champion of the world, left this title outside the ring tonight in his bout with Jackie Clark of Allentown, Pa., at the opening of the Kenilworth Arena. This was undue precaution on the part of the champion, but as both fighters failed to make the weight at 2 o'clock, it had to be.

After one round and two minutes of fighting in the second round Clark's manager stepped into the ring as Greb was beating a tattoo on the head and shoulders of Clark, who was crouching covered up against the ropes.

A POOR MATCH

The meeting between Greb and Clark figured in advance to be a poor match. The only mistake in the forecast was that the estimate was nowhere near severe enough.

During the first round, the exhibition bore a closer resemblance to a wrestling match than a prize fight. Despite the fact that Clark had been told that if he did not fight his share of the purse would be withheld, he made no effort to do more than hold on and cover up. He landed one clean blow which showed on Greb's eye but most of the time Charley Short,

DE PALMA SEEKS REVENGE

Tuning Up Speedy Mount for Plantation Stakes at Ascot Sunday; Straw Hat Derby Scheduled

Ralph De Palma was taking stock of the damaged parts of his trim little Miller which lost the Triumph Stakes to Leon Duray at Ascot Sunday. De Palma's troubles came not singly nor in pairs. Four broken intake valve springs, two broken exhaust valve springs, a broken shock absorber and a rear-tire tread thrown in the eighth lap, the latter wrapping around the rear axle of Ralph's Miller.

"But that's all past," said De Palma. "I am now bending my efforts toward getting my car in tip-top shape for next Sunday's Plantation Stakes and the Straw Hat Derby."

Duray, according to his backers, will be a much harder man to defeat than he was last Sunday. The Frenchman has jumped "Hollywood Bill" White's number 3 Miller eight-in-a-row 183-inch car and has purchased from Ira Vail a Miller of 237-inch displacement, with a guarantee from Vail that the car will travel over Ascot faster than any racer ever did. Vail said he knew a lot of territory was being taken into account, but that he did not even bar the big beach car of Sig Haugdahl.

Duray is making a number of mechanical changes on the car and will not be on the track for practice until the latter part of the week. Duray's winning car will henceforth be driven by "Babe" Stapp, who will abandon the fleet and spectacular No. 99. The Babe will display his skill in practice with the new car this afternoon.

The Plantation Stakes will be at a distance of fifteen laps, a handsome cup rewarding the victor and a big cash purse divided into six parts for the first half-dozen pilots to hustle across the finishing line. The Straw Hat Derby, pulled in honor of the opening of the "cow fodder" headgear season, will be a one-lap dash from a standing start. The drivers will be required to wear a straw derby throughout the race.

Referee Charlie Keppen declared himself well pleased at the manner in which the officials and drivers functioned on Sunday. "The crowd will have to go to Vernon and Hollywood if they want to witness scraps in the future," said Charlie.

NUTTING TIES IN SHOOT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DEL MONTE, May 5. — Nine squads of scattergun experts started today in the opening event of the California Indians fifth annual trapshoot and pow-wow. They faced a stiff breeze that fanned the traps.

Good shooting marked opening of the tournament, three going into a tie for high gun, with 96 out of 100 targets broken: W. S. Allen, Delano; Lewis Pierce, Suisun and E. M. Nutting, Los Angeles.

Lem Hawxhurst, San Francisco, champion of three years' standing, finished with 91, tying Orvie Overall, former Cub pitcher. Others among the leaders were Charles Plank, San Francisco, and Fay Curtis, Taft, with 94 each for second place; Clarence J. Berry, San Francisco, 93; W. J. Eibert, Fresno, 92; J. O. Richeson, Monterey, 92.

Mrs. Gus Knight, Highland, led three women competitors in the opening event and tied Dick Reed of San Francisco for fifth place with 93.

The regular tournament will open tomorrow with 100 targets, and run three days.

FAIR GOLFERS TO COMPETE

An invitational golf tournament for women will be held next week, beginning Monday and finishing Friday at the Flintridge Country Club, according to an announcement made last night by Mrs. George E. Black, chairman of the women's golf committee at Flintridge.

The tournament, to be held under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary, S.C.G.A., will take the dates originally given to the Southern California championship, which was held in March at the San Diego Country Club instead. Qualifying will as usual be held in flights, arranged according to handicap, and flights will be drawn for all who enter. Trophies will go to the victors in both medal and match play.

Women intending to compete are urged to send their names to the tournament committee as soon as possible.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER, W.M.H.

The performances in the A.A.U. meet at the Coliseum last week certainly gave the Pacific Coast fans a chance to root for home talent. The meet unquestionably saw the best performances in the history of the Pacific Coast, and that despite the fact that several of Southern California's best performers were not among those present. A glance at the times made in the running races and at the heights and distances in the other events would send a chill down anybody's spine and promises great things for the Olympic trials on May 24.

There is no doubt in the world but that all three men in the 100-yard dash ran the distance in 9.9s. Saturday. In the Olympic trials, in addition to Lloyd, Smith and Taylor, there will be Argue, Buckman and Nash, all of Occidental, the slowest of whom is a ten-second man. The same thing goes in the furlong. And then, of course, there is Charley Paddock, who might be expected to place also.

Spangler and Powers, also of Occidental, are capable of making Martz and Torkelson of U.S.C. shake a leg in the quarter. Ellsworth and Montgomery will make Neiersbach and Harrison hurry in the 800 meters, and Carter ought to be more or less of a cinch in the 1500-meter event unless Courage of the L.A.A.C. busts into the affair.

The field events will be aided and abetted by the Smith brothers of San Diego and Goodenough of Oxy in the pole vault, Oliver Cory in the high jump and other distinguished citizens, not the least of whom is Grandpa Alma Richards, who ought to do something in the high jump, discus and fifty-six-pound weight.

There were several bright young surprises in the A.A.U. meet. One of them was the performance of young Barnes of Hollywood in the pole. This young man seems to have unlimited shove and only lacks a bit of finesse to get over 13ft. without any trouble at all. He kept hitting the bar on the way up Saturday and should make the winner go nearly 13ft. 6in. at the tryouts.

Old man Chuck Lewis likewise started a little excitement in the pole vault and, with three weeks' additional practice, should clear 13ft. He sailed over 12ft. 6in. nicely, but weakened toward the finish, and with a little more hard work should be among those present. Lewis is working out at the Fairbanks studio with Boyd Comstock and Jannes Anderson giving him a great deal of high-powered advice.

Incidentally, Minsky, the former Stanford broad jumper, is apparently a real Olympic prospect in the hop, step and jump. Dorsey, who has reigned supreme in this event in these parts for some seasons, was forced to take second place to Minsky Saturday, and both of them went farther than DeHart Hubbard, national champion, did at the Drake relays the previous week. Minsky has likewise been getting a lot of good advice from Jannes Anderson.

Probably the biggest individual surprise of the day was the performance of Howard Torkelson in running Yale Martz neck and neck for the entire quarter-mile and making the distance in 49.6s. Torkelson was on the inter-Allied team over in France several years ago and has proved a terrible disappointment at U.S.C. until last Saturday, when he ran a race that would have done credit to any 440 man in the country.

The world's record made by Manual Arts at the Coliseum is creating a lot of gossip because of the fact that the L. A. High team in 1920 covered the same distance in nearly a full second less time. Unless our recollection is on the bum the L. A. High record was made at Bakersfield on the half-mile horse track and was 1m. 30 3-5s., while Manual's, made at the Coliseum, was 1m. 31 2-5s.

The difference is that the Coliseum track, like all running tracks, measures a quarter of a mile about eighteen inches from the inside border, while the Bakersfield track is measured some six or eight feet from the inside fence, being primarily designed for sulky racing. Hence, a team running on a half-mile horse track and keeping close to the inside fence would travel several yards less than a team running at the Coliseum.

Unless we are mistaken, however, the record made by the L. A. High team was officially accepted and stands as the world's record for the distance. All that Manual can claim is a record for a quarter-mile oval. In a situation like this, where the records were made under different conditions, it is very difficult to do justice to both sides, as the performances are probably equally meritorious.

If the L. A. High mark was never officially accepted, as is quite possible, the Manual record will stand, but the authorities seem to differ on this point.

The United States will be represented in the 1924 Olympic games by 422 athletes in twenty different branches of competition.

FRENCHMAN TO MEET GIBBONS

Fistic Idol of Paris Arrives Here Next Week

Boxes St. Paul Scrapper at Michigan City

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 5.—Georges Carpentier, French boxing hero, is due in Chicago next week to prepare for his fight with Tommy Gibbons at Michigan City on May 31. Jack Curley, joint promoter, with Floyd Fitzsimmons, brought this news when he arrived here today. Carpentier is due to sail from France on Wednesday, according to Curley. He will come on the Majestic, and is due to reach New York by Monday.

On his arrival here, Carpentier will do some training at a gymnasium. A few days later he will establish headquarters at Michigan City. Whenever the weather is suitable he will train in the open air at the Michigan City arena. Indoor quarters will be found for him, for use when it rains.

Carpentier will not follow the foreign custom of training in secret, Curley says. His training stunts will be done publicly.

This news makes the match a certainty. Tickets are already on sale in Chicago.

"Carpentier," said Curley, in discussing the fight today, "is fired with a new ambition and he hopes that this ambition will be realized before he goes back to his native land, France. It is to convince American fight fans that he was overtrained in his battle with Jack Dempsey, that he is still a great fighter, and that he can beat our champion. With that realized, he will go back home where he has wealth galore and rest in comfort."

Curley added that Georges is not battling because of the money it brings but to win back a lost prestige. The Frenchman says he was overtrained when he battled the champion, but to offer that as an alibi would be foolish. He wants to go out and beat Gibbons, then defeat Gene Tunney in the East and make a bid for a match with Jack Dempsey. He would, if necessary, fight Firpo, but the title match is his goal.

Carpentier is a wealthy man. He has interests back home that bring him a big income. Curley says he is a different Carpentier than the one who visited this country before. His temperamental is gone and he is in a receptive mood. He feels sure he can stop Gibbons and this before the eighth round has been fought.

Jack Quinn, veteran pitcher of the Boston Red Sox, during his long baseball career, has served under twenty-four managers. He has been up and down the major leagues since 1909.

Bartley Madden Looks in Good Shape for Wills Bout

Busted Jaw Puts Duane Out of Game for Six Weeks

BY HARRY NEWMAN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 5.—Neither the Dempsey-Wills fight, nor any other bout, will be permitted at Boyle's Thirty Acres, Jersey City, until the New Jersey Boxing Commission has completely satisfied itself of the safety of Tex Rickard's arena, Commissioner Bugbe announced at Trenton, N. J., today.

Bartley Madden, who is to battle Harry Wills for fifteen rounds at the Queensboro Stadium next Monday night, showed off before an army of newspaper men this afternoon at a health farm, Compton Lakes, N. J. Madden appeared in the best of shape and will have to slow down in his work henceforth to escape going stale. He is down to 190 pounds, at which weight he expects to enter the ring against the New Orleans negro giant.

Carl Duane, who suffered a fractured jaw in his fight with Johnny Leonard last Friday night, will not be able to fight again for six weeks. The boxer is suffering from a lobular fracture, the X-ray showed, and there was also an impacted tooth in the boxer's mouth underneath the gum which will be removed.

OCCIDENTAL COLLEGE STARTS DRIVE FOR GYMNASIUM FUND

President Bird of Occidental announced at the college chapel service yesterday that alumni of the institution have launched a campaign to raise $200,000 for the purpose of erecting and equipping a gymnasium. Myron Hunt, college architect, is already at work on the plans for a magnificent building, which will adjoin Patterson Field, and will include a large swimming pool. Dr. Arthur Buell of Long Beach, an Occidental alumnus, made the first gift with a check of $5000.

David Faries, chief councilor of the Southern California Automobile Club, has been elected chairman of the campaign which is to be conducted by the alumnis. Associated with him in the committee of direction are Alphonzo Bell, Max Hayward, Dr. Arthur Buell, Dan Hammack and Frank Rush. Under this committee of direction there is organized a committee of twenty, and under this a committee of 200. Each one of these 200 persons is seeking to raise by September 1 $1000 apiece.

The reorganization of the department of physical education has been undertaken, and it is the intention of the college to give special emphasis to the work of a corrective nature, intracollegiate sport and training of physical education directors for the public schools. Special features of the new building will be a basketball circus, a regulation swimming pool, a faculty gymnasium, trophy room, general clubrooms and offices for the members of the physical education department.

Balloon Tire Results Now Possible With Regular Low Pressure

MASON CORDS

You Don't Have to Change Your Wheels for Perfect Balloon Comfort

Low pressure—unusually flexible side walls.

You can have these advantages by equipping your car with oversize Mason Safety First Low Pressure Cords.

Use 35 to 40 pounds of air. Get the buoyancy and riding ease given by the wonderful Safety First carcass, built of the finest, newest rubber and the strongest cotton that the world provides.

Cars built before 1924 have 23" or 24" wheels. To apply balloon tires, these wheels must be changed. Mason advises against this. It does not give satisfaction—and Mason wants every Mason customer to be perfectly satisfied.

Ride, too, with the assurance of safety given by the famous Safety First tread—the one real non-skid built today.

For All Cars Equipped With Standard Size Tires

31 x 4	Use Safety First Low Pressure	32 x 4½
32 x 4	Use Safety First Low Pressure	33 x 4½
33 x 4	Use Safety First Low Pressure	34 x 4½
34 x 4	Use Safety First Low Pressure	35 x 4½
32 x 4½	Use Safety First Low Pressure	33 x 5
33 x 4½	Use Safety First Low Pressure	34 x 5
34 x 4½	Use Safety First Low Pressure	35 x 5
33 x 5	Use Safety First Low Pressure	33 x 5
35 x 5	Use Safety First Low Pressure	35 x 5

We recommend no change in last two sizes

For Fords, Chevrolets, Stars, Grays or Overlands, use Mason Safety First Low Pressure 31 x 4.40 for Straight Side Rims only, if you desire a larger tire

For instance, if you are now using 32 x 4 tires, equip your car with 33 x 4½ Safety First Low Pressure Cords.

Yes, Mason Makes Balloon Tires

But Mason recommends balloons for new cars only—cars with 20" or 21" wheels—cars with steering apparatus, fenders, shock absorbing equipment and axles specially designed for Balloon tires.

For cars with 20" wheels, Mason makes Safety First Balloon Cords in 6.20 and 7.30 sizes. For cars with 21" wheels, the Mason Safety First Balloon Cords are 4.40, 5.25 and 6.20. These figures represent the cross sectional sizes of the tires.

If you want the easiest riding tires it is possible to buy—if you want safety and skid-freedom—see the Mason dealer.

TROJAN ELEVEN TAKES TO GRID

yesterday: Capt. John Hawkins, Chief Newman, Johnny Riddle, Hobbs Adams, Buster DuPuy, Newton Stark, Holly Adams, Henry LeFevbre, and Fay Thomas. The other athletes who will be out later are Ed Green, Ben Gerpheide, Johnny Loustalot, Honey Earle and Hayden Pythian. Otto and Norm Anderson are with the track team and must pass up the spring practice. Gene Dorsey is not in school, but will be out in the fall. That accounts for the whole bunch of 'em. Cot Rice, another veteran, has pulled out and will not be back.

As if the above group of young huskies wasn't enough, there are some fifteen men from last year's frosh team, any one of whom would gladden the heart of any coach on the Pacific Coast. Heading the list is Al Behrendt, frosh captain last year and a sweet-looking tackle, who is very likely to be made into a center before the season is very old. Manuel Laranetta, labeled the best prep halfback in Los Angeles two years ago, was out skipping around. He has put on weight, which doesn't make Henderson a bit mad, as Laranetta probably will be a regular at one of the halfback berths.

Some of the other frosh out include Maurice Badgro, Paul Webber, Ted Coffman, Bill Friend, Clark DeGroot, Bob Lee, Harold Knight, Field Thompson, Lewis Green, Boots Oudermeulen, Ken Cox, Burt Heiser and Willie Lewis. There were two transfers from Phoenix Junior College out also, giving their names as Ted Gorrel and Sanderson, the former a guard and the latter an end.

Four of the most promising of last year's peagreen outfit were not on hand. They are Morton Kaer, fleet-footed end and halfback; Brice Taylor, the wonderfully built halfback from Seattle; Jeff Cravath, center, and Eeenie Wilcox, diminutive quarterback. They will all be out in the fall.

Practices will be held every day until the end of the month. There will be scrimmages next week and the spring period will wind up with a real game between two squads.

LOCAL BOWLERS IN COAST TOURNAMENT

The two bowling teams from the Angelus Academy, the House of Quality team and the Angelus Five, have been practicing daily for the Pacific Coast championship tournament at Venice.

According to Manager E. H. Cleckner, the two teams are hitting the pins hard and should give a good account of themselves when they take their turn tomorrow night at Venice in the Coast classic.

Professional baseball is fifty-two years old.

Montebello Is Winner of Long Diamond Tilt

Lefty Williams, star Montebello heaver, pitched his club to a thrilling 7-to-5 victory over the Fraternal Brotherhood in fourteen innings Sunday afternoon. The game was played at Montebello before a large crowd who got a great kick out of the exceptionally high-class contest.

The Fraternal Brotherhood club made four runs off Williams in the fourth session and it looked as if they had the game won until the ninth when Williams doubled with Krausharr on base. Both teams scored in the thirteenth canto, and then the Montebello stickers won out in the fourteenth.

Dendon singled over second. He stole second. P. Andrade drew a pass. T. Andrade hit a hot one down the third-base line and the bags were loaded. Vogle then slammed out a two-bagger and two runs crossed the plate.

Williams fanned sixteen batters and issued no passes. Kirby pitched great ball for the losers, but weakened in the tenth.

BARNES FAVORED IN VAULT

Hollywood High Youngster Expected to Capture First Place in Olympic Tryouts Saturday

Lee Barnes, a diminutive athlete from Hollywood High School, looms as the most likely winner of the pole vault in the Southern California, Arizona and New Mexico Olympic Games tryouts scheduled for two weeks from Saturday at the Coliseum. Last Saturday, at the annual A.A.U. meet, Barnes cleared 12ft. 10⅝in., this being the best mark recorded on the Pacific Coast during the present season.

To win his event Barnes had to defeat some of the best college and university vaulters in Southern California. He took the measure of such stars as Glen Graham of Caltech, Chuck Lewis, former Cornell ace; Dick Emmons, former U.S.C. star, and a host of others.

Barnes has almost perfect form. In the recent Southern California meet he shocked his supporters by failing to get better than a fourth place. However, there were two reasons for this. In the first place he had been competing in too many other events, taking a second in the discus and first in the broad jump. Also he was going up too close to the bar, and although vaulting higher than it was placed, failed to clear because he always hit it on the way up.

Last Saturday he had the same trouble, but this time wisely moved the standards back a bit and then cleared 13ft. with ease. When measured with a steel tape the height proved to be 12ft. 10 3-8in.

Roy Goodenough, Occidental College vaulter, will probably give Barnes the most trouble in the tryouts. Goodenough has the second best Pacific Coast mark for the year. He cleared 12ft. 9in. at Stanford some three weeks ago. He has been improving steadily and is the logical man of the local bunch to push Barnes to the limit.

REJECTS ADMIRAL AS OLYMPIAD REFEREE

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, May 5.—Samuel Goodman, manager of the United States Olympic rugby football team, has refused to accept Admiral Percy Royds of the British Navy as referee of the France-United States Olympic rugby match May 18. In place of Admiral Royds he has proposed the names of John Jeffries of England, who refereed the matches at Antwerp in 1920, and James Wyle of the Welsh rubgy union.

The American team practiced for two hours this afternoon. The players appeared in splendid physical form, but lacked the finesse displayed by the French team against Rumania yesterday.

Eddie Gleason Likely to Win Trip to Boston

Eddie Gleason, the Los Angeles Athletic Club lightweight flash, stands good to win his second trip to Boston in two years, according to L.A.A.C. boxing dopesters.

Gleason is entered in the local Olympic tryouts at Doyle's Vernon arena Wednesday and Thursday nights of this week, and is in the very best condition of his young career.

He was a member of the L.A.A.C. team in the national championships at Boston last year, fighting his way into the bantamweight finals, where he lost the official decision, but was accorded the popular verdict.

No more popular lad than Gleason has ever fought in amateur ranks here. He started as a flyweight under Coach George Blake four years ago and since then has held the bantam and featherweight titles of the club. At present he is considered Julius Jessick's most dangerous rival for the local lightweight title.

Jessick also is entered in this week's two-night tournament and the probabilities are good that the fans will have the fun of seeing the argument settled. It will be a corking battle.

Thirty-nine entries in all classes have been received, two in the flyweight, four in the bantam, eight in the featherweight, ten in the lightweight, nine in the welterweight, two in the middleweight and four in the heavyweight.

ROOSEVELT HIGH TO FACE BELMONT NINE

Roosevelt High School meets Belmont today at the latter school's diamond in the last and deciding tussle of a three-game series.

To date the Rough Riders have won the first game, 5-3. Belmont copped the honors in the second battle, 10-8. This gives both teams a total of thirteen runs. The game tomorrow should be a close one.

Bushner and Link will do the twirling and Gordinier will be on the receiving end for the Teddies. Ellis and Kyle will probably constitute the Black and Green battery.

BRIX TO SAIL WITH YANKEE SOCERITES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 5.—Sixteen soccer players who will represent the United States in the Olympic Games have been selected as a result of tryouts at Paterson, N. J., yesterday. The seventeenth member will be chosen later. The players include A. E. Brix, Los Angeles. They will sail on the steamship America next Saturday.

M'GRAW LAUDS GEORGE SISLER

Regards His Comeback as Boon to Baseball

Giant's Leader Says "Good Hitters Consistent"

BY JOHN J. McGRAW
(Manager New York Giants)
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHILADELPHIA, May 5.—Aside from the quick rise of the supposedly strong major-league clubs this early in the 1924 race, the most interesting of the season so far, to me, has been the remarkable return to form of George Sisler, manager of the St. Louis Browns. This means much more to baseball than the mere success of the St. Louis club in the pennant race. It has helped as much as any one thing to start what I am sure is to be baseball's biggest year in a happy frame of mind.

Unless one stops to analyze it, I doubt if it is realized just what the presence of a star and great personal character like George Sisler means to the game as a whole. To lose him is much like losing a Bernhardt or a Duse. The loss of men like Cobb, Speaker, Walter Johnson or Babe Ruth would be the same.

STRONG FOR SISLER

Whether baseball men are in the National or the American League there has been a genuine, heartfelt concern among them over the effort of Sisler to come back this spring. It was a general topic of conversation in every training camp. Outside of what it means to baseball as a general sport, Sisler's success has shown how a ball player with determination and an active brain can overcome most any difficulty. He has given ambitious youngsters something to shoot at in the way of accomplishment.

Early in the training season we were told that Sisler had entirely lost the sight in one of his eyes. That, I am happy to say, is not true. There is, though, a slight defect in the vision. To overcome this, I understand, he faces the pitcher in a new position so as to adjust his eye to the new focus in the ball. This gave rise to the impression that he only saw with one eye. Several scouts candidly told us during the spring that Sisler would never be able to come back, and they said it with sorrowful regret.

GEORGE SOLVES IT

But Sisler sized up his own problem and solved it. He said that he felt better than he had in two years and was sure he would be able to hit after a little practice. With all his troubles he was not nearly so much discouraged as were his friends. What a great thing it would be for the game and for the whole country, if we had more men like him!

Starting off the regular season Sisler faced all kinds of pitching and so far he has averaged something like two hits a game. In one game last week he got four straight hits, all squarely on the nose. His batting average up to the time this is being written was around .360. Many of our batters who never had a worry in their lives would be glad to come within fifty points of that.

PERFECT SYSTEM

The secret of it is Sisler's perfect system of rhythm and timing. Once a player gets that nothing can take it away from him. That is why a .300 hitter will always hit .300. Did you ever notice that, by the way? Once a player fixes his status as a hitter he will come pretty near sticking to it year in and year out. For confirmation of this just observe the records for a few years back. You will see the .300 hitters all grouped at the top at the end of a season as regularly as a clock and all the .275 hitters in time will also settle in their group. That is one department of baseball records that is almost infallible. The fielding records may not always show the true strength of a great shortstop or second baseman, for instance, but the batting records will unfailingly show who are the good hitters and who are the near good hitters. It never goes far wrong.

To be personal, I have never forgotten how to hit. Last spring I attempted to show the recruits, down at Sarasota, how a batter could hit into left or right field by certain ways of holding the bat and timing the swing. To my own surprise I hit the ball about as well as I ever could. A veteran player may slip in other departments but he never forgets how to hit. A man like Hans Wagner or Sam Crawford could hit .300 today, all they need is just enough training to loosen up their muscles. It is in the legs that ballplayers first show signs of slipping. It is never the eye and rarely ever the shoulders and arms.

I think all baseball, major or minor, will join me in declaring that Sisler's remarkable comeback is the most helpful thing that the game has enjoyed this spring. The immense value of a gentleman and clean sportsman like Sisler cannot well be overestimated.

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) May 5.—Kentucky Derby candidates and famous runners of previous campaigns are to face the barrier together at Churchill Downs Saturday in the Clark Handicap at a mile and a furlong, for 3-year-olds and upward. The Clark, carrying $10,000 in added money, will be the feature race on the opening day of the spring meeting. The fact that several candidates for the derby, to be run the 17th inst., have been nominated, has added considerable interest.

Sarazen has been given 112 pounds, according to the weights announced today. The Vanderbilt colt is considered by Judge Charles F. Price and "Tony" Wallace, official handicappers, the best of the 3-year-olds for the Clark. Col. E. R. Bradley's Beau Butler, also a derby candidate, is considered next by the handicappers. The colt goes in the Clark with 109 pounds aboard.

Of the 4-year-olds and upward, Greyleg, Rancocas stable crack, has been given top weight of 132 pounds. His stablemate, Zev, winner of the Kentucky Derby last year, has been assigned 129 pounds, while In Memoriam, the Weidemann colt, who lost by a scant nose to Zev in a special race here last year, drew two pounds less than his conqueror. Chacolet, Hal Price Headley's imported mare, winner of the $25,000 Dixie stake at Pimlico last Saturday, will carry 124 pounds.

NEW YORK, May 5.—St. James, George D. Widener's crack 3-year-old colt which conquered Zev in the Rancocas star's 4-year-old debut in the Paumonok Handicap at Jamaica a week ago, may not go to the barrier in the Kentucky Derby, it was learned today.

St. James has ranked with Wise Counsellor and Sarazen as a favorite for the Kentucky classic, but Mr. Widener is said to be disinclined to start him. The colt has been pointed for the $50,000 Preakness at Pimlico next Monday and his showing in that race is expected to determine whether he will be shipped to Churchill Downs.

HACKENSCHMIT IS AFTER JIM LONDOS

John Hackenschmit, the battlescarred wrestler of Glendale, is sending out chesty challenges in the general direction of Jim Londos, who rates as one of the best heavyweights in Southern California. Hack complains that in the past Londos has dodged him repeatedly, but that matters have come to a showdown, and Londos will either have to wrestle him or admit his inferiority, Hackenschmit says he will take Londos on any time and any place.

CLARK STOPPED BY HARRY GREB

GETS RANGE

At the beginning of the second round Greb got the range. From the look of Clark's face, it has stopped many gloves in his numerous years in the ring but it could hardly have stopped more than it did for a minute or more. The champion did not give his opponent any chance to hug and wrestle. The result was that after about a minute and a half of fighting Clark took the count of eight, as the result of volley of lefts and rights to the head.

From then on it was just a question of how long. Greb drove Clark to the ropes. The Allentown battler sought to last out the remainder of the session by covering up, with the apparent hope of getting into a clinch. The only thing that can be said for Clark was that he knew how to cover up. He was plainly out on his feet but he presented such a slight target that Greb who was measuring him with every blow could find no better place to land his blows than the protecting gloves, shoulder and exposed ribs of his opponent.

Weekly Health Talk

by Barclay L. Severns

LET GOOD ENOUGH ALONE ARTICLE LXXXXVII

Most of us are apt to be satisfied with our physical condition, if we are able to go to business every day. We are no doubt far below par a great deal of the time; but we won't admit that we are sick because we are not bedridden. We are very likely to console ourselves with the thought, or common expression, "let good enough alone."

Many a man has suffered a breakdown at the time of life when he should be at his best, just because he was willing to let good enough alone a few years previous.

One who enjoys the best of health may be breaking the laws of nature, and owing to that superb health will not notice any ill effects for the time being; but later on must inevitably pay the penalty with poor health.

Many persons have changed their diet, and felt certain in their own mind they had struck the key note to health. But through lack of knowledge of the scientific principles of food combinations—chemical actions on certain foods—the necessity of certain foods over other foods according to one's occupation, have made little progress toward the end to which they hoped to gain.

CONSERVING ONE'S ENERGY

One will read an article on conserving one's energy. And after studying the article carefully, decide to form new habits in their everyday life, so as to correct the mistakes they have previously made, and say to themselves, "Now I have the thing at last which will give me pep." But through ignorance are wasting more energy in another direction. There are more ways than one to waste energy—it is also very important to understand the principle of recharging the body with new energy daily. It is also true one should learn to conserve energy—it is also true one should understand the natural method of supplying energy, and by so doing keep a reserve force on hand. Then understand how to use that energy in a way that the body will respond in the right way at the right time. There are those who have an abundance of energy, but do not know how to control it; and by wrong usage waste unnecessarily energy that should be put to better use.

There are foods which nature has provided to supply energy—termed nerve and energy food. When these foods are eaten with other foods that do not combine harmoniously, the value of the food is lost to a greater extent. The same is true with foods containing the muscle-building material. If eaten in the wrong combinations the effect is lost. But because our forefathers paid little or no attention to diet, we are very apt to remark, "what was good enough for them will be all right for me, so I will let good enough alone."

When one is advised to change one's method of living, although one has not been in the best of health, one has a tendency to hold on to the old methods from habits formed in early life. One can't just reason it out why one should eliminate those rich pies and pastry like mother used to make. The palate really never loses the taste for those rich foods eaten in childhood. That beautiful white bread fresh from the oven; the aroma seems to cling to one's nostrils through life; it didn't seem to hurt one then, why should it now?

THROW OFF POISON

When one is growing, if living a natural, outdoor life, one will throw off poison regularly, therefore it does not accumulate in the system. During that period of life nature comes to one's rescue, but later on, one's living conditions have changed, and even if the rich foods were not harmful then, they would be to a person in middle life, living under entirely different conditions. But they were not good then any more than they are now; it was a matter of ignorance regarding food values.

One should be willing to profit from the discoveries of those who have devoted their life to the study of food, its contents, its good or bad effects upon the system under certain conditions.

When one is afflicted with a slight headache, that is the time to take notice, realizing that the cause comes from within; that a powder or drug is not getting at the cause; and if the cause is not located there will be a repetition of that headache. A slight, dull pain in the shoulder blade may not be bad enough to cause alarm, but if nothing is done to discover the cause and remove it, later on it will become more severe, and often develop into serious ailment, causing much pain and loss of time.

One should never be satisfied to "let good enough alone." But should strive to improve one's health daily. When any slight ailment appears in any part of the body, one should never be satisfied until every test has been made to discover which of nature's laws have been broken, then correct it by not breaking the same law again. An intelligent person is not satisfied to allow his mentality to stand still.

DRAW UP SEMIPRO SCHEDULE

Independent Baseball Loop Officials to Hold Confab Tomorrow Nigh

The heads of the Independent baseball league will again meet tomorrow night at the Rosslyn Hotel, it was announced last night by Secretary "Pep" Kerwin. The remainder of the season's schedule will be drawn up and a general check-up on the initial games of last Sunday will be features of the evening's gathering.

Last Sunday's opening round of games created a favorable impression with Southern California sand lot fans. An exceptionally large crowd was on hand to greet the Palms and Belvedere Gardens teams, which played at the new park at Belvedere.

Duffy the Belvedere pitcher put in a good day's work, striking out nine and allowing six hits. Schatzlein, who hurled for the Palms pastimers struck out five and allowed but four hits. Big Frank Cooney did the big stick work for the Belvedere, while Frost and Lopez hit the ball for Palms.

A crowd of considerable proportions also was on hand to see the Sawtelle-Shell Oil game. Bouett, shortstop for the Arnold men, chalked up a neat account for himself. Out of three times at bat he got three hits and scored two runs. Cramer, also of Sawtelle walloped out a home run. Shortstop Smith of the Shell Oil team did nice work, getting two hits, one a triple. Hollis Leake of the Hammond Lumber Company team did the hard knocking against San Pedro. Friend Hollis was up four times, grabbed two runs, got three hits, was responsible for ten outs and one assist. Right fair for a middle-aged gent.

LAKE ARROWHEAD IS OPEN TO FISHERMEN

Lake Arrowhead was opened to trout fishermen yesterday afternoon, the quarantine for hoof-and-mouth disease having been lifted in San Bernardino county. In addition to San Bernardino, Mono and Inyo counties are the only other districts open to fishermen in California so far this season.

Anglers have been fishing in Big Bear and Baldwin Lake for the past few days, and limits are being hooked regularly.

THE AMATEUR'S CHANCE IN THE OPEN

Ten years ago the question implied in this title would have been regarded as foolish, but not so today, with a brilliant amateur wearing the championship crown. Although in the long history of the game amateurs had won the British open, only a few had ever loomed threateningly, and up to 1913, when Francis Ouimet started a most interesting fashion, not one of our great amateur leaders, except Walter J. Travis, who was sixth in 1905, but many strokes behind the leader, was ever even within the money.

In 1907 Warren Wood finished a close seventh in the western open at Hinsdale, and in 1910 I won the western open championship, thus making the first entry of an amateur among the open champions of this country, and surprising no one quite so much as myself.

It seems strange that the history of the American open championship bears no trace of many of our finest amateurs, such, for example, as Chandler Egan, Eben Byers, W. C. Fownes, Jr., and others. When one considers the preceding twenty years' history of American golf, it is not to be wondered at that Francis Ouimet's victory over the flower of American professional golf and the overshadowing British golfers, Vardon and Ray, should have astounded Great Britain and America. It was, indeed, amazing, for Francis was a mere slip of a boy who had never before played in an open tournament, and failed to qualify in the national amateur of the year before.

The following year he was a great favorite at Midlothian, but although he finished in the first ten, it was too much to expect him to repeat his victory. I finished second and considered myself very fortunate. It was the first time that I had ever played in the event, and had my next to the last shot turned over once more I would have tied Walter Hagen for the championship.

In 1915 I led the field in the first round, with Ouimet not far behind, and Travers, the greatest match player of the country, near the top. At the end of the day he was leading Francis and me, for I had fallen down ingloriously, and was near the leaders. Jerry never loses in a pinch like that, and when the sun had gone down the next day he had won the championship by the narrowest of margins—a glorious victory for any man, but a very special one for a man who claimed to be a very poor medal player.

The year 1916 was my year of glory, and even three putts from ten feet on the last green gave me a two-stroke victory. In 1919 I was still in the money and Francis was not far behind. In 1920 Francis receded a little, and while I was third in strokes, Bobby Jones was not far behind; in 1921 I was again third, and Bobby was fifth. At Skokie, in 1922, Bobby easily passed me and barely failed to win the title. In 1922 he did win it, and I, although third amateur, was farther down the line than I had ever been since I made my first attempt in 1914; William Reekie was second and Francis far down the list.

These last ten years with their ups and downs have seen the amateurs an ever-threatening menace to the professionals. Four amateurs have won as many times, and each year an amateur has fought with a professional for first place. No such record as that has appeared anywhere in the long record of golf. Only two amateurs have ever won the British open, and once, in 1921, Roger Wethered tied for the great honor and lost in the playoff.

With such a record as ours it would be foolish for anyone to say that the amateurs have no chance to win at Oakland Hills in Detroit next June. As far as skill is concerned, there is no reason in the world why Bobby Jones, or one of several other amateurs, should not win the national open golf championship this year, but there is always the fact that chance is against repetition. As yet no amateur has ever won the event for the second time. It is true that Bobby Jones plays as well as any professional now before the public, but there are a very considerable number who play as well as he does, and there are a few amateurs closely approaching him. He is thus placed numerically at a disadvantage, and when one adds that Lady Luck is a coy damsel, the chances seem against him. On the other hand, Bobby has now gained a confidence never possessed before. With each year, too, his strength and endurance have increased, and if one leaves out luck and all the evil fortune that may lie between tee and putting green, the chances are all in his favor. Bobby will never let his game slacken until he has won the national amateur. Oakland Hills will suit him well, too, and I can almost see his fine, firm shots going to the cups there. He has every incentive to repeat himself; leisure for practice; youth and strength; what more could a man ask? I will say more about this year's open championship.

MONUMENT FOR NATIONAL GAME

Site in Capital Park Sought for Baseball

House is Asked to Pass Grant Made by Senate

Proposed Shaft is Gift of American League

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, May 5.—A monument to symbolize the national game of baseball will be erected near the White House in Potomac Park which contains a large area for athletic events. Senator Pepper's resolution authorizing the memorial already has passed the Senate and will be adopted by the House on favorable report made today by the Library Committee. The monument is to be the gift of the American League.

The report of the House committee, submitted today, was written by Representative Robert Luce of Massachusetts, the committee's chairman. In his sixty-one years of life, Mr. Luce has enjoyed seeing the game played, although he had slight participation in playing it. His report is a tribute to the national game which he eulogizes eloquently as follows:

"In all ages the sculptor has been summoned to embody in stone or bronze the ideals of the people. Conspicuous among these ideals have been manly courage, physical prowess, struggle and victory, the joy and glory of life. Thus Greece, finest of the ancient civilizations, in order to typify her spirit, turned often to the heroes of her games for enduring figures that, while pleasing to the eye and responding to the sense of the beautiful, should stir youth to emulation in those activities that bring health and strength. Some of these figures are among the most prized of the world's inheritances from the Greece of old.

"To like end we may welcome the impulse that would place in the nation's capital worthy embodiment of our most typical sport, that which we call 'the national game.' It is the most typical not simply because it is most played and watched, but because it best reflects the American nature. On the one hand, it has no element of brutality; on the other no element of effeminacy. It calls for quick, sharp action, the keen eye, the strong arm, the fleet foot, the instant response to critical need, the matching of wits, the cool judgment, the team play, and above all the friendly democratic rivalry that Americans most admire and enjoy. To symbolize these things in some fitting work of art is worth while."

HOT MEAL WARMS UP COLD LOVE

Gastronomical Plan as Urged by Judge Patches Up Pair's Quarrel

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 5.—Fried chicken, properly browned, with an introduction of onion soup, mashed potatoes with a well of melted butter in the crater, hot biscuits and honey and custard pie of liberal depth, will go a long ways toward mending the ragged edges of the matrimonial craft.

Leo Sadwell and his wife, Anna, appeared in the Court of Domestic Relations last Friday, seeking a separation. The judge asked them whether they loved each other and both admitted that point. He then instructed Mrs. Sadwell to go home and prepare the best Sunday dinner she could frame up and ordered both of them to report back to him today.

"Was the dinner all right?" the court asked Leo.

"Simply great, Your Honor," and he enumerated many dishes, including those mentioned.

"Then I don't see why you two can't get along well together."

"Neither do we," both exclaimed, as they went into a long embrace. They left the court hand in hand.

CHINA FILES PROTEST OF JAPAN'S BAN

Asks Same Treatment as Tokio Insisted on from United States

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TOKIO, May 5.—The proposed parade of Chinese associations in Japan before the Foreign Office here as a protest against the asserted discrimination against Chinese immigration was prevented by the action of the Chinese Minister, who strongly opposed such action. Instead, a delegation of ten waited on Foreign Minister Matsui, demanding that Japan grant the same justice to China as it has asked from America.

The Chinese pointed out the necessity of Asiatics standing together, while the present situation presents the best opportunity for Japan to strengthen the awakening of pro-Japanese sentiment in China.

The Minister thanked the delegation, promising to investigate the asserted discrimination and assuring the spokesman that Japan did not desire to discriminate anywhere. He assured the delegation that Japan valued the friendship of China above everything.

Fat Men Stand Heat Better, Bureau Finds

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Fat men stand the heat better than lean ones, the Bureau of Mines has established through experiments in a specially constructed chamber at Pittsburg.

Fat men, the bureau found, lost more weight when subjected to uncomfortably hot temperatures but they were less exhausted when relieved. In a state of rest and in still air, the experiments disclosed, the human body cannot endure indefinitely a temperature higher than 90 deg. Fahrenheit, with 100 per cent relative humidity.

The experiments were designed to afford a study of conditions as they might affect miners.

RAIL BOARD FOES WIN POINT

Manage to Limit Debate on Barkley Bill

Measure Designed to End Federal Bureau

Insurgents and Democrats in Faction Union

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 5.—A bitter fight which developed today over the Barkley bill to abolish the Railroad Labor Board kept the House in session until almost midnight. In the end, Democrats and Republican insurgents, routing the Republican organization, succeeded in having debate on the measure limited to three hours.

During the session, which lasted almost twelve hours without a break, Republican leaders, resorting to filibuster tactics, vainly attempted to stave off consideration of the measure. Much of the time was taken up with eighteen roll calls, each consuming half an hour.

Adjournment left the leaders on both sides somewhat in the air as to future procedure. Representative Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, author of the bill, said he might attempt to have the House resume consideration of the measure tomorrow while its opponents announced they would resist any move to bring it up within the next two weeks.

Budget Bureau to Figure Cost of Bonus Plan

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The soldier-bonus bill was transmitted by the White House today to the Budget Bureau for preparation of an estimate of the cost of the measure and for study by the Treasury Department and Veterans' Bureau.

White House officials expect the measure to be returned and laid before President Coolidge within three or four days. The ten-day period allowed the President to act on the bill expires the 16th inst.

The President is not expected to make known his intentions respecting the bill until he acts, but some of those close to the Executive are making no secret of their belief that he will veto the measure.

BIG OAK FLAT ROAD TO YOSEMITE OPENED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

YOSEMITE, May 5.—The Big Oak Flat road into the Yosemite Valley was opened today after repairs by the government. The mild winter permitted the opening of the road a month earlier than usual. The fishing season is in full swing throughout the park and excellent catches are being reported.

DIAMOND SUPPLY NEAR END

Say Hundred Years Will See Finis as Mines Play Out; Prices Soon to Soar

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 5.—In a hundred years or so, unless Mother Nature [illegible] to the rescue [illegible]expectedly, the diamond will be no more. The [illegible] of the most popular of all precious stones will be as scarce [illegible] as the dinosaur.

"The days of the diamond are [illegible]," says Joseph Mazer of [illegible] York, a diamond importer [illegible] merchant. "The mines are [illegible] out and no new fields are [illegible] discovered. It's a moral [illegible] that no new diamonds [illegible] be available in a century—[illegible]."

[illegible] of Mr. Mazer's conferees [illegible] seventeenth annual meeting of the Illinois Retail Jewelers' [illegible] here today agreed [illegible] him. And they all have an- [illegible] of interest for the dam- [illegible] who likes to show a sparkling [illegible]—

"Diamonds are going up—and [illegible] going up fast.

[illegible] talk that the bottom is out [illegible] diamond market is ridiculous," continued Mr. Mazer. "Diamonds are more expensive now [illegible] they ever were. And they'll [illegible] expensive tomorrow than [illegible] are today. And so on—in[illegible]."

The diamond experts explained [illegible] steady rise by the increasing [illegible] of mining, the very high [illegible] the expense of workmanship [illegible] especially the vital matter of [illegible] scarcity of the gems. [illegible] Kimberly fields are al[illegible] through. So are the Brazil [illegible]. The most intensive pros[illegible] has revealed no new dia[illegible] mines.

[illegible] experts were unanimous in [illegible] that the refusal of in[illegible] on diamonds by Lloyds [illegible] little effect on their business, [illegible] other companies had not [illegible] suit.

ETHER EMPEROR JUST HAPPENED

Ancient Laws All He Has to Conduct His Business

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, May 5.—They call him emperor of the ether. He is W. D. Terrell and comes from "across the river" in Virginia. His throne is in Washington. Just on ordinary 9x12 room in the Department of Commerce Building. In the Washington directory and on the Department of Commerce pay roll his title is Chief Radio Inspector.

The title was invented twenty years ago, when radio was just learning to squawk. There were but a few score stations in the whole land then. They ticked feebly with dots and dashes, which meant something only to those who were interested enough to learn the continental code. They knew little of tuning and wave lengths, radio telephony and broadcasting in those days.

Congress set him up as ruler of the radio because it was thought that lives might be saved when vessels were sinking if these were required to have radio outfits on them. Some of the steamship companies didn't think it worth the investment. A law was passed to convince them and Terrell's job was to see that the radio sets on the ships were able to send out an S.O.S. call if necessary. For a while he was supposed to cover the whole United States. Just to keep him busy Congress gave him authority to regulate the amateurs. Congress didn't know how many thousands of amateurs there would be when the great American boy learned that he could make radio sets of his own.

AMATEURS GET BUSY

Next, it was decided that another chap should be assistant emperor out on the Pacific Coast, while Terrell patrolled the whole Atlantic end of the country. Still his power was not generally appreciated. His assistants grew into a staff, with the country divided into provinces. The number of amateurs grew from a few score to about 20,000 in 1920. But the public wasn't interested in a few boys playing with wireless outfits.

The boys who had those sets were regarded by fond parents as gifted with electrical genius.

Came the radio telephone with broadcasting. Then the deluge! The number of radio sets increased from 20,000 to 5,000,000 in three years. Suddenly everybody cared about the realm of the radio. Folks who never knew that the ether existed found their evening's entertainment depending upon it. Every amateur who had been satisfied with sending out dots and dashes suddenly conceived an ambition to play the phonograph over his broadcaster.

"They were making hash of the most marvelous thing in the world," says Terrell. "That's what radio is. There's nothing in the world like it. And we've only just scratched the surface so far."

It was then that Terrell faced his greatest test. Congress was slow in enacting laws governing radio telephony. In fact, it was so slow it has enacted no new laws yet. Terrell is governing the ether on old laws provided mainly for protecting lives of persons traveling on vessels.

Then there took place something unique in law-making. At a radio conference, scientists, commercial men and public officials agreed upon regulations by which the ether was to be divided up for the greatest good to the greatest number. Then they all went home and Secretary Hoover, who was chairman of the conference, told Terrell to enforce the regulations.

Terrell had to rely upon tact and diplomacy as his chief weapons. Take a city like New York, for example. In many instances there are fifty-seven varieties of amateurs in single apartment-houses there. If each were allowed to broadcast, New York's evening by radio would be a bedlam. So only license broadcast stations were permitted to operate.

But in New York fully a dozen companies want to broadcast perfectly legitimate programs, often at 8 p.m. Five at the most, all different wave lengths, might operate at once. Who was to be shut out and who not? Terrell solved the problem by having his agents work with a Radio Broadcasters' Asociation, which divided up the time and the wave lengths each day.

In other cities, as in Washington, the radio broadcasters agreed to use alternate nights. Amateurs were a more serious problem. The temptation of a boy with a broadcast outfit was to turn on the current and let it bla-a-a-a-a! Result: A bushel of letters to the radio inspector. An amateur in the national capital, son of a Congressman acquired that habit once. Thought he could get away with it. Terrell closed him up. The irate dad stormed to the Department of Commerce. There was a long talk over radio problems and better understanding. Soon the statesman was urging in Congress that the Chief Radio Inspector be given more authority to regulate these amateurs.

"The amateur is all right," says Terrell. "They are pioneers in a new field. They ought to be encouraged."

Mr. Terrell is a quiet, unassuming man. He is about the last person you would take to be the boss of this vast resource. He is an amateur himself. Likewise his son. He has tried almost every new radio trick as it came out. When he first came across the river from Virginia it was to become a telegraph operator. Inside of a few years he was such a good one that when they looked around for the best person in the government service to become the first Chief Radio Inspector they found him at the White House, sending and receiving messages for the President. That is how Terrell happened to be chosen emperor of the ether.

PEAK WANTED FOR PARK

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) May 5.—The Chamber of Commerce has asked that the State Land Commission hold without sale or lease the area of Sentinel Peak, a prominent landmark near this city, that it may some day be obtained as a part of a city park. Plans already are outlined for building a road to the top of the mountain.

GERMAN REDS NEAR POWER

Communists to Have Sixty Members in Reichstag; Ludendorff-Hittler Faction Turned Back

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, May 5.—Bolshevism today becomes one of the biggest issues in German history. Behind the propaganda and camouflage of the various parties the astonishing fact is discernible that the Communist party, surprising to even the most sanguine leaders, will enter the Reichstag with virtually sixty members and play a big part in future politics.

The government is cloaking its chagrin over its losses with a statement that Chancellor Marx and Foreign Minister Stresemann's policies are safe, meaning that the Dawes reparations report mostly likely will be accepted, although the government may go bankrupt on the railroad issue.

FASCISTI CHAGRINED

Altogether the Communists polled almost 4,000,000 votes, denoting that the Bolshevik population of Germany is between 8,000,000 and 10,000,000. The occupied Ruhr district went almost entirely Communist, except where the Catholic party polled its total vote. In Duesseldorff the Communists, with almost 250,000, beat the six opposition parties combined. Stuttgart became a Communist town. The Stinnes party was smashed under the Communistic Red banner, on which was inscribed the workers' protest against a ten-hour day.

UNEXPECTED VICTORY

The Communists never expected the victory they gained. Tonight secret orders were sent out for a big celebration tomorrow, when also the Communists will protest against the German government's action against the Soviet Commercial Mission raid. But that is not all. Already the threat of a Red revolution is heard. The Communists never dreamed they were so strong and now are openly boasting that at the first misstep of the Right Wing monarchist parties to make any new repressions of Communism they will retaliate by calling out a revolt.

The Foreign Office provisional list of the make-up of the next Reichstag, which will be called probably the 19th or 20th inst., follows:

Socialists, 91; Nationalists, 93;
Catholics, 61; Communists, 59;
People's party, 44; Fascisti, 28;
Democrats, 25.

NOTABLES ELECTED

The notables elected were Count Von Bernstorff, Dr. Dernburg and Prof. Schuecking, Democrats; Herr Wirth, Herr Fehrenbach, Chancellor Marx, Catholics; Herr Stresemann, People's party; Herr Hilferding and Herr Scheidemann, Socialists; Admiral Von Tirpitz, Prince Otto, Herr Bismarck, Dr. Dryander, the former Kaiser's chaplain, Nationalists; Gen. Von Ludendorff and Herr Ellferich, his associate in the beer-hall revolution, Fascisti; Clara Zetkin, Ruth Fisher and M. Heckert, representative of the Third Internationale, Communists. Ruth Fisher headed the Communist list and becomes the Speaker of the Communists in the Reichstag.

Eight women Parliamentarians were elected. This may be increased, but at least thirty-four will be attained.

Wheeler Trial Held Up; Judge in Case Absent

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

GREAT FALLS (Mont.) May 5. Arraignment of Senator B. K. Wheeler on the grand jury indictment charging him with accepting money to appear before the Interior Department for Gordon Campbell has been postponed pending the return of Federal Judge Charles N. Pray.

The arraignment probably will be held and the case set down for trial within the next six weeks, according to officials here. Judge Pray is holding court in Butte.

Hindus Said to Suffer Here by Alien Land Law

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The British embassy recently brought to the attention of the Washington government a number of cases in California where the State anti-alien land law was held to have caused undue hardship to Hindu landowners due to the short time allowed them under the law to dispose of their property.

It was suggested that some method might be found mitigating the hardship of these cases through an examination of the time limit, and the State Department now has this question under consideration. The conversation with the embassy officials did not involve any protest against the California law nor did they refer in any way to pending Federal immigration laws, or their restrictons upon alien immigrants not eligible for American citizenship.

TAKE FINGER PRINTS OF BODY FOR CLEW

DROWNED MAN MAY BE ONE OF SISKIYOU GANG, SAY ROAD AGENTS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MEDFORD (Or.) May 5.—Acting upon the supposition that the body of the unidentified young man found Sunday in Rogue River may prove to be one of the D'Autremont brothers sought since last October for the Siskiyou tunnel murders and train robbery, Daniel O'Connell, chief of special agents for the Southern Pacific Railway, today sent a telegram from San Francisco to Sheriff C. E. Terrill requesting that it be photographed and fingerprints taken.

According to Sheriff Terrill, the body is that of a young man answering the general physical description of one of the D'Autremont twins—Ray or Roy — and that the eyebrows and general facial contour particularly fit the description of the missing brothers.

Chief O'Connell is expected to arrive in this city Wednesday for an investigation.

What is thought to be the largest brood of chicks ever hatched in the South is that of 15,000 at Griffin, Ga.

"I'LL ALWAYS THANK FRIEND WHO TOLD ME OF TANLAC"

Says Mrs. Severs—Three Years Ago Tanlac Brought Relief From Stomach Trouble.

"When any of my friends get sick, the first thing I do is to tell them about Tanlac," is the enthusiastic manner in which Mrs. E. Severs, 1453 45th Ave., Oakland, Calif., expresses her faith in the famous medicine.

"It has been three years since I took Tanlac, but I will never stop praising it. I had suffered from stomach trouble for over a year and not only had a poor appetite, but the little I did eat caused terrible gas, bloating and indigestion. Finally I lost all my strength and felt so weak and miserable I could not do a bit of housework.

"I will always feel thankful to the friend who suggested Tanlac. It gave me a wonderful appetite, relieved every vestige of stomach trouble and built up my strength and energy till I felt fine in every way. Tanlac's splendid benefits have proved lasting, too, for I am still enjoying the best of health."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 Million bottles sold.

Se Busca el Automóvil que Lesionó a una Anciana

Ayer estaba haciendo activas pesquisas la policía por encontrar un coche de turismo pintado de rojo vivo, en el que iban cinco jóvenes que atropellaron con su vehículo a la señora Arvila Kelly, de 69 años de edad, quien fue despedida a quince pies de distancia. Los culpables se alejaron a toda velocidad del teatro de los acontecimientos.

Ocurrió el accidente en una zona de escuela sita en los bulevares Sunset y Glendale. Acababa de pisar la referida zona la señora Kelly, cuando se dejó venir el coche de turismo por la calle, corriendo rápidamente. ARGUES WAY TO CELL

Effort to Keep Brother Out Lands Him in Jail Also

BOSTON, May 5.—Only too well can Joe Kozlowsky, Boston College football star, argue.

The Boston College football captain's brother was arrested in Central Square, with Joseph Lepetz, and accused of disturbing the peace.

Joe Kozlowsky went to the station and argued for his brother and his companion. The police couldn't see their release. So Joe argued some more. He argued so strenuously that he too was arrested, charged with disturbing the peace.

In East Cambridge Court today the case of the Kozlowsky brothers and Lepetz was continued.

Reach them in this simple way and eczema is instantly relieved

THAT constant succession of rashes, chafings, and irritations or roughness on baby's skin! What can the young mother rely on to stop each as it starts, heal it, drive it away?

Ordinary surface remedies are not enough. It is deep down in the under layers of the skin that the real root of the trouble lies. Tiny cells and nerve ends inflamed and irritated, pores clogged with poisonous germs—these are what must be reached and brought back to normal.

To thousands of mothers, careful physicians are today recommending Resinol Ointment as a safe and effective remedy for constant use. Absolutely pure, healing, mildly antiseptic, Resinol will often soothe away in a day or so the most stubborn rash, or the most trifling blemish. Even a light application sinks deep into the pores, attacks the root of the disorder, and starts the skin again acting normally.

If your child has today any spot, rash, or irritation of the skin, apply Resinol. Resinol is absolutely harmless. It cannot irritate the delicate texture of baby skin. You can use it without fear. Its results are surprising. Get a jar at your druggist's today, or send for a free trial sample to Dept. 28, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

Four Costumes Chosen For The June Bride's Trousseau

Morning

Suit of pin check twill in artichoke green. Unusual and smart in color—in line and detail expressive of the new in the mode. Skillfully tailored straight coat and wrap-around skirt. Gros-grain ribbon in self color binds all edges, the pockets have pointed flaps. $65.

Sports frock of oyster white Roshanara, effectively combined with black. Black vestee with white pearl buttons, narrow black pipings on slit pockets and turn-back collar. From one pocket dangles a black fob with rhinestones. Both the girl who "goes in for sports" and the one who merely likes the smartness of sports clothes will appreciate this clever frock. $35.

Afternoon

Gown of Elizabeth crepe in that softest of shades—powder blue, classically beautiful in line. The long tunic is new, as is the scarf which wanders from one side of the skirt to the back of the neck, and thence hangs straight from the shoulder or is wound about the neck. A great pink rose gives a delicately contrasting touch. $65.00.

Evening

Jade green chiffon over gold crepe fashions this dinner gown—a gown for many summer evening affairs when formality is less formal. The design is traced in deeper jade embroidery and crystal beads, and the skirt ends in a triple fringe of crystal beads. A chou of green chiffon with a flame color rose in its center makes a bit of flashing color. A brilliantly beautiful creation. $175.

WANTED: FIFTY USED CARS

Especially Studebakers

This Week

With an average monthly sale of 150 used automobiles, we have only 45 on hand today.

We actually need used cars which we can take in exchange—especially Studebakers.

We need them now! Fifty, at least, for we have customers waiting for them.

Next week it may be different for this announcement will probably get the cars.

And there is no better new car for a man who wants to exchange than a Studebaker—the most popular Six on the market.

The next nearest competitor (Fours and Sixes combined) was 77 cars behind the Studebaker record.

So our offer is unusual in two ways—unusual in the valuation of the car you have to trade and unusual in the value of the new car that your old car helps to buy.

It means exactly what it says.

It means that your car has a trade-in value with us that will never be greater than it is today.

We need 50 more used cars for a ready market—now.

So this week offers you a value that may never come again.

Drive your car to any one of our four stores.

One Year to Live!

by John Hunter

[Copyright, 1924, in United States and Canada, by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved. Copyright in England.]

Lolette got up and walked out, leaving Elise kneeling on the floor.

Sometimes in those days, also, Elise saw Doctor Lapierre and more than once he commented on her growing paleness.

"I have warned you," he said. "There is a breakdown coming unless you do something to stop it. Won't you listen to me?"

And always she told him that she must go on.

WHO ARE THEY

Elise Duchanier is a beautiful and innocent young girl of gentile birth, who, by misfortune, has sunk to be a dresser in a small Montmartre theater. Elise has the care of a bed-ridden sister, who is attended by an elderly doctor named Lapierre, who loves Elise. The young girl is dresser to the Parisian star.

Lolette, a gorgeous creature of flaming passions, glaring appearance, and equally glaring morals. Elise's natural modesty and beauty are a thorn in Lolette's jealous side, and the star desires the downfall of her little dresser. Lolette's manager and protector is

Maurice Brunel, the great entrepreneur, while another follower of Lolette's is a certain Count Mordac. To this latter Lolette confides the fact that she is determined to ruin Elise. Elise meets a young American named

Tom Kendrick, whom she at once recognizes as a man of different stamp from the hanger-on on of the theater. Kendrick asks Elise to accompany him to a great ball masque and the girl accepts.

Chapter VI

LOVE

At the end of a fortnight love came to Elise.

It was a hot evening in May, one of those warm, seductive nights with which spring sometimes endows us and summer forgets to dispense. The theater was crowded, for Paris was filled with visitors, people from Britain and the neighboring European countries, with a great sprinkling of Americans.

On the boulevards and in the opera was a scene of crowded gaiety, bright lights, bright eyes, jewels, sleek, shining cars, thronged cafes—all under an atmosphere of life and happiness.

Mordac brought a visitor to the gorgeous dressing room of Lolette. He was a young American named Tom Kendrick, acquainted with Mordac, apparently, because of some business deal which had brought him from New York.

He was about 30 years of age, with a tanned face, irregular in feature, but hard and strong; its hardness relieved and almost negatived by a sensitive mouth about which a smile always lurked, as though in hiding. He carried his dress clothes with the easy grace of an athlete, and his hands looked capable and workmanlike. His hair, straight and a little dull, was brown, as were his wide set eyes. It was his eyes which told Elise of the "difference" in him, why he was not like the men who usually came to see Lolette. For when he entered he looked at Elise, and in his glance was no appraisement. It was a very straight glance, boyish, almost, and friendly, with a smile in it. Mordac introduced him to Lolette, and Elise heard his name.

She studied him covertly while he was there He spoke very little and then quietly and, watching him, Elise conceived that he would have been more at home on a playing field than in the dressing-room of a dancer; not that he was gauche or blundering, but he was obviously not in his true environment, which somehow pleased Elise.

He went at last with Mordac, and gave a courteous goodnight to everybody in the room—Lolette and her dressers. Elise took home with her that night a glorified picture of him in her memory. He was, she decided, not the kind of man who should visit Lolette. The story she told Marthe before they went to sleep had him for its hero.

Two evenings later he came again, and as he and Mordac arrived while Lolette was showing they decided to wait until the dancer came up from the stage. Elise was busy with the things on the dressing table and Kendrick spoke to her. There was not an atom of affront or familiarity in his manner, and they chatted for a little while until Mordoc broke in and distracted Kendrick's attention.

From then each time he came to the dressing room, which he did with frequency, Kendrick found an opportunity of talking to Elise. From the first there seemed a bond of understanding between them, and as the days went by Elise found herself telling Kendrick about Marthe and everything else connected with her life outside the theater, while he listened gravely, interjecting occasional observations which drew from her more and more information concerning herself.

Once Lolette came into the room while they were chatting—it was the first intimation the dancer had of their friendship. She checked in the doorway, a hardly perceptible hesitation, and the old baleful light flared and died in the glance of furious astonishment she directed at Elise. Kendrick had turned to her as she entered, and it seemed impossible that he could have omitted to see that look. For the rest of the time until he took his departure he watched Lolette and Elise with unobtrusive curiosity.

With each visit Elise looked forward more and more to the next, and it was not until afterwards—when everything which was ordained was done past all recall—that she realized exactly what Kendrick had come to mean to her during those hot, close evenings when Paris made merry under the stars. She might have been conscious that she was drifting toward a crisis, but if so she ignored it, reaching out desperately toward those meetings with Kendrick and heeding nothing else.

She saw Dr. Lapierre each day, but of him thought not at all, while he became more and more occupied with himself and his thoughts.

Chapter VII

BRUNEL GIVES A PARTY

Brunel gave a great garden party, a bal masque, in the grounds of his beautiful house behind the Champs Elysees. This bal masque was an institution in the Parisian theatrical world, and an evidence of the largeness of Brunel's complex character. It opened always at 1 o'clock in the morning, after the theaters were closed, and it continued until pale dawn lifted light across the eastern horizon. To it went everybody and anybody connected with the theater. Like Quatz's Arts Ball, exclusively attended by the artistic profession and yet open to all who graced that profession, this bal masque of Brunel's was for those of the theater and all those of the theater. They all went—from the highest to the lowest—and the most brilliant star in the Parisian firmament rubbed shoulders with the humblest figurante during those few hours of hectic gayety. Brunel held open house that night, and there were those who declared that it was more valuable to him than many thousands of francs' worth of ordinary advertisment.

It was the privilege of a few outside the profession to be invited to attend, and among these was Mordac. He, with characteristic self-assurance, extended the invitation to Kendrick one night in Lolette's dressing-room. They were talking, he, Lolette and Kendrick, about the ball, and Mordac said: "You should come along, Kendrick. Brunel would be charmed, I am sure. But"—he smiled—"you must bring a lady. That is the unwritten law." He looked at Lolette. "Monsieur Kendrick is outrageously austere. He apparently fails to perceive how much nicer is a nice dinner when a beautiful face looks at one across the table."

Kendrick laughed. "Oh — I'm not so bad as that. But—well, you know how it is. One gets to know so few people in a strange city. If it hadn't been for the Count"—he was addressing Lolette—"I should have been very much alone, I'm afraid."

Lolette smiled. "But you will come to the ball, monsieur? It is jolly—lots of go—pouf! From 1 o'clock till dawn—great fun—all lights and music and champagne, pretty girls, fancy dress, and the unmasking when the night ends. You must come. And we will find you a girl. There are lots of them, pretty ones, in the theater."

Elise had heard it all, and her heart had lifted with something ridiculously akin to pride when Mordac had remarked on what he was pleased to term Kendrick's outrageous austerity. That was how Kendrick would be, she thought. And yet now—she was just a little unhappy—they were going to find a pretty girl for him, and drag him off to the wild orgy which Brunel called his bal masque.

He was answering Lolette, and she strained her ears for his words.

"I'm very glad to come," he said, "and I appreciate your kindness in inviting me; but I won't ask you to find me a partner." Perhaps he had seen that look Lolette had given Elise when first she discovered him in conversation with her, perhaps, because he had seen it and had watched them both, he had noticed other things — the smoldering enmity, the growing hate—and had a whimsical desire to fling Lolette's invitation back at her as some payment for that hate; or perhaps it was just because Elise was a beautiful girl who appealed to him. But he turned to her and said with the grave courtesy she had come to know so well:

"Mademoiselle, would you honor me?"

It was the great invitation, and Elise stayed breathless for an appreciable space, while Lolette glared and Mordac stood by smiling quietly, his eyebrows lifted the slightest bit.

She could not refuse. She knew that. She must go with him—whatever it might mean for her afterward. She must snatch these hours of joy in his company—she must!

"Thank you, monsieur. I shall be pleased."

He smiled in a satisfied way. "That's settled, then." And, to Lolette and Mordac, "I have my partner, you see, and we'll come along and have a real good time."

"Of course," said Mordac quietly; and added, as though to warn Lolette against any outburst she might be contemplating: "All the theater is welcome at Brunel's on that night—all!"

Lolette leaned back, cooled suddenly. Her eyes were almost invisible. She gave Elise the frightened impression of somebody who has made a great decision.

To Mordac, Lolette said later: "That invitation is good. The little fool! To think the American should notice her! Listen, mon ami! At the masque I shall get her—I shall smash her. She is delivered into my hands."

Tomorrow—The Velvet Glove.

Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce

May 6, 1924

TO THE PUBLIC

Because of the spread of the hoof and mouth disease from Northern California to Los Angeles County, we here, like good citizens, are making every effort to stamp it out and to protect our friends and neighbors in adjoining counties and states. The effect of this temporarily has been the placing of certain very unnecessary embargoes against our products whether warranted or otherwise, the effect of which will be temporarily felt in our business conditions here.

We expect that the result of the Federal Government taking complete control of the situation will mean the early lifting of some of these embargoes. On the other hand, the very restrictions that we are placing around ourselves to protect our neighbors will reflect itself temporarily in our business situation.

Your Chamber of Commerce believes that there was never a better opportunity for the business interests and people generally of this section to show their loyalty to Los Angeles and Southern California manufactured products than at the present time. The temporary difficulties we may have in shipping our products to our outside markets makes it imperative that our close-in market where these products can move freely, should absorb them at an increased ratio so that employment may continue at a high rate and the effect of our temporary difficulty minimized.

There is manufactured in and around Los Angeles almost every type of product that is brought into Los Angeles, and I feel that these local manufactured goods will compare very favorably, both in price and quality, with anything produced anywhere. The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce will be very glad indeed to give full information to you concerning the manufactures of various types of products which you may be looking for and which may be, without your knowledge, produced in this territory.

It behooves every retailer, wholesaler, and manufacturer to give this situation his best attention, and through concert of action we can easily make negligible any softening of business which must necessarily temporarily result from the present situation.

The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce feels that there was never a time in the history of Los Angeles when the underlying conditions were sounder than they are at the present time, nor a time when business interests generally could look forward with more confidence than they can at the present time.

We must expect in the rapid growth of a great community that distressing occasions such as these will arise, and it is typical of the Los Angeles spirit that in the short time we have been fighting this epidemic here, in the opinion of Federal Officials, we have accomplished more than has been done in similar cases in other sections of the United States in six months.

Let us use our good sense, therefore, in combatting this situation and help ourselves by helping each other to maintain the highest possible production through this temporary period.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 5.—Fourteen persons, four of whom are women, were injured seriously, several perhaps fatally, today when an elevator in the Ashland Block, Clark and Randolph streets, fell nine floors to the bottom of the shaft. The breaking of two bolts which hold the hydraulic piston to which is attached the cables was assigned by the police as the cause of the accident. These bolts are in the machinery on the roof of the car.

The crash was heard throughout the building and in a moment panic-stricken office tenants rushed into the halls as the screams of the injured mingled with the shouts of rescuers who dashed to the scene.

A number of the injured were unconscious when carried from the wrecked elevator; they were taken to hospitals.

CHILDREN ATTACKED BY EAGLE

Giant Bird Beaten Off After Tearing Wrist of Small Boy

MOSCOW (Idaho) May 5.—A spectacular battle between three children and a huge golden eagle ended in the killing of the latter only after the children were injured, according to accounts reaching here from the country several miles northwest.

The three children were out looking after squirrel traps when the big bird swooped down upon them.

The eagle attacked little Ray Gilbert. The lad instinctively threw his arm above his head. It was seized in the talons of the bird of prey. Two other children set on the bird with sticks and finally succeeded in breaking a wing.

Not until then did the giant eagle let go, and only after tearing some flesh from the boy's wrist.

The bird, unable to fly, was later killed by M. Gilbert, the lad's father.

Alex Wark's Will is Found With Masonic Papers

Bakersfield Man Ignores Own Brothers in Last Deed

Nephews and Nieces Will Receive Big Fortune

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, May 5. — The will of the late Alex Wark has been found. Thought legally proper, the instrument is simple in text. Mr. Wark has bequeathed the entire bulk of his large estate to his nephews and nieces. Not a cent of his fortune had been left to his brothers, according to the document, which was presented to Judge J. W. Mahon today in Superior Court. It was previously believed there was no will.

Alex Wark was a retired Bakersfield capitalist, who met death when his huge gray roadster skidded off the State highway eight miles south of Switzer's Tavern March 20, last. He was returning to Bakersfield at the time his car overturned on leaving road. His skull was crushed.

Previous to the discovery of the last will of Mr. Wark, among some of his Masonic papers, W. S. Wark, brother of the deceased, made application to the Superior Court for letters of administration. This was done while the late Mr. Wark was believed intestate. With the discovery of the will, however, the disposition of the estate will be changed. The estate in its entirety will be left to the distant relatives of Mr. Wark. His three brothers, one in Long Beach and two retired business men in the East and a sister in Ireland, will receive none of the estate.

W. S. Wark, who motored to Bakersfield immediately upon learning of the death of Alex Wark, has been named in the will to administer the estate. Before he qualifies as administrator he must supply a bond of $92,000, according to information supplied by a court attache.

COOLIDGE FAVORED

Four-to-One Majority Predicted in Orange County

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ORANGE, May 5. — Linking hands with the remainder of the State, Orange voters will march to the polls tomorrow to cast their ballots in the State preferential primary election.

According to F. L. Ainsworth, president of the Orange Coolidge Club, the district is expected to give Coolidge a sweeping majority ranging anywhere from three to one to four to one. The only question as to the size of the Coolidge majority seems to lie in overconfidence which may cause many supporters to neglect to vote, it was indicated.

Although some campaigning has been carried on for Senator Hiram Johnson, the Californian is not expected to poll the vote accorded him in this district in former years.

WALLING GIRL TO BE TRIED FOR ROBBERY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, May 5.—Eleanor Walling will be tried as a principal in the Taft State Bank robbery, as originally planned by the District Attorney's office. Though the Walling girl recently admitted connection with the affair as an accessory after the fact, it will not mitigate the seriousness of the original robbery charge preferred against her, the District Attorney announced.

She will be tried the 27th inst. in Superior Court with "Bill" Crockett, against whom a similar charge is laid. "Scotty" Taylor, also accused of participating in the robbery, will be tried June 10.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ALHAMBRA, May 5.—During a few moments while the office of the San Gabriel Country Club was left unattended this morning a thief entered, took between $400 and $500 from the unlocked safe and escaped. The janitor of the club, a new employee, has disappeared and officers are searching for him. This man is reported to have been seen climbing over a fence near the club grounds at about the time the robbery was discovered. He is reported to have been carrying a black grip and in response to a hail from another employee he is said to have called back that he was "taking a day off." Descriptions of the man suspected have been sent to all nearby cities.

GLENDALE WATCHING BUS FIGHT

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, May 5. — City officials are waiting with interest to see what course the Pacific Electric Railway plans to follow when July 1 rolls around and it becomes necessary to renew the license the company has paid up until that date to run its busses on Glendale's streets.

Their anxiety is based on a report received here that Santa Ana and the Pacific Electric Railway Company are having difficulty over payment of the municipal license. In Santa Ana, it is asserted, the permit to operate busses was granted to a subsidiary concern that later transferred the permit to the railway company, which is said to hold that, as a common carrier, it is under the jurisdiction of the State Railroad Commission and therefore is not liable for payment of a city license.

In the case of the six busses that were granted permits to ply on the streets of Glendale, only one was operated by a land company and this permit, it is declared, was transferred to the railway company some time ago. The license fees have been paid to July 1, although it is said by City Clerk A. J. Van Wie that it was done under protest, the railway taking the stand that Glendale has no right to tax the busses.

The officials take the stand that the busses are plying within the city boundaries and therefore are liable to the municipal license, holding that the commission has jurisdiction only on busses operating between intercity points.

School Almost Wrecked When Boiler Bursts

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

HUNTINGTON PARK, May 5.—An explosion in the new boiler house firebox at the Huntington Park Union High School, just before noon today, caused several hundred dollars damage to the interior of the room. The walls on the south, west and north sides of the small brick and steel arrangement immediately surrounding the boilers were blown away, while the large windows on the south and west sides of the boiler house proper were blown from their casings.

Irving Smith, the engineer, immediately preceding the explosion, felt a slight vibration and knowing the meaning, escaped from the building just in time.

It is given out that the air pump failed to work, thus causing the fire to go out. Gas formed in the firebox, and the hot bricks caused it to ignite.

A number of men had been at work on the roof just a few minutes before, but finished the job. However, the roof of the building was not greatly damaged. The boilers, also, are thought to have escaped injury.

THREE COUNTIES ASK PORT

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SANTA ANA, May 5.—Orange county harbor is a tri-county project, it was shown here today when Maj. E. D. Ardery of Los Angeles, United States district harbor engineer, conducted a hearing designed to reveal the feasibility of a port at Newport Beach.

Representatives from Riverside and San Bernardino counties, including Mayor McNabb of San Bernardino, spoke in favor of a harbor here. Federal appropriation to assist development of the landlocked bay is being sought.

Harbor proponents, it was apparent, sought to show that a need exists for another Pacific Coast waterway, and in doing so presented in detail the scope of business done in the three counties concerned.

Approximately 750,000 tons of various commodities, of which more than three-fourths consists of citrus fruit, are shipped from the three counties annually, residents from these sections asserted. The value of the fruit exports was placed at $35,000,000. Products brought into these districts total annually more than 161,328 tons, it was said.

Since the last hearing on the harbor project, in November, 1922, more than 1346 tons of cement, lumber, copper wire and other materials came through the harbor itself, though, it was shown, the bay was not in condition to handle extensive commerce. Orange county and private and municipal interests have expended approximately $1,000,000 in developing jetties and in dredging and filling in the dockage sites and the bay itself, it was shown.

RAISE FUND FOR LOBBY AT CAPITAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL CENTRO, May 5.—Several Imperial Valley residents have subscribed to a fund of $6000 to pay expenses of a lobbying delegation at Washington, following refusal by banks to pay irrigation district warrants drawn for this purpose. Directors of the Imperial Irrigation District were informed by bankers here that they would not pay district warrants drawn in favor of members of the lobby at Washington working for the Boulder Dam bill, because they feared they might be enjoined from paying them. Their action followed reported threats of injunctions by taxpayers.

A warrant for $357.89 in favor of Col. B. F. Fly of Yuma, aiding the irrigation district at Washington, came to an El Centro bank. It was intended as payment for Col. Fly's lobbying services at the capital. Under the system used by the irrigation district a warrant tis first given the payee, who presents it at the bank. After it is paid by the bank it is presented to the treasurer of the district, who then signs and approves its payment from the district funds. It was pointed out that if the irrigation district treasurer should be restrained from signing such warrants, the banks, which had already paid out the money, would be the losers. The bankers said they were taking no chances.

Then several taxpayers told the district directors they would underwrite the fund for the lobbyists. After this action Elmer W. Heald, who has been waiting for provision to be made for his expenses, left for Washington to join Mark Rose, F. W. Greer and Col. Fly in their labors for the Swing-Johnson bill.

For several weeks the irrigation district has been registering its warrants and the banks have been carrying them pending the collection of additional taxes and water bills amounting to more than $100,000. It was announced at the district offices that all the outstanding warrants would be paid in full within the next two months.

The Coast counties have been particularly fortunate during the epidemic, as the disease has not appeared, in any of them north of Los Angeles county.

KNIGHTS IN STATE MEETING

Catholic Order in Sessions at Pasadena; Delegates Attend Memorial Requiem Mass

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, May 5.—First sessions of the twenty-second annual State convention of the Knights of Columbus were conducted in this city today with Frank E. Michels, Jr., State deputy and highest Catholic officer in the State, presiding. Today's meeting was taken up with the reading of annual reports of the various officers.

Resolutions also were presented.

This morning delegates from all sections of the State attended a memorial mass of requiem in the St. Andrew's Church. Rev. Thomas Horgan, rector of the Cathedral of the Blessed Sacrament, of Sacramento, preached the sermon. Mr. Horgan also is State chaplain of the Knights of Columbus.

A large delegation from Fresno already has started an active campaign to obtain the 1925 convention for that city. Fresno was a contender for the honor last year and lost to Pasadena only because this city was celebrating her fiftieth anniversary and was entertaining conventions from all parts of the United States.

Considerable interest now is being evidenced over the election of State officers tomorrow. A number of candidates are seeking the office of State Deputy, as the Knights of Columbus, unlike other fraternal organizations, does not advance its officers in rotation.

Wives of the delegates were entertained this afternoon at automobile sight-seeing tours through Pasadena and Hollywood. A number of the motion-picture studios were visited.

One thousand persons attended the annual banquet this evening at the Maryland. Judge Paul M. McCormick of Los Angeles was the toastmaster and Joseph Scott was the principal speaker.

More than 1000 persons were present at the banquet at the Maryland Hotel. Judge Paul J. McCormick of Los Angeles served as toastmaster. Addresses were made by Joseph Scott, Knight of St. Gregory; Frank E. Michels, State Chief Deputy; Thomas P. White, officer of the Fourth Degree; Bishop Cantwell of Los Angeles, and Bishop Hanna of San Francisco. A musical program in charge of Harry Girard and Miss Pat McCarty was given. The banquet room was decorated with American flags.

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, May 5.—Belief was expressed here today by friends and relatives of Arthur M. Goodhue, manager of the Long Beach branch of the the San Pedro Lumber Company, that the lumberman is a victim of amnesia, and that he may be wandering about somewhere in California, unable to make known his identity. Goodhue, who has been missing since April 26, last, was seen on the streets of Long Beach on April 30 by W. A. Cunningham, head of the Pacific Avenue Improvement Association, the latter told police today. The man, who is a close friend of Mr. Cunningham, seemed to be in deep thought and agitated. He failed to recognize Mr. Cunningham and seemed to be talking to himself as he passed, Cunningham sadi.

An audit of the books of the Long Beach branch of the company is now being made, company officials said, with a view of determining the finances of the branch. Search was instituted today for Goodhue in sanatoriums and hospitals of Southern California.

Inglewood Folk Open Battle to Save City Trees

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, May 5.—"Woodman, spare that tree!" is the slogan of hundreds of Inglewood residents who are signing petitions to save the rows of tall pepper trees down the center of Pimiento street. The shaded streets are admired by the citizens who are resolved to defeat a city ordinance that would remove these trees because of a proposed change of grade in paving the broad thoroughfare.

City Attorney Woodworth has unofficially declared himself as opposed to destroying the pepper trees, declaring that, although they made a litter, they need only a little care, like every other thing of beauty, in order to keep the surroundings neat. He also flatly contradicted the claim that a lawn and flowers cannot be grown near a pepper tree and gave instances to prove it.

Plans Studied for Monrovia Civic Center

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

Bonds amounting to $50,000 were voted last fall for buildings which will be devoted to a fire hall, police building and garage. The administration building will be put up later.

ND OF LONDON PARLEY DENIED

English and Russians Discredit Reports

Deadlock Near, However, on Matter of Claims

Government Out to Get $27,302,000,000

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, May 5.—The Foreign Office and the Russian delegation today both issued emphatic denials of reports circulated during the week-end to the effect that the Anglo-Russian conference had broken down. It is asserted that progress is being made slowly, and the whole job now is chiefly in the expert stage, at which, naturally, Prime Minister MacDonald is not present.

On the principal question at issue, however, no denials are made, and the fact appears to be that the subcommission on claims and counter-claims is near a deadlock in its secret sessions.

The Russian tactics appear almost comic to laymen, but official circles are inclined to believe they are meant in all seriousness. They have prepared a long list of counter claims to present to England as a balance for Russia's unacknowledged debts, so if the present negotiations end in Russia's acknowledgment of its obligations England still will owe money to the soviet government.

The Russian claims are said to be as follows:

(1.) Losses by Great Britain's support of Admiral Kolchak and other warlike adventures of the Whites, $6,106,500,000.

(2.) The question of transport during the blockade and the expenses of the Russian civil war asserted to have been encouraged by London, $5,635,500,000.

(3.) Losses in reduction in industry and agriculture, $15,560,000,000.

TURTLES SHIPPED ALIVE

CURRIE (Minn.) May 5.—Huge snapping turtles have appeared in such large numbers on the shores of Lake Shetek that Oscar Beal of Valhalla and others are finding it profitable to capture them and ship them alive to eastern cities, where there is a ready market for them.

The river at Marshall, Mo., is rapidly encroaching on the right of way of the Chicago and Alton Railroad tracks and is expected to cover them completely. The situation is practically the same at Glasgow and Harmony. Trains are crawling over tracks at the flood points at a speed of less than five miles an hour. Two government boats and two crews are reinforcing the bank with concrete anchors, trees and riprap work.

INDIANAPOLIS

ST. PAUL

ST. PAUL, May 5.—A verdict of $9000 awarded to Miss Mary Drobnich of Virginia by a jury in the St. Louis County District Court, against Charles Bach in a breach-of-promise suit, was held not to be excessive by the State Supreme Court here. Miss Drobnich charged that Bach had promised to marry her but his promises failed to materialize and as a result brought action for $50,000 damages. The jury awarded Miss Drobnich $15,000, which was reduced in District Court to $9000 and Bach moved for a new trial, which was denied.

The Mendota Hotel and the Telephone Exchange Building at Mendota were destroyed by fire, which started in the roof of the hotel. One person, Mrs. Edward Dupuis, was burned slightly. Thirty-one persons in the hotel and three families in the telephone building were made homeless. The loss was estimated at from $10,000 to $15,000.

A slab of stone which is believed to be the largest ever taken from a quarry in that section of the country has been cut near Cold Springs. The slab is to be used in the construction of a large new bank building in California. The stone measures twenty-six feet in length and its other dimensions are three and one-half by four feet. It weighs 50,000 pounds.

OMAHA

OMAHA, May 5.—Crop conditions in Northwest Iowa, Northern Nebraska, South Dakota and Southwestern Minnesota, according to reports from special crop reporters, are quite satisfactory, regardless of the lateness of the season and the unseasonable cool weather. The farmers' work is well advanced and a majority are ready to plant corn. Soil is in ideal condition. Winter and spring small grains and grasses are making good growth, as there is plenty of moisture in the ground. Fruits are uninjured and bumper crops are in prospect. Crops of young pigs and chickens are about average, with little sickness. The lamb crop is unusually heavy. Business conditions show some improvement, though collections are slow.

Suburb Arms Against Gang of Marauders

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SUFFERN (N. Y.) May 5.—Cragmere Park, exclusive residential section of Mahwah, last night threw off its rustic peace as almost every wealthy citizen armed himself with a revolver or shotgun, and awaited night marauders.

The excitement began Thursday night at the Rowenah-avenue home of two wealthy retired bachelors, Charles B. Newell, who sings in a Suffern church choir, in which are also many women of Mahwah and Suffern, and D. F. Nicholson.

Hearing noises, Newell went to the pantry and faced a man with a gun. He fled into the living-room as Nicholson aroused by the noises, faced the intruder. The gunman felled Nicholson and then severely beat Newell.

While Mahwah police would only admit that Nicholson suffered a black eye, others said he was found in a pool of blood and was badly bruised.

Police put aside the robbery theory, as the intruders deliberately kicked in a big plate glass door.

BRITISH ARE WARNED ON IRISH CRISIS

Colonial Secretary Says Ulster and South Best Judges on Boundary

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, May 5.—J. H. Thomas, Colonial Secretary, addressing a meeting at Derby, warned the British public of the gravity of the Irish boundary crisis and counseled them to keep calm.

"There must be no abusing of the Irish leaders, and no talk about another war in Ireland or about coercing Ulster," he said. "Ulster will not be brought to a reasonable frame of mind nor will she make the contribution wanted of her by such threats. Equally there must be no talk in spirit and letter.

"I am working to promote good will between the North and South, recognizing that the Irish themselves are the best judges and ought to be able to settle their own difficulties."

He explained that the reason he did not publish the proposals he laid before the Irish boundary conference on the behalf of the London government last week was the strictly private nature of the meeting.

He aroused strenuous cheering by the declaration that Prime Minister MacDonald this week-end is holding conversations of vital importance at Chequers in an effort to create good will instead of hatred and bitterness. He said the Prime Minister is helping Europe recover and is entitled to and would receive the co-operation of all who deserved the name of Briton.

Man Quits Job; Says He'll Live on Government

[BY WIRELESS AND EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
[Copyright, 1924, Public Ledger.]

LONDON, May 5.—The Ministry of Health was called upon yesterday to deal with the case of an able-bodied man, in the prime of life and health, who made a public declaration that he would never work again as long as he lived.

The man in question has received more than $100 out of relief funds from the Southwark Board of Guardians, whom he astonished with the announcement that he never intended to work again.

"What shall we do with such a man?" asked an agent at the meeting of the guardians yesterday.

"You must treat the case on its merits," replied the chairman.

"But the case has no merits," replied the agent, and it was decided to ask the Ministry of Health to intervene.

The Southwark guardians also report the case of another man who was married in the morning and came for relief in the afternoon.

BOSTON, May 5.—John Tate of Talbot avenue, Dorchester, freed under bail on a drunk charge, appeared and asked for the return of $9 he said was taken away from him when arrested. Special Officer Hartigan offered to look the matter up.

"I can't find $9 for you," said Hartigan, "but I did find a ticket for a black eye you gave me some time ago."

HARDWARE MAN BRAVES OCEAN WITHOUT FEAR

THE DAVIS, HUNT, COLLISTER CO.
CLEVELAND (O.) Feb. 22, 1924.
Mr. S. E. Strong,
Care Strong, Cobb & Co.,
Cleveland, O.
Dear Mr. Strong:—

Your Noburn is certainly a marvelous product. Mrs. Davis and I have used it for the last three or four years, both on summer and winter vacations. We both burn very badly from the sun and wind but since we have used Noburn our troubles from that source are a thing of the past.

I know no place where one burns so badly as ocean fishing on the Florida coast, yet last winter on several occasions I was out on the ocean all day in an open motorboat with a cloudless sky and suffered no inconvenience from sunburn, having, of course, applied Noburn to my face before starting.

Yours very truly,
EDWARD L. DAVIS,
Vice-president.

Just a few drops of "Noburn" applied before each exposure and you are sunburn proof. You get the tan, but not the burn. An invisible, odorless, harmless liquid, quickly applied, easily washed off.

Made and guaranteed by Strong Cobb Co., of Cleveland, who have been in business for ninety years. "Noburn" sold at all good drug stores.—[Advertisement.

Constipation—the thief of good health

EVERYONE fears constipation and takes physics to relieve it. But they usually contain irritant drugs that whip the colon into action without rendering any real help to nature.

That is why physicians in recent years have prescribed two harmless and drugless substances, Mineral Oil and Agar Agar (Japanese Sea Moss), to relieve constipation. These two substances act mechanically without being absorbed. Agar-Agar and mineral oil are now combined into a single emulsion, AGRILIN.

AGRILIN is tasteless and odorless. Agar-Agar corrects the tendency of mineral oil to seepage when used alone. But it has an even more important function—the property of increasing in bulk.

Relieves constipation the natural way

IN combination with mineral oil Agar-Agar softens and lubricates the waste matter and prevents it from becoming dry and compact. The intestinal muscles are not excited by drugs. They are exercised and grow stronger.

Thus AGRILIN is purely a mechanical and harmless aid to nature in eliminating waste matter and poisons, leaving the system thoroughly clean.

CRUDE RUBBER MARKET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 5.—Crude rubber market today although quiet, was much easier, due mainly to the decline in London. Practically no sales were reported, though a number of inquiries were made for June-July rubber. The tire manufacturers who have been operating with only a hand-to-mouth supply of rubber on hand are beginning to show indications of taking on a somewhat larger stock.

It is not likely, however, that any long forward commitments will be made. Additional reports are being received from London regarding plans for further restrictions of rubber production, but nothing definite as yet has been put forward. Prices in the local market today were steady and quotations were practically the same as they were the latter part of last week. Spot ribbed smoked sheet crude rubber was quoted at 22½c per pound. Brown crepe, in thin clean sheets, was priced at 21½c per pound, while amber No. 1 was held for 23¾c. Fine upriver Para was quoted at 20c per pound. July to September deliveries on ribbed smoked sheets were quoted at 22c per pound.

Nearly 650,000 persons went to the cities from farms last year, for aviators.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 5.—A broadening demand for California prunes is under way. Following a period of stagnation buying for heavier requirements of both wholesalers and chain stores is noted. The demand is for 40s and smaller sizes up to 60s. Oregon prunes are unchanged but stocks are light.

Raisin stocks have been cleared in first hands. New arrivals are being distributed for piers. The movement this season represents fully six times the volume in bulk raisins and an equally notable increase in packages. There is no quotable change in apricots but the trade views present levels as being too high to permit a free movement. There is an increasing demand for peaches. Pears are unchanged and very scarce. Currants are firmly held and in free call.

CANNED GOODS

In canned goods southern tomatoes are short in distributing markets. The Middle West is again a free buyer. No 2s are held at $1.05 in most quarters No. 3s are from 1.35 to 1.45, the market striking its balance at $1.40. California tomatoes are in wider demand. Standard peas are closely held. Standard cling peaches are now held in very small compass. Coast offerings are on the basis of $1.90-$1.95, while spots are still offered at $2.05 and in small lots. There is an enlarged demand for choice gradings. Pears and apricots are moving in a more liberal way. Prices are firmly sustained.

Pink salmon still offering at $1.20 coast. The movement has been large at this price. Reds are firm at top prices, but less active. Chinooks are in better demand on future offerings. California sardines are in good demand with stocks light and prices showing less range. White meat tuna is unchanged; blue fin and yellow fin are in wider demand.

SUGAR

Sugar was easier today. The Warner Company bought 10,000 bags of Cuban raws for the second half of May shipment at 4 1-8 cents showing a decline of another 1-16 cent from late sales on Saturday, while Atkins secured lot of 5000 bags for the same position at 4 1-8 cents cost and freight. News over the week-end from Cuba was no doubt disquieting ,but it was not apparently without influence on the sugar market. British refiners reduced their prices 1s for prompt shipment, while quoting 6d lower for forward shipment.

Price cutting among refiners failed to produce much of an increase in buying in refined sugar. Federal and Atkins were quoting 7.60 cents with price guarantees; Warner and National 7.70 cents, no guarantees; Arbuckle 7.65 cents no guarantees; American, 7.70 cents, and the Revere, Boston, 7.65 cents for immediately shipment assortments with order and no guarantees.

The sugar futures market was apparently in steadier shape than was expected in view of the further decline in raws and refined sugar. In fact the futures market seemed to pick up strength on the prospect that refined sugar prices might stabilize around current levels thus bringing in more general buying.

COFFEE

Buying orders from European sources and local sources forced coffee futures into new high ground. On account of holidays in Brazil there were no early cables but later specials came from Rio showing an advance of 225 to 450 reis in the term market with exchange unchanged and the dollar buying rate up some 30 reis. May sold at 14 cents on covering but the feature was the late advance in December contracts to 12.25 cents; while December showed a jump to 12.55 cents closing at 12.58 cents.

Estimates of available rice supplies call for only about 800,000 bags of domestics which is about the smallest total in a number of years. While there are fair supplies in sight assortments are quite limited. Only limited stocks of foreign are available on spot and these only at high prices since Japanese buying in primary markets has been of extensive proportions.

What stimulus has thus far been reported to tea markets as the result of reductions in schedules under the new British budget amendment last week have been confined generally to the London market. Today cables from London reported that a better movement of teas was in evidence there. Prices were steady to strong, according to description.

PEAS AND BEANS

Buyers of beans are taking hold slowly. Marrows are still lightly offered and are firm. Peas are easily bought as quoted. White kidneys are dull. Limas are quiet.

Butter was 1-2 cent higher, much to the discomfiture of many buyers who were looking for unchanged conditions. Offerings of fancy table grades for spot delivery were light. Two hundred tubs fresh extras went at 38 1-2 cents.

The egg market is firmer on nearly all grades that will satisfy best trade and prices are about 1-2 cent higher. In spot business sales were 350 cases s.p. firsts, 26 cents; 50 cases No. 1 dirties, 22 1-4 cents; one car s.p. firsts, 26 cents.

METALS

The copper market was apparently firmed up at 13 3-8 cents to 13 1-2 cents for electrotype delivered and it is very doubtful that any metal is now available at a less price. London cables standard as declining 2s 6d to £63, 5s for spot and to £64, 2s 6d for futures while electrolytic registered an advance of 5s with spot closing at £69, and futures £69, 10s.

The contract price of lead was reduced from 8 to 7 3-4 cents pound New York by the A. S. & R. Co. The independents have been asking 7 3-4 cents New York, and 7 1-2 cents St. Louis. London spot declined 10s to £29, 17s, 6d and futures 12s, 6d to £28, 7s, 6d.

Zinc firmed up and closed from 5.82½ to 5.85 cents St. Louis. In London the market broke for a loss of 2s 6d, with spot closing at £30 7s 6d, and futures £30 12s 6d.

The downward movement in the tin market was resumed, losses here amounting to from ½ to ⅞ of a cent, while the list in London was off approximately £3 10s. Spot straits here closed at 48¼ cents; May 47¾, and futures ¼ lower for each succeeding month. Most positions of straits shipments closed at a flat price of 47 cents a pound. London cables standard spot as declining £3 10s to £235 10s; futures, £3 7s 6d to £235 5s and straits £3 10s to £237. On Saturday the far eastern market advanced £2 10s, but lost 5s of this gain today, leaving straits in Singapore at £242 10s c.i.f. London.

PETROLEUM

Regardless of improving weather and demand and other helpful considerations, petroleum statistics continue to prove a disheartening factor to the oil industry. The March figures just issued show another high record for gasoline production has been made, the output surpassing that of January, the previous record month, by 48,000,000 gallons, and February by 2.6 per cent. This in view of the steadily growing market for gasoline and warmer weather would not be so bad were it not for the fact that there was another huge addition to stocks, bringing them to 1,571,404,867 gallons, also a new record, and an increase of 200,000,000 gallons over the previous month. The gain in stocks was thus about 12 per cent.

The bond list fluctuated within a narrow range today, the session being one of the dullest in some time. This happened in spite of the large supply of easy money. The demand was for gilt-edged corporation securities, but their gains were small. Liberties, which made only a small response last week to the reduction in the reserve rediscount rate, continued steady. The Bolivian 8s and the Jugo-Slav 8s featured the trading in the foreign government group, but their movements were small. The municipal market also was dull, a sale of $6,000,000 being the only sizeable sale to come, and that from Cleveland. Bankers are of the opinion that before long the savings institutions will begin buying municipal issues, and that this large buying will push values somewhat higher.

Uncertainties of Legislation Affects Grain

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 5.—As long as the situation is clouded by legislative possibilities the grain markets are expected to continue to hold within relatively narrow limits, and make a poor response to new developments. Wheat held within a range of ⅝@1c, showing a moderately firm undertone, especially for the May, which went to 2 cents under the July at the last and closed ⅛ cent higher for the day, while the deferred deliveries were unchanged. Corn was ⅜ cent higher to ¼ cent lower, oats unchanged to ⅛ cent higher and rye ⅜ cent lower.

Liverpool wheat closed ⅛@⅜c lower on the world's exports of 19,413,000 bushels, or nearly 6,000,000 bushels in excess of the previous week, while supplies on ocean gained 3,032,000 bushels. Export demand at the seaboard was somewhat restricted, with sales of 200,000 bushels, largely Manitobas. Crop reports from the Southwest remain favorable, while in the Canadian Northwest there was rain or snow which will delay seeding. May here closed at 1.03@1.04⅛, July at 1.06⅝ and September at 1.07¼.

Charters have been made to move out 250,000 bushels cash corn from Chicago to Buffalo. This grain was taken in on May delivery, and there was only moderate pressure on the market. Trade was largely of a local character. May finished at 78, July at 78⅜ and September at 78½. A decrease of 1,720,000 bushels in the visible supply brought the total down to 17,978,000 bushels, compared with 19,059,000 bushels last year. Cash basis here was unchanged to ¼ cent lower, with receipts 216 cars. Quality of the arrivals is much better, in the main due to spring shelled grain.

May oats was easily influenced by any good buying or selling, and while declining ½ cent at one time, closed within a fraction of the top, with the market showing a firm undertone. May closed at 76⅝. Crop reports are favorable. A decrease of 1,093,000 bushels in the visible brought the total down to 16,565,000 bushels, against 20,540,000 bushels last year. Receipts, eighteen cars.

There was a noticeable lack of aggressive support in rye, and while messages from the seaboard held out hope of much larger German demand, there was no export business of consequence and the undertone was heavy.

UNIVERSITY KNOWS NOTHING OF WEDGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BERKELEY, May 5.—The president's office of the University of California today denied published reports that "Fred R. Wedge of the University of California educational department" has been investigating activities of the Industrial Workers of the World for text-book purposes. The university authorities deny any knowledge of Wedge.

Wedge is believed to be the Rev. "Kid" Wedge, evangelist, stevedore, seaman, lumberjack and railroad worker, who has spent several years in sociological work.

IDAHO SENATOR FAILS TO GET INVESTIGATION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Another futile effort was made in the Senate to get action on a resolution for investigation of published charges that Senator Gooding, Republican, Idaho, was favored in loans by the War Finance Corporation.

Senator Goodwin, who introduced the resolution early last month, asked the status of the measure, and Senator Fess, Republican, Ohio, replied that the Finance Corporation had made a report that was "so complete an exoneration" of Senator Gooding that the Audits Committee had decided an investigation was unnecessary.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MANILA, May 5.—Since September 1, 118 earthquakes have been recorded in the Philippine Archipelago, according to the Weather Bureau. "This large number of shocks," says the bureau report, "probably indicates that adjustments occurred along the entire West Pacific corresponding to the great disturbance in Japan."

THIRTY MILLION PER DAY SAVED

American People Are World's Greatest Conservers

How This Vast Sum is Made to Turn the Wheels

Drawing a Fine Line Between Savings and Waste

According to an estimate of the Mechanics and Metals National Bank of New York, given in its monthly review of business conditions, the gross income of the American people is upward of $200,000,000 a day, while the daily savings are approximately one-sixth of this, or more than $30,000,000. The total income of the country for 1923 is placed at $70,000,000,000, an increase of $5,000,000,000 over 1922, and $10,000,000,000 over 1921. For the year's total savings the figure is $12,000,000,000. Of these savings the review says:

"No nation ever before showed anything like this addition to wealth in a period of twelve months. Going back only a third of a century to 1890, we find that our total wealth output was in that year no greater than our accumulation of last year. England before the war added about $2,000,000,000 to its national wealth annually through saving. Germany added a similar amount. Italy and France together saved less than either England or Germany. Even then the United States was adding more to its national wealth than these four nations combined. Today, with Europe still seeking to overcome its war ravages, we stand out as the single great accumulator of capital in the world.

"Savings are not just the sums of money people put into banks. In the usual economic formula cash alone does not represent savings; those things do represent savings which are produced and not immediately consumed, but added to the national equipment. A new house, an extension to a barn, a motor truck, a new road—these increase national wealth and are savings. They may be paid for out of people's pockets, out of the money deposited in banks, out of the premiums collected by insurance companies, out of building and loan funds, out of mortgages or out of bond and stock issues.

"Not less than $9,000,000,000 of the American people's savings last year went into automobiles, buildings and roads. A total of $2,500,000,000 went into railroad additions, power plants and public utilities. Various other items absorbed an additional $1,000,000,000. Our savings were in enviable volume; the question remains, how wisely were they spent? For automobiles and trucks alone, $3,300,000,000 was spent by the American people last year. That sum was three times greater than the year's addition to savings bank deposits, and twice as great as the total of life insurance premiums. How much of this was wise investments? How much was extravagance and waste?

SAVINGS AND WASTE

"There always will remain for dispute the question of where the line runs that separates savings and waste. Nobody can determine this arbitrarily. What is called savings is often waste, and what is called waste is often the soundest kind of economy. Individual circumstances invariably govern, and the matter after all is a question of ideals and judgment. Begging the question, it remains that a nation which can produce new wealth in such abundance that it averages a monthly surplus of $1,000,000,000 is in an enviable position, particularly in this stage of the world's affairs.

"It is easy to believe the volume of our savings to be, in reality, one of the most significant and outstanding phenomena of our industrial process. Also it is easy to believe that, with our high standard of living, it properly measures our industrial life and typifies our economic accomplishments.

"Time will show how far the accumulation has been wisely invested—whether, indeed, it has all represented true savings, or whether in the spirit of the times, much of it went where it will do no permanent good. For the present, all that anyone can say is, wait and see. Wealth assuredly has been and is being produced in an abundance never dreamed of by the builders as recently as a generation ago—Carnegie, Hill and the elder Morgan could not have pictured for 1924 what we see today. Great sums are constantly becoming available for the promotion of industry or for the expansion of the national equipment, and with American ability, equipment, energy, ingenuity and ambition supplying the motive power, there would seem to be ahead a continuance of development and growth."

DAILY TRADE TALK

Banker Home from Europe Praises Work of Commission; Edison's Big Family; Business News

Expressing complete confidence in the efficacy of the Dawes plan to bring Europe out of economic disorder, and paying high tribute to the work of the three American members of the experts' commission, A. P. Giannini, president of the Bank of Italy, returned yesterday to Los Angeles from a "flying trip" to Europe, as he termed it. Leaving New York on March 15, Mr. Giannini went immediately to Rome to represent the Bancitaly Corporation at the annual meeting of the Banca d'Italia d'America, which it controls, and paid hurried visits to Paris and London before embarking for the United States again.

Mr. Giannini dined with the American experts in Paris and has nothing but praise for them and their work. "They are tireless laborers of tremendous capacity," he said. "President Coolidge could not have chosen a better trio to represent this country for, as a group, they are the embodiment of all that is necessary in such an important task. Dawes is an expert in mass psychology; Young is a master negotiator, and our own Henry M. Robinson commands a wide reputation for his knowledge of international law and finance."

Adoption of the Dawes plan will have an immediate and salutary effect in domestic and international business, in Mr. Giannini's opinion. The creation of confidence in the stability of Central Europe will be followed by the introduction of capital and the expansion of agriculture and industry. The larders of these countries are empty; they need imports of foodstuffs such as California can supply. Mr. Giannini believes that this State will be one of the first to sense the economic improvement through increased orders for fruits, canned goods, cotton and other Pacific Coast exports.

While in Rome, the Bank of Italy president had an audience with Premier Mussolini, and was much impressed with Italy's dynamic ruler. He was there on the day of the national elections when Mussolini's party polled 72 per cent of all the votes cast. Economic conditions in Italy, he found, were especially favorable, although dependent for their continuance and improvement on the satisfactory adjustment of the reparations question.

Mr. Giannini commented on the progress of the Labor government in England, and said its course was being watched with interest by other countries of Europe. It has taken the first step toward bringing Russia back into the international trade circle, but the Los Angeles banker asserts that Russia will stand still until the French and German differences are composed.

EDISON'S BIG FAMILY

The Southern California Edison Company has more stockholders than any other electric or gas public utility in the United States and, as compared with all other very large corporations of all types in this country, it ranks fourth in number of stockholders. According to a statement by this utility there are 70,048 different owners of its $64,000,000 par value preferred and common stocks.

These figures show that the Southern California Edison Company ranks ahead of the Southern Pacific Railroad, Pacific Gas & Electric Company, Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, Standard Oil Company of California, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway, New York Central Railroad, Union Pacific Railroad, General Motors Corporation, General Electric Company, Pacific Oil Company, United States Rubber Company and Anaconda Copper Company, in respect to the number of its stockholders. It is preceded only by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the United States Steel Corporation and Pennsylvania Railroad.

It is a significant fact that of these 70,048 stockholders of the Edison Company over 90 per cent are its consumers while of the 5000 permanent employees of the company over 90 per cent own or are purchasing on partial payments over $7,000,000 of its common stock. This makes for an exceptionally high degree of co-operation and understanding between the company, public and employees.

In round figures the number of stockholders of the largest corporations in the country, according to recent reports, are approximately as follows:

American Telephone & Telegraph	281,000
United States Steel	180,000
Pennsylvania Railroad	143,000
Southern California Edison	70,000
Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe	65,000
Southern Pacific	63,000
Standard Oil Company of New Jersey	63,000
Consolidated Gas of New York	61,000
Union Pacific	53,000
General Motors	49,000
General Electric	39,000
Anaconda Copper	38,000
Pacific Oil	37,000
Commonwealth Edison	35,000
New York Central	35,000
United States Rubber	34,000
Pacific Gas & Electric	33,000
Public Service Corporation of Northern Illinois	22,000
Standard Oil of New York	15,000
Standard Oil of California	12,000
California Packing Corporation	6,600

The Southern California Edison Company has more stockholders than any other California corporation.

This great number of stockholders will be increased in the near future. A short time ago the Railroad Commission authorized the company to sell $10,000,000 par value 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock. The company has been giving its stockholders the right to purchase the stock, but any portion not bought by them is to be offered to the general public on attractive terms. It is expected that this offering will be made in the near future.

This preferred stock will be followed by approximately $48,000,000 par value common stock which is selling at a premium. For the year 1923 the company's gross earnings were over $20,000,000 and its profits available for preferred stock dividends amounted to about four and one-half times the required amount.

FIRST FIGS ARRIVE

The first box of figs to reach the Los Angeles market arrived yesterday and were consigned to Rivers Brothers Produce Company by L. E. Carpenter from his ranch at Indio. The box weighed seven pounds and was sold to the commissary department of the Southern Pacific for $15, at the rate of 40 cents a fig.

BANK APPOINTMENTS

The board of directors of the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank announce the appointment of O. H. Ady as a member of the Long Beach executive board and S. H. Tilden as manager of the Main and Washington branch. Mr. Tilden was formerly manager of the Hollywood and Hudson branch and more recently a relief manager in Los Angeles.

BARKER SALES

Gross sales of Barker Brothers for the period ended May 3 were 7 per cent over the same period of 1923, according to Hunter, Dulin & Co., and Bond & Goodwin & Tucker, Inc., underwriters of the 7½ per cent first preferred stock. Net earnings for the first three months of 1924 were at the annual rate of eight times the yearly dividend requirements.

CALLED BONDS

The Bank of Italy, through its bond department, announces that the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company has called $500,000 of its 7 per cent bonds due July 1, 1925. The bonds are called at 101 on July 1, 1924, and numbers may be obtained from the Bank of Italy.

RALLY AT FINISH CANCELS LOSSES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 5.—A late recovery about cancelled early losses on the local cotton exchange today. Favorable weather reports from the belt and lower cables were the market's chief factors. A steadier undertone prevailed following a flurry of selling by uptown and southern interests in the early trading which had carried the list sharply lower.

Afternoon trading, however, was rather quiet, being chiefly traced to local operators. Selling pressure was well resisted in the morning and it was evident to close observers of trading conditions that the selling had been overdone for the time being. Scattered buying by bargain hunters was in evidence after mid-session, and conservative operators covered their short contracts. Final prices were some forty to fifty points above the day's low, and but 3 to 5 points net lower.

Spot cotton closed unchanged at 30.05.

Daily Review

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLEVELAND (O.) May 5.—Daily Metal Trade today says:

"Vast expenditures planned by industrial concerns involving hundreds of millions of dollars this year for expansion of works and important new equipment programs lend substantial base to industrial future and furnish vital prospects to concerns furnishing equipments. Southern producers of coke figure on third quarter inquiries, while keeping fairly well occupied. Chicago producers of finished steel reduce quotations several dollars a ton to induce purchases. Copper at New York is steady at 13 3-8 cents. Zinc is quiet at 5.85 cents and lead lower at 7¼ cents, St. Louis. Tin is firmer at 48 1-4 cents."

WALL STREET GOSSIP

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 5.—Anaconda Copper's showing for last year was more favorable than the street in general had expected, and the fact that it came within $250,000 of earning its dividend requirements for 1923 was better than some unofficial forecasts. Today its executives consider the company as industrial enterprise rather than an out-and-out copper property, although the red metal still continues the basic product of operations.

Production of refined copper in the Michigan district last month was approximately 10,400,000 pounds, or 47 per cent of the normal output.

Business in general is progressing at a very satisfactory rate, according to President Doehler of the Doehler Die Casting Company, which serves over fifty different lines of industry.

Larger earnings in the first quarter of 1924 are reported by the Gulf Coast lines, net operating income of $1,025,273 being an increase of $315,044 over the same quarter last year. Surplus after charges was $727,777 against $430,354 a year ago.

A deficit of $807,041 for 1923, compared with a net profit of $8,399,413 in 1922, is reported by the Mexican Seaboard Oil Company. In the first quarter of 1924, however, net profit was $1,428,242 against a deficit of $141,597 a year ago. Gross earnings dropped from $23,781,633 in 1922 to $4,983,361 last year.

April sales of General Motors Corporation dropped to about 57,000 cars and trucks compared with 73,756 in March and 75,822 in April, 1923.

Stockholders of the Penn Seaboard Steel Corporation have authorized an increase of 300,000 shares of common stock to 1,500,000 shares of no par value, the additional issue to be sold at the discretion of the directors.

As Colorado Fuel and Iron went into high ground the mystery increased in the street regarding basis for the buying of the stock. There still were to be heard a number of theories, but as none of them had official sanction observers contended it was plain that those following the ticker for their inspiration were "going it in the dark." While the specialty hurried forward there was some profit taking, although the amount was insignificant when measured against the buyer power.

The pool in International Mercantile Marine preferred was able to make further progress today and the stock soared to a new high record for the year. The basis, according to market followers, appeared to be found in prospects for a heavier business during the summer and there also was considered the higher rates now effective.

Pere Marquette also moved forward to the best price this year and, in view of the presidential statement that no dividend increase was on the carpet, it looked to some as though a pool was conducting the stock in its flight. In the suggestion that Henry Ford might turn up in control the street seemed to place no more faith than it did when the automobile manufacturer was declared to be after the St. Paul road.

Texas and Pacific made good response to its annual report, but in addition to this factor there also came under discussion the likelihood of the road eventually linking with other roads with which it might make satisfactory interchange of traffic. Much of the buying again was asserted to be from banking quarters.

Easier Tone in Wool

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, May 5.—Wool traders here expect as a rule that London sales this week will not show any material price change over the last series. In the domestic section of the local market offerings show a slight easing tendency. However, considerable of the old wool now available are said to be of the average class.

WEEKLY COPPER MARKET REVIEW

Supply and Demand Not the Only Current Factors

Efforts to Retard Upward Movement Hinted

Increased Foreign Business May Soon Develop

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS
(Editor Arizona Mining Journal)

There are evidently other factors influencing the copper situation than the question of supply and demand and the statistical position of the metal. Only a year ago copper reacted to a price of better than 17 cents per pound, under conditions that were similar although not as favorable as today.

There is grave concern in the copper industry over the failure of the metal to show any substantial price reaction to the record consumption of the last year. Industry is today eating up copper at a rate more than 100 per cent greater than two years ago, and that this consumption is growing in volume rather than falling off is indicated by the figures recently made public showing that the March deliveries of copper totaled 271,000,000 pounds, necessitating so substantial a cut into the reserves that today's stocks represent only about one month's supply of the metal.

Just as long as there is an approximate balancing between production and consumption, it is possible for those who wish to depress the price or hold it down to do so, even though they might not be able to supply the copper requirements themselves. A single sale of copper makes the price for the day, and the price of 90 per cent of the day's sales may be made by the other 10 per cent.

MARKET MANIPULATION

Of course it would be possible for some of the producers to refuse to sell at the low price, but you could not expect the buyers to pay more than the quoted price. Hence in order to maintain their regular customers and supply their needs, the producers who desire a higher market are forced to sell.

This market manipulation can be overcome eventually by the law of supply and demand; either by the decreasing of the supply or the increasing of the demand, thus removing the balance on which this market manipulation is hanging. Both of these factors are working now and we are progressing in the right direction toward higher copper prices. However, every effort is being made from some source to retard any upward movement.

The prospects for increased foreign demand depends upon how wholeheartedly Germany and France accept the Dawes report and live up to its provisions. There is no doubt about the potential demand for copper in these countries, and it is believed that it has increased in proportion to the potential capacity in this country.

In an interview recently J. Parke Channing, vice-president of the Miami Copper Company, stated that only increased demand would raise the price of copper.

BETTER FOREIGN DEMAND

"It is felt," continued Mr. Channing, "that if the Dawes report is carried through to completion, there will be a greatly increased demand for copper."

The view suggested to Mr. Channing that possibly the greatly increased consumption of copper in the United States is due in some measure to American electrical companies having taken business formerly done by Germany, but Mr. Channing did not take this attitude at all. He believes that the greatly increased consumption of the metal in the United States is due to uses in this country. Greatly increased requirements call for much larger supplies of copper here.

He went on to point out the further demands for copper might be expected as the result of very large electrical developments in Europe, particularly in Italy, Switzerland, Sweden and Norway. Japan also has a large project under way.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Prices Sag

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 5.—Bond trading activities slackened perceptibly today with prices drifting irregularly lower. Profit-taking tendencies dampened speculative enthusiasm, traders reported, and difficulty was encountered in meeting the public investment demand because the market had been swept almost clean of high-grade securities with attractive yields.

The result was a steady diminution of buying despite the continuance of easy money and individual movement supplies the only features.

Selling pressure was reapplied to the Wilson & Co. issues, reflecting the continued uneasiness over the company's refinancing plans. New low prices for the year were established by all issues, the convertible 6s dropping 2 points to 51 and the 7½s, 1⅛ to 53½. Rogers Brown 7s, which several weeks ago sold as high as 85, broke 5 points to 70 and Virginia Carolina 7½s, with warrants, dipped to a new minimum figure at 30½.

Liberty bonds were firm in quiet trading with the third 4 1-4s reaching a new high price for the year at 100 22-32. French issues gained moderately in response to the success of the Dawes plan in the German elections and the progress made in the reparations conferences.

SUSPENSION OF RAIL GRANT CASE SOUGHT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 5.—A proposal for suspension for three years of the adjustment of the Northern Pacific Railroad land grants pending a Congressional investigation was considered today by the Senate Public Lands Committee.

NEW YORK CURB

Industrials Rise

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 5.—Contrary price movements characterized today's curb market, strength of a number of industrials based on high current earnings being counteracted by the heaviness of the oils on selling inspired by government reports of a large increase in gasoline stocks in storage.

Prairie Oil and Gas broke 5 points to 215 and then rallied to 220; Ohio Oil closed nearly 1½ points lower at 62 5-8 and most of the other Standard and independent oil shares showed fractional recessions.

A 6-point jump in Grand Stores following publication of the unusually favorable report for the first four months was the outstanding feature of the industrial list. Glen Alden Coal and Gillette Safety Razor each gained about 2 points, while Lehigh Power securities, Universal Pipe and Radiator, United Bakery and Commonwealth Power gained a point or so. Heaviness of Doehler Die Casting reflected liquidation coincident with the expiration of the offering syndicate, the stock making a good recovery later on reports that earnings for the first six months will approximate twice the full year's dividend requirement.

"HAVE NOTTERS" TO GET THEIRS

Nature Seeks to Balance Her Scrambled Accounts

Politics is Ointment's Fly; Wheat Acreage Reduced

BY GLENN GRISWOLD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1924, Public Ledger.]

CHICAGO, May 5.—The farmer considers Nature fitful and fickle in bestowing her favors but on the average her beneficiencies are impartial if one leaves out of consideration those scattered areas of the Far West in which drought and hot winds, tornadoes, hail and grasshoppers are routine to their season. This year Nature promises to take from those that have and give to those that have not.

Indications point to a great grain crop in the North and Far West where agriculture has been most despondent while misfortune of the seasons is promised for those territories that have been comparatively free from distress.

Winter wheat, on the average, is in splendid condition. There will be severe losses in the soft-wheat belt, particularly Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. There are diversified farming States in which a field of wheat is to be found between a stand of corn and a pasture lot. Farmers in these States could withstand a loss on winter wheat. Most of them, however, will lose but the seed and the cost of planting it, since wheat acerage abandoned may yet be plowed or disced and planted to other crops.

BETTER OUTLOOK

On the other hand Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma, States which harbor most of the farm distress in the winter-wheat belt, have splendid prospects. Nat C. Murray, crop expert, once Chief Statistician of the Department of Agriculture, estimates the winter-wheat crop of these three States at 231,566,000 bushels as compared to 148,198,000 bushels, a gain, 83,368,000 bushels. When we remember that these farmers can sell futures against this increase for more than $90,000,000 in the Chicago market today and their entire crop forecaste would bring almost $250,000,000 if sold now, these figures mean much to the farmer.

Thus does Nature adjust her balances. While we talk about taking the job out of her hands, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana are warned by Mr. Murray that their winter-wheat crop promises but 92,644,000 bushels as compared to 137,310,000 bushels a year ago.

The Murray report estimates the abandoned winter-wheat acreage at 7.14 per cent with the State of Washington and three States surrounding Chicago suffering practically all of the loss. This promises a harvest from 37,200,000 acres, a reduction of 6 per cent.

WHEAT OUTPUT REDUCED

On this basis the winter-wheat crop promises 559,225,000 bushels as compared with 572,340,000 last year. It is too early to make any worth while estimates of the condition of spring wheat but planting was reduced about 4 per cent as indicated in the government's report of intention to plant, made some time ago. The Murray estimate is 14.8 per cent. Assuming that growing conditions are normal, this acreage would suggest about 200,000,000 bushels of spring wheat, a reduction of but 13,000,000 bushels.

This is the season when a survey of the world supply of wheat becomes worth while and reliable advices are coming in. About 75 per cent of the world crop is harvested in the three months ended with August. Figures available from approximately 95 per cent of the wheat-growing territory indicates a reduction of acreage of 5 or 6 per cent as compared to last year and average condition is almost exactly the same as last year. This suggests a world crop of about 200,000,000 bushels less than last year.

Everything is against the price of wheat today. The boards of trade are all but deserted by speculators, who once sustained the market. There is little confidence in this territory that the McNary-Haugen bill or something equally bad may not be passed by Congress. In such a situation there should be encouragement in the fact that a farmer can get about $1.15 for good northern wheat in Minneapolis today and Chicago is paying $1.13 for No. 1 hard. If politics were as favorable as the weather, farmers in this territory might be assured their best season since 1919.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Stocks moved in an aimless manner yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. Trading interest was at a minimum because of the approaching holiday, and the volume of shares changing hands was small. Typical of the market's tendency was the narrowness of the range in Los Angeles Investment, which moved between 3.51 and 3.54 and finished at 3.52, a loss of 1 cent from Saturday.

Oil stocks were inclined to weaken slightly. Union Oil Associates slipped back 1-4 to 52⅝ and United Oil lost the same amount at 26⅝. Julian Petroleum preferred dropped the same distance to 29⅞, after selling at 30 in the opening hours. The common was up 1 point at 17.

Heavy trading in Gold Dust was the feature of the mining list, the stock selling at 1½ cents. Richmond Consolidated began the day at 17 and eased off to 16 at the close, while Tom Reed fluctuated between 40 and 37, the closing price. Telluride sold at 18 and Oatman United at 5½ cents.

In the bond list, Southern Counties Gas 5½s of 1936 were taken at 91½ and General Petroleum 7s of 1931 at 104 7-8. Pacific Gas and Electric 7s of 1940 sold up 1-8 to 106 7-8.

INCOME TAX APPLIES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Americans residing abroad were held by the Supreme Court today to be subject to Federal income taxes upon incomes entirely derived from sources within another country.

"His Reserves Came Up Too Late"

"FOLKS"

Every General that goes into battle depends, not entirely on his troops on the firing line, but on his reserves behind the lines.

Throughout my many battles of the past year against Big Business Interests, I have had to depend on my reserves many a time.

"MY RESERVES" in every instance, have been the people of California, and had it not been for the "PEOPLE" and "PUBLIC OPINION," my Corporation would have been snowed under many a time.

They say to me now, C. C. you made a good fight, but to me that's a huge joke, because had it not been for the people of this State, through a love of fair play, poor little me would have lasted against the forces opposing us, about as long as a snow ball lasts going through Hades.

No, Folks, I'm very modest about the little part I have played, but I'm mighty proud of the way you dear people stood behind me, in what has proven to be a fairly hard fought battle, where I am frank to tell you, all laws of warfare were thrown to the wind. But they do say, all is fair in love and war, and as far as I am concerned, I guess that's right, and I have no squawk coming.

Personally, I have tried to prove myself a General worthy of the task before me, by stretching every dollar until it has almost done the work of two iron men, as is pretty well born by the experts' appraisal of the assets of our Corporation.

'But the Battle is Not Yet Won'

And once again, (and I hope for the last time) I am compelled to call on "My Reserves."

"I NEED FIVE MILLION DOLLARS, AND I NEED IT IN A HURRY," and I have no place in God's world to get it, but from you, "The People of California."

I'm just wondering how many people will sit down and read this message of mine, throw the paper aside with a remark like this or that, "HE'S A MIGHTY GOOD ADD WRITER," or "I REALLY BELIEVE THIS FELLOW IS ON THE SQUARE," or "I SURELY WOULD LIKE TO SEE THIS FELLOW MAKE GOOD," but never think of reaching for the old check book and scribbling one out to me.

And even though you are not desirous of making money, I still maintain you should support me in this project, because it may only be tomorrow, or the next day, that you or your son, or your son's son, are pitted against the big monopolizing interests that are always watching to knock the fellow down that appears to be gaining a foothold.

It matters not whether it is the "Insurance Business," or the "Steel Business," or the "Oil Business," or the "Lumber Business," or the "Banking Business," or any other big business, there are always the same "Monopolizing Pirates" watching to keep you and I from cutting in, and the only way to kill this disease in the United States is by "ME BEATING THEM HERE," "YOU BEATING THEM THERE," and the other fellow beating them somewhere else, and don't you know pretty soon the "Big Boys" will get tired of spending barrels and barrels of money, trying to stop every aspirant into the big business world, and when that day comes, its going to be lots easier for your children, and my children and our children's children to get somewhere in this battle of life.

"THIS IS ONE TIME I'M GOING TO BEAT 'EM AND MAKE 'EM LIKE IT," so when you are writing it out just let your hand slip a little.

It's 2 shares of Preferred and 1½ shares of Common for each $100 you invest, and if you are too busy to run in and visit with us a little, just remember the Postman calls on us twice a day.

MARKET REVIEW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 5.—The spirit of apathy which descended on all the markets toward the close of last week was equally in evidence today. Foreign exchange rates were all but motionless, prices on the stock exchange swung idly back and forth in a narrow range, with most of the day's changes trifling fractions. A decline in the cotton market was recovered before the close; even the grain market ended practically unchanged; such periods of speculative inertia are not uncommon. They have always recurred with more or less frequency in years when influences bearing upon the markets were so far balanced as to occasion only a routine business by the general public, and they invariably follow a spell of professional activity in which action and reaction have offset one another and created a stalemate for the speculative game.

Both in influential London and on Wall street some effort had been made to ascribe the hesitant markets to yesterday's national elections in Germany. The political groups which uphold the ministry's favorable attitude on the new reparations plan were found still to control the Reichstag. But to this the markets made no visible response, which might have meant that they expected no other result. If that is the explanation, it shows the markets to have been good judges of the signs of the times and of human nature; for nothing has been made more certain, in the events and announcements since the Dawes committee reported its plan, than the fact that all Europe was weary of the deadlocked reparation controversy, had resolved to put an end to it at the first opportunity, and had found that opportunity in the Dawes report. Observant financial circles know that there is not the slightest reason to look for any other result in the impending French elections, or—to turn from politics to diplomacy—in the negotiations between Downing street and the Quai D'Orsay.

All that need be said of the day's stock market is that a few scattered industrial shares were bid up by floor traders early in the day, whole a few others were offered down, but that very few even of these movements lasted long, and that the general list moved little all day. As a whole, the day's changes were wholly unimportant.

Oils Are High

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 5.—Stock prices moved irregularly higher in today's quiet market. Strength and activity of a number of popular industrials and specialties, particularly in motors, chemicals and equipments, indicated a resumption of pool operations.

Publication of government statistics showing a large increase in gasoline stocks in April was followed by heavy selling of the oil shares. Atlantic Refining broke 3 points to 107 1-4 and losses of a point or so were made by Marland, Pan-American B., Cosden, Houston, Phillips Petroleum and Pacific, but all made good recovery from their low prices of the day.

President Coolidge's veto of the Bursum pension bill and the apparent success of the German coalition government supporting the Dawes plan for reparations payments were generally regarded as constructive factors. Several brokers reported that a number of stocks appeared to be in the process of accumulation and that there was a marked absence of the general selling pressure that has characterized some recent markets.

Heavy buying of Studebaker (old stock) which closed 1 1-2 points higher, at 85 1-2, was said to be for the account of a trader long prominent in the motor industry.

Further confirmation of a slackening in the motor industry was furnished by the preliminary report of General Motors, April sales, which showed a substantial reduction below the same month of last year.

Colorado Fuel was again active and strong, touching a new 1924 high at 42 3-4, but slipping back later to 40 7-8, where it was up 1 1-8 points on the day. Davison Chemical closed nearly 3 points higher at 53 and Congoleum showed a net gain of 2 5-8 at 41 3-8.

Indications that leaders of the tobacco industry were working on the constructive side of the market, were seen in the activity and strength of the tobacco shares. Schulte Retail Stores touched 106 and then dropped back to 104 1-8, up 3 5-8, and Tobacco Products closed about a point higher.

Establishment of a new 1924 high at 48 3-4 by Pere Marquette in the face of official denials that any change in dividend was contemplated, revived rumors, previously denied, that Henry Ford was seeking control of the property.

Atlantic Coast Line closed 2 points higher at 119 and Texas and Pacific moved up 1 1-4.

Call money ruled unchanged at 3 1-2 per cent. Time money rates seemed to be on the downgrade, many borrowers being unwilling to pay more than 4 per cent for thirty and sixty-day loans, with lenders holding out for 4 1-4. The longer dates were quoted at 4 1-4 per cent bid and 4 1-2 per cent asked. Prime commercial paper continued easy at 4 1-2 per cent.

Foreign exchange rates showed little change on quiet trading. Demand sterling eased slightly to around 4.38 1-4, and French francs were quoted around 6.45 cents. Belgian francs broke about 7 1-2 points to 5.27 1-2 cents.

Total stock sales, 631,800 shares.

REFINERS ANNOUNCE CUT IN SUGAR PRICE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 5.—The price of refined sugar at the refineries was reduced 40 cents a hundred pounds today, it was announced by the refining companies. The new cane base is $8 and the beet base is $7.80.

BY ROBERT J. PRITCHARD

The Union Oil Company has abandoned its attempt to get a water shut-off in the Rosecrans No. 1 in the Rosecrans field at its present depth, and is preparing to resume drilling, coring ahead in the hope of finding a better place to land casing.

The ninth water test was made yesterday, and for the ninth time the well swabbed wet, according to official reports. The present depth of the well is 3941 feet, having been deepened from 3920 feet, after four cement jobs had proved unsuccessful.

The Athens No. 1 yesterday was bailing for a casing test, officials report, and expects to complete drilling out the plug some time today, if the casing test is approved. The casing was landed at 4938 feet, the well cemented at 4948 feet, and the bottom of the hole is at 4971 feet. The water test in the Athens No. 1 will be made by bailing instead of swabbing, it is said. In the Rosecrans well the gas pressure forced the use of the swab, which is considered a less careful procedure.

Two New Wells

The Torrance field saw two new wells brought in over the week-end, according to field reports, the combined production totaling about 500 barrels.

The Standard Oil Company's Interstate No. 6 was brought in on the pump, with an initial production of 250 barrels per day. The well is 3870 feet deep.

The Shell Company completed its Bettler No. 7, which came in flowing by heads. Production was estimated at about 250 barrels, from a depth of 3880 feet.

S. W. Tubing Parts

Tubing in the Southwest Petroleum Corporation's No. 1 well in the Midway field parted last Saturday night, and yesterday, the crew was reported to have extracted all but 1000 feet, and to have hold of that with good prospect of extracting it by morning. The accident occurred as the crew was pulling tubing, preparatory to circulating with oil, to clean out about 300 feet of sand which has retarded production of the well, according to officials. A delay of several days will result, it is said.

Near Shallow Sand

The Petroleum Midway Company's four drilling projects in the Rideout Heights area of the Whittier field are all nearing the shallow sands, according to officials of the company. The wells are being drilled on the property of the Whitley Oil and Refining Company, under a drilling agreement. The depths of the four wells are as follows: Pellissier, 2580 feet; Rideout Hamburg, 2561 feet; Seward Rideout, 2209 feet; Witte-Vining, 2281 feet.

C.C.M.O. Has Fire

The Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company's Kettler No. 8 in the Torrance field was burned yesterday morning, with a total loss estimated at $10,000 to $15,000, according to reports from the field. The blaze began late Sunday night, while the crew was swabbing for production, and is believed to have been caused by a spark from the friction of the swab, igniting the gas in the well. The rig and about 3000 feet of tubing was destroyed.

The Kettler No. 8 is the fourth rig to be destroyed by fire in the history of the Torrance field. All four of the wells were located on the old Redondo Road within a mile of each other, and all were set on fire by the same cause, as the crews were preparing to place them on production. Besides the Kettler, these wells were the Superior Oil Company's Torrance No. 4, the Consolidated Mutual Oil Company's Torrance No. 2 and Selby & Root's No. 2.

Globe Has Fire

Favorable weather was all that prevented the Globe Petroleum Corporation from serious loss in a fire which destroyed the power house at its Kern River property, last Saturday, according to reports by officials of the company. The Globe has about fifteen wells on production on this property, called the Ojai lease, all pumped from a single power station. Defective wiring is believed to have caused the blaze which damaged the plant to the extent of about $3000. There was no wind at the time, and none of the wells caught, it is said.

Down 3180 Feet

While the Union Oil Company is engaged in cementing off its Rosecrans and Potter wells in rapid succession, and the Superior Oil Company is fishing for lost equipment in the Sandburg well, the U. S. Royalties Company is drilling steadily ahead in its No. 1 well in the Rosecrans area, and is past 3180 feet deep, according to official reports. This well is located between the Sandburg and Rosecrans well, and is expected to pick up showings within the next 1000 feet. If the U. S. Royalties continues to have good luck, and the Union and Superior companies make no faster progress than they have during the past few weeks, there may be four wells in the field all with an oil sand, and none on production, with a chance that the U. S. Royalties may yet beat its earlier competitors to the first producer.

Resume Operations

The Top Notch Syndicate resumed operations Saturday in its test well in the southeastern area of the Santa Fe Springs field, after a suspension of some months. E. H. Charlton has withdrawn from the management of the syndicate, and Pasadena interests now control it, with Mayor Bartlett of Berkeley and A. La Font of Salt Lake City retaining their interests.

H. R. Klauser, drilling contractor, who drilled the hole to 4853 feet, will carry the work to completion. The hole is in excellent condition. After being cemented the hole will be drilled, if conditions warrant, to 5500 feet, beyond which depth Mr. Klauser thinks it would be useless to go.

The present depth was reached in fifty-four days of actual drilling, the only trouble resulting from defective tool-points and disc bits, the labor cost is reported to have been only $20,000, the entire operation having cost probably as little as any hole ever drilled to such a depth in that district.

Protection

The old common law provided that public service corporations, such as railroad, electric, gas and telephone companies had a right to charge rates that would yield only a reasonable return on the invested capital. In California the law goes a step farther. Through a State Commission it not only regulates rates for service, but also regulates the issuance of stocks and bonds by such companies.

Objections to Butler to Go to University

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 5.—Characterizing Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler's speech before the Missouri Society as "beneath the dignity of the president of a great university," the Methodist Ministerial Association today resolved to make formal protest to the board of trustees of Columbia University.

The resolution of protest, unanimously favored by 150 ministers attending the association's meeting, described Dr. Butler's attitude as "not the right kind of patriotic example to set before thousands of young men and women training for citizenship at Columbia University."

Dr. Butler's statements that it was impossible to enforce the prohibition laws were declared to be "radical, superficial and unfounded."

INCREASE IN MAUSOLEUM BURIALS

Growing Recognition of This Better and More Dignified Sepulture

A growing sense of responsibility to the dead, as well as to the living, is indicated among Los Angelans, say officials of the California Mausoleum Co., by the increasing interest of the more intelligent in crypt interment at their two beautiful and impressive buildings, located in Hollywood and Inglewood Cemeteries.

The hallowed seclusion in which their deceased loved ones may rest in perpetuity, the dignity and beauty of the buildings with their clean atmosphere—but sweet, clean and wholesome freshness—appeal to those who respect their dead and would evidence that respect enduringly.

A single visit to one of these "Chaste Temples," built of granite, reinforced concrete, marble and bronze, is enough to convince any thoughtful person that here at last the ideal method of sepulture of the beloved dead has been practically and economically worked out. It is Nature's way—as burial in the ground never was and never will be.

Company representatives, with cars, are always available to those who care to visit the Mausoleums. The trip may be arranged by telephoning MAin 1534, or calling at 206 Harris Bldg., 110 West 11th St.

Reception Plans Halted by Wire From Robinson

Plans for the reception and entertainment of Henry M. Robinson of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, who is returning to this city after having served as a member of the German Reparations Committee in Europe, have been abandoned at the request of the banker in a wire to William Lacey, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Edward Lyman, general manager of the Los Angeles Transfer Company, who was to have headed the reception committee, stated that plans had been made by civic and business organizations to welcome Mr. Robinson at a dinner to have been held at the Biltmore Hotel.

The banker's wire stated that under an agreement with his fellow-workers he would not be in a position to discuss the work of the reparations committee. Mr. Robinson is expected to visit in Ohio a few days before returning to his home.

POLICE BELIEVE YEGG PERISHED

Unable to Pick Up Trail of Wounded Bandit

Pal in Carleton Theater Job Slain in Gun Fight

Third Member Captured Tells of Another Robbery

Failure of police yesterday to uncover the trail of Jimmy Foley, seriously wounded in a gun battle with University police early Monday morning, following an attempt to blow the safe in the Carleton Theater, 5411 South Western avenue, leads to the belief that the bandit died of his wounds shortly after he made good his escape. Obviously hard hit in the fusillade of bullets from automatics and sawed-off shotguns in the hands of police, Foley dragged himself to a car parked near the theater and fled. A trail of blood leading to the car supports the theory that he was badly wounded.

Leroy Sprague, alias J. C. Hamilton, a second bandit, was so badly wounded that he died within a short time, and J. L. Hogan, the third member of the gang, was captured.

In a statement to Detective Lieutenant Evans yesterday Hogan, who is believed to have no previous police record, admitted that, with Foley and Sprague, he carried away the safe at the Piggly Wiggly branch, 4801 South Vermont avenue, Friday night, the loot amounting to $305.

WATCHMAN IMPRISONED

Behind the detection of the gang in the act of blowing the Carleton Theater safe and the subsequent gun battle is a story which reads like a chapter from "Nick Carter" and in which V. F. Sampson of the Southwest Patrol Service plays the principal part. For an hour and a half, beginning at midnight, Sampson was held an unsuspected prisoner on the roof of the theater by the bandit trio as they went about their work in the ticket office below. Sampson, fearful of revealing his presence, and chancing the possible escape of the bandits, finally dropped from the roof of the theater to a bridge connecting with another building, gained the ground unseen and wormed his way to a telephone across the street.

According to this story, Sampson discovered Hogan acting as lookout at approximately midnight. Believing Hogan to be a stick-up man Sampson gained the roof of the theater to watch him. For an hour the patrolman had the lookout below under surveillance when the two other bandits joined him.

"Is everything all right," one of the newcomers asked Hogan.

"All clear," Hogan replied.

DOOR IS JIMMIED

Foley and Sprague then jimmied the door to the ticket booth and went to work on the safe, their pounding clearly audible to the patrolman on the roof. After a half hour, Sampson managed to escaped unseen when Hogan was at the other end of a "beat" he was making around the theater.

Shortly after the arrival of Officers, Deardorff, Neely, Kohne and Pound from University precinct, Foley and Sprague, having set their charge in the safe, came out of the ticket booth. In the meantime Officer Deardorff had captured Hogan, disarmed and placed the handcuffs on him without arousing the suspicions of the two men in the ticket booth. Hogan was compelled to continue his "beat" under threat of fire.

GUN BATTLE ENSUES

Sampson ordered Foley and Sprague to throw up their hands as they emerged from the ticket booth and when they failed to comply began shooting. Sprague was wounded, probably twice, before he got out of the lobby of the theater, and he fell in the alley at the side. Foley's wounds were received when he encountered Officer Pound, armed with a sawed-off shotgun at the mouth of the alley. Three charges of buckshot are believed to have found their marks in Foley.

Two sets of fingerprints, one of them Sprague's and others believed to be Foley's, were obtained. Foley is known to the police as a safe blower and has a long criminal record.

Sampson with the University precinct officers yesterday received the commendation of Chief Vollmer for their conduct in the affair, which resulted in the breaking up of the second of the three gangs of safe blowers working in Los Angeles this spring.

STEPS OFF CURB TO MEET DEATH

Miss Diana Parkes Killed by Automobile

Driver of Car is Arrested; Inquiry Started

Five Youths Sought After Woman is Struck

An aged woman was killed and several others were injured in a series of automobile accidents yesterday. The dead woman was Miss Diana Parkes, 444 Parkview avenue, who was struck by a motor car at Sixth and Grandview as she stepped from the curb. The car was driven by Ray Melville, 1144 West First street.

Melville placed the injured woman in his car and drove to the Good Samaritan Hospital, where she died in a few minutes without recovering consciousness. Melville was arrested and is charged with suspicion of manslaughter, pending an investigation.

Identification of Miss Parkes was made several hours after the tragedy when Mr. and Mrs. E. C. King, with whom she lived, became alarmed at her absence and reported it to the police, later calling at Pierce Brothers undertaking establishment, where the body was taken.

MRS. CLARK HURT

Mrs. Adaline Clark, 20, was struck at San Pedro and Fourteeth streets by a car driven by E. B. Lind of One Hundred and Fifth street and Towne avenue. She was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where it was said she had a possible basal fracture of the skull and concussion of the brain.

The car for which the police are searching is a bright red touring car. It contained five youths which hurtled down on Mrs. Arvilla Kelly, 69, throwing her fifteen feet, and then left the scene at maximum speed.

The accident occurred in a school-stop zone near Sunset and Glendale boulevards. Mrs. Kelly had just stepped into the zone when the touring car came racing down the street. The car skidded on the wet pavement and the fender struck the woman.

Witnesses stated that the machine was traveling in excess of forty miles an hour when it came into the school zone.

Mrs. Kelly was removed to Receiving Hospital. Physicians stated she was not injured seriously.

Sam Houston, 60, was injured seriously yesterday in a traffic accident at the intersection of Burlington avenue and Washington and was the unwitting cause of another accident in which his son-in-law, W. B. Kellog, the latter's wife and their one-month-old baby were slightly hurt.

STRUCK BY TRUCK

Houston was struck down by a truck driven by Kenneth Drury of 451 West Eighty-third street. Examination at the Receiving Hospital revealed that he was suffering from a fractured skull. His son-in-law and daughter, with whom he lives at 1854 Mansfield avenue, were notified and hurried

STREET WORK SPEED ASKED

City Council Refers Traffic Congestion and Plans for Improvement to Committees

A satisfactory relief of the city's traffic congestion and the expediting of the work of the City Engineer's office and street improvement programs loomed as a forthcoming reality yesterday when the City Council adopted a resolution referring the problem to the finance and public works committees and requesting them to draft a comprehensive program for hastening the street improvements at the earliest possible date.

The campaign to speed up on the various street improvements was begun several days ago at a discussion of the city's most vital needs, attended by officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California, Chamber of Commerce, Los Angeles Traffic Commission, Greater Los Angeles Association and various city officials. At that time, in the speeches of Mayor Cryer, members of the City Council, City Engineer Griffin and others, it was emphasized that first aid for the City Engineer's office was an urgent need and a means of adjusting the city's economics as well as accomplishing traffic relief and property improvement.

The resolution, offered by President Boyle Workman and adopted by the City Council, laid emphasis upon the following points:

Los Angeles has enjoyed an unprecedented growth during the last ten years. The population has doubled in that time and miles of subdivisions have been laid to accommodate the growth, causing an avalanche of requests and orders for street improvements of such magnitude that the present forces of the City Engineer's office cannot cope with the situation.

Five hundred requests for street improvements are pending. The majority of them date back two years, and at the rate the orders are being prepared two years will be consumed before the work can be completed and the necessary legislation adopted—"a condition that has occasioned great hardship and has met with a general disapproval of the citizens at large, and not consistent with the development and welfare of the city."

EXPENSE CITED

The City Council has been diligently considering ways and means of bringing the improvement work up to date, but any plan that may be adopted, looking toward the solution of the problem, involves an increase in the forces of the City Engineer and the expenditure of large sums of money.

"Therefore," the resolution as adopted, concludes, "be it resolved,

"That it is the sense of this Council that immediate action be taken looking toward the expediting of the work of the City Engineer's office and the accomplishing of this program, which includes the cleaning up of the large accumulation of street improvement work extending back over a period of approximately two years and, with this idea in mind, this subject matter is referred to the Committee on Public Works and the Committee on Finance with the request that said committees immediately take this matter into consideration in order that a comprehensive program may be worked out and the necessary money appropriated to accomplish the same at the earliest possible date."

PRINCE OF 'WAILS' ARRIVES

Charles H. Lewis, Jr., Outgrows His Made-to-Order Car in Trip Here From Vienna

Yesterday, after his arrival in Glendale, the "Prince of Wails" demanded an expansion of his kingdom with two kicks and a couple of gurgles, as he lay in the three-foot suit case in which his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lewis brought him from Vienna.

A month ago when the couple started on the homeward trip and invented the novel method of carrying their bundle of baby, the suit case was plenty large enough for his activities.

However, a baby can grow a good deal in a month, and yesterday when interviewed at the Glendale home of his grandparents, at 1101 East Orange Grove avenue, the "Prince" was able to swing his feet several inches over the foot of his portable Pullman without any effort. As yet, he stated with a toothless smile, he has not tried to imitate his noted namesake to the extent of a fall or two. But in the California sunshine he feels sure that nothing will prove too strenuous for him.

Charles Herman, Jr., as the baby is properly named, was born four months ago in Vienna, where Dr. Lewis had gone to take a post-graduate course in medicine. A month ago when Dr. Lewis and his wife planned to return, the father conceived the idea of carrying the baby back to California in a suit case.

It was made to order of wicker and on one side there was a large slatted opening where the baby could absorb the air of the different countries as they passed through. The "Prince" stated yesterday that his view of the Statue of Liberty was excellent although the bars somewhat interfered.

The trip was a case of all parties satisfied, for the suit case was light and convenient for the parents and quite comfortable for the baby.

The problem of introducing him to another mode of locomotion is worrying the parents considerably at present. Dr. Lewis is a physician at the White Memorial Hospital, and with his family will settle in Los Angeles near the hospital in the next month or so.

CITY TO GET WAREHOUSE STRUCTURES

Two Terminals Will be Started This Month for Trucking Concerns

Construction of two large warehouse and distribution terminals to cost approximately $600,000 each is scheduled to be started this month by the Western Improvement Company.

Announcement of this work was made yesterday following the completion of negotiations whereby the terminal buildings will be leased for ten years to the California Truck Company, 322 East Third street, and the Star Truck and Transfer Company, 432 East Third street. The rental in each case for the ten-year period will total in the neighborhood of $750,000.

The building to be occupied by the California Truck Company, according to A. Meyers, general manager, will be located at East Sixth and Mill streets. The other building, leased to the Star Truck and Transfer Company, will be erected on Mateo street, near Industrial. The California Truck Company warehouse will be six stories and basement, 110 by 375 feet, with floor space of approximately 40,000 square feet. The other building will be six stories and basement with slightly less floor area. Both structures will be of concrete.

NEWTON LOSES SOME THEORIES

Teacher Recants Most of Socialistic Article

Tells School Board it Was Meant Anonymously

Serious Charges Are Taken Under Advisement

Prof. Willis T. Newton, teacher of economics at Manual Arts High School, last night recanted at a meeting of the Board of Education some of the "pink pacifist" theories as expounded in his article published in the April 28 issue of the Los Angeles School Journal.

After a two-hour session, upon the motion of President Odell, the matter was taken under submission by the board as a committee of the whole, to be acted upon later.

Mr. Newton said that the article, which was interpreted by the board as calling upon teachers to instruct their pupils concerning the "unsoundness and injustice of our present social system," was written at first anonymously, to be submitted to the superintendent's office.

"I meant what I wrote," said Mr. Newton, when called upon by President Odell and Member Robert L. Burns for an explanation, "and hoped that nothing would be read between the lines. I believe the present social system is not all wrong and can be remedied by the present machinery."

He definitely stated that he did not believe in one phase "never to lift hand or voice in defense of another war," which he used, saying that he did not know what he would do in such a case.

The title, "If This be Treason—" he admitted was unduly provocative, and said that it was "a very foolish lack of foresight."

He stated to Mr. Burns that he was familiar with the State law directing teachers to stick to the curriculum as laid down, but said that he considered the law "unreasonable."

His personal views upon controversial subjects, he said, he never taught to his pupils, and did not intend that his theories, as contained in the article, should reach school children.

Mr. Newton was quoted in the Record yesterday as having said that he stands by the article as written and that it is the duty of a teacher to instruct his pupils in both sides of a pertinent question.

ADAGE USED AS PRISONER SENTENCED

Quotes Maxim for Man Who Crashed Through Stone Wall in Car

Spectators in the court of Police Judge Richardson were surprised to hear the judge reciting an old adage yesterday as a prisoner faced him.

"Stone walls do not a prison make nor iron bars a cage," quoted the judge as he gazed at W. S. Shaffer, "but this is the first time I ever heard that stone walls and houses do not constitute a barrier against motor cars. I sentence you to ninety days in jail."

Shaffer's car, it was brought out, had crashed into the wall surrounding the home of Ada Burgess at Eleventh and Hoover streets, knocking down a portion of it and partly demolishing the Burgess's home. Detectives Brown and Ellis arrested Shaffer, charging him with destruction of property. The jail sentence was suspended.

Shaffer received minor injuries in the accident and was treated at the Receiving Hospital and later taken to the City Jail.

BANDIT ELUDES FOUR DEPUTIES

Prisoner Still Missing at Latest Accounts

Officers Certain Key Used to Open Handcuffs

A little performance—the sort that Houdini prides himself on—was given yesterday by Ramon Gonzales, convicted bandit, for the benefit of a bailiff, four deputy sheriffs and fifteen other prisoners.

The performance was presented by the prisoner while on the way from the county jail to Judge Crail's department of the Superior Court to hear his sentence. It ended in the bandit's sudden disappearance and at a late hour yesterday he was still listed among the missing. Just how Gonzalez accomplished his Houdini-like stunt of freeing himself from the handcuffs which shackled him to another prisoner, Dan Ryan, has not been fully determined by the four deputies and the bailiff. They believe, however, that he must have obtained a key to unlock the handcuffs.

The bandit's disappearance was noticed when the fifteen prisoners were led into the courtroom. Search for Gonzales was started at once. Gonzales was convicted last week of attempting to rob T. Tchanz, a grocer of San Gabriel. Enrique Guzman, another of the group of prisoners, had been convicted of the same crime, and was sentenced to San Quentin for from one year to life by Judge Crail.

Ryan, who aided in Gonzales's private performance by concealing the handcuffs from which the bandit had liberated himself, was sentenced to San Quentin for from five years to life for the robbery of an oil station on Ventura Boulevard near Lankershim on February 13 last.

Guerin made the order and was assisted during the hearing by Drs. Paul Bowers and T. J. Orbison.

Mrs. Petty has been in the psychopathic ward of the General Hospital since she was taken into custody at Santa Monica two weeks ago.

LONG TERM FOR DOWDY IN ROBBERY

Bandit Pleads Guilty to Holding Up Cashier of Sun Drug Company

Though he fought extradition when arrested in Florida Elmer Dowdy pleaded guilty yesterday to a robbery charge before Judge Hardy in Superior Court and was sentenced to from one year to life in San Quentin.

Dowdy and Grenville Blair, the latter formerly an Army officer, robbed Dave Antinck, cashier of the Sun Drug Company, in a street hold-up last year. Antinck fired after the car of the robbers and wounded Blair severely. The wound led to the arrest of Blair and the identification of Dowdy as his companion. Dowdy was finally arrested, but jumped $10,000 bail and was not found until recently. Blair is in prison.

A charge of assault with a deadly weapon upon Antinck made against Dowdy was dismissed by Judge Hardy in consideration of his plea. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Fitts and Clark appeared for the prosecution.

OFFICERS TELL OF THIRST; SHOWN STILL

POLICE ARREST MEXICAN ON CHARGE OF HAVING MANY CASKS OF LIQUOR

Armed with a search warrant, Officers Schrage, Leslie and Linear of the police vice squad, last night visited the residence of Carnation Yachao, 6524 Holmes avenue. The officers, according to their statement to Carnation, were thirsty. Did Carnation have a bit of liquor that he would sell?

"Plenty good liquor, senors," Carnation is quoted as saying. At the same time the proud son of old Spain pointed to a score or more of barrels containing whisky mash, casks containing more than 100 gallons of whisky and a 100-gallon still.

The officers were so convinced that they promptly arrested Carnation and destroyed the still and the mash. Carnation is being held charged with violation of the Wright Act on three counts.

Carnation, the officers aver, wept as they took him to jail.

For a time fears were expressed that De Roche might not survive but the crisis in his condition is now reported past.

No Happier Day for Stowaway, German Artist

Said to have been prominent once, with his paintings on exhibit in Europe's best galleries, Paul Reinhard Nier, a German stowaway, was taken off the Danish motorship Panama at Los Angeles Harbor yesterday, and will be returned from whence he came.

The man was dejected as he learned his fate at the Immigration Station. For to go back to Germany meant to him to go back to poverty with which he and his little family had wrestled long and unsuccessfully. That was why, he said, he had taken the chance and climbed aboard a vessel one night before it sailed away.

Nier reached one of the Virgin Islands safely and after a wait of two weeks slipped aboard the Panama enroute here. He knew if he could get to his uncle's in Elgin, Okla., he could start life over again. He had prospered once, until he had gone to war, and knew he could again, he said. Immigration officers, however, say the German quota is filled until July and that the man was not properly entered.

'Angel of Jail' Sued by Backer in Screen Play

Angela C. Kaufman, known as the "angel of the County Jail," was named defendant in a suit on file yesterday in the Superior Court in which A. Ginsberg, said to be one of her financial backers in a motion-picture venture, asked judgment of $500 and an accounting of proceeds from the film play, "The Great Menace."

In his complaint, Ginsberg stated he had entered an agreement with Mrs. Kaufman, January 30, 1923, under terms of which he gave her $500 toward defraying the production costs of the picture, in return for which he was to receive 2 per cent of the gross receipts from the sale or exhibition of the photoplay.

Several valuable instruments were taken in the burglary.

MAN SHOT IN BRAWL MAY NOT SURVIVE

Deputy Sheriffs Charge Quarantine Guard With Wounding Victim

One man is said to be dying in the hospital and two others are being held by deputy sheriffs following what the officers term a drunken brawl, involving foot-and-mouth quarantine guards at Home Gardens last night.

The wounded man is Herbert Nolan. He was shot in the abdomen and was taken to Huntington Park Hospital. County officers are holding Frank Garey, 740 Crocker street, who is said to have done the shooting. According to Deputy Sheriff Stensland, who attempted to question Garey and J. Henry Burke, Garey will be charged with murder if Nolan dies from the effects of the wound, the officers said.

Garey and Burke, the latter held as a material witness, were taken to the Sheriff's office. Deputy Stensland declared he was unable to obtain a coherent statement from the men. Both were volunteer guards.

Deputies Sweezy and Allen were sent to the hospital to obtain a statement from Nolan, who was reported to be dying. The quarantine guards were working under the direction of Deputy Coyle.

Dr. Brook, Noted Health Writer, Funeral Today

Funeral services for Dr. Harry Ellington Brook will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Little Church of the Flowers at Forest Lawn Cemetery. In accordance with the wishes of Dr. Brook, the services will be private.

Dr. Brook was a well-known naturopath and writer on health subjects. For thirty-eight years he was a member of The Times editorial staff, conducting a column, "Care of the Body." He suffered a nervous breakdown from overwork several months ago. He was confined to his bed during the last three weeks of his life, passing away last Saturday night at the family residence, 2139 Elsinore.

More than $1000 in jewelry and clothing was obtained Sunday night and early Monday morning by burglars operating in Hollywood, it was learned yesterday from reports on file at Hollywood police station. Husband Would Serve Sentence in Wife's Place

After admitting that he had deserted her and was indirectly responsible for the passing of worthless checks by his wife, Genevieve M. Eyke, W. H. Eyke expressed a willingness yesterday in Judge Reeve's court to serve the sentence of from one to fourteen years imposed on her. Sentence was passed yesterday by Judge Reeve after Mrs. Eyke had entered a plea of guilty on three counts charging worthless check manipulation.

Eyke was called to the stand after the wife had declared his desertion had placed her in desperate circumstances. He admitted deserting her and declared that he had beaten her on occasions.

"Would you be willing to serve this sentence," demanded Judge Reeve, "in the event that arrangements could be made?"

"I would," Eyke replied.

A petition for probation was denied Mrs. Eyke before she was sentenced.

MORE CLASSES FOR EXTENSION COURSES

Because of demand for night classes at the extension division of the University of California, additional classes will be organized this month in commercial correspondence, commercial law, photography, journalism, radio telephony, public speaking, short-story writing, use and care of the gasoline automobile, cost accounting, oil engineering and real estate law. There has been an unprecedented demand for this instruction, it was said, and the enrollments since July 1, last, have numbered more than 10,000. Some classes have been so large it has been necessary to divide them into sections. The office of the extension division is at 815 South Hill street and classes are open to all.

VOLUNTARILY COMES BACK; PLEADS GUILTY

David D. Draper, who came here from Alabama of his own volition to face a charge of receiving stolen property, pleaded guilty to this charge before Justice Ambrose yesterday and was held for trial in Superior Court, where he stated he would also plead guilty. He was released on his own recognizance pending his trial. It is charged that Draper received rifles stolen from the Winchester-Simmons Arms Company.

If the disease once starts in Arizona it is hard to say when it would be possible to check it, and so long as it prevails in any place, that spot is a source of infection."

AUTO PARTIES STALLED

YUMA (Ariz.) May 5.—Thirty automobiles carrying approximately 100 eastbound travelers are stalled on the Yuma Indian Reservation west of here across the Colorado River hoping for relaxation of the Arizona foot-and-mouth quarantine regulations.

KILLING STATIONS TO SPEED SHIPMENTS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, May 5.—In order to facilitate shipments of spring lambs from California points to eastern markets, officials of the State Department of Agriculture announced today that slaughtering stations now are in operation in four different places Sacramento, South San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego. The slaughtering is being done under Federal and State inspection and the work was said to be progressing smoothly and practically without interruption.

Lifting by the Federal government and Gov. Richardson of the quarantine on a number of Central California counties and the placing of certain previously closed counties under modified quarantine because of the improved situation, lifted the ban on fishing in all but the counties which yet remain on the closed quarantine list, it was announced today by Dr. U. G. Houck, Federal director of the eradication work.

No fishing whatever will be permitted in closed counties. Dr. Houck stated after a conference with G. H. Hecke, director of the State Department of Agriculture. Dr. Houck and Director Hecke also announced that they now "consider it possible for unquarantined counties also to remove their fishing bans." This referred to the ordinances passed by a number of counties.

Cases of foot-and-mouth disease infection reported to the State Department of Agriculture during the week-end were: Saturday, four cases in Merced county and one in Contra Costa county. Sunday one case was reported in Contra Costa county. All are in infected areas.

SAN DIEGO RULES MADE LESS DRASTIC

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, May 5.—The Board of Supervisors today modified the regulations affecting traffic in and out of San Diego county, by removing the tax of $1 per automobile and eliminating sawdust and fluid troughs through which all visitors were required to pass. Confidence that the foot-and-mouth disease elsewhere is under control and that there is little chance that the disease will get into San Diego county, prompted the board to lighten the rather drastic quarantine measures adopted two weeks ago.

Henceforth, or until further notice, automobiles coming into San Diego county over the coast and inland highways from the north will be required to undergo only the formality of running through the regulation dipping vats.

PORTLAND GIRL FACES TRIAL IN CHECK CASE

PARENTS REFUSE TO GIVE BAIL, FEARING PLAN TO RUN AWAY

Betty Thompson, 19 years of age, asserted to be the daughter of a wealthy Portland family, charged with passing worthless checks, was held for trial tomorrow in Judge Crail's court by Judge Reeve yesterday. Judge Reeve further ordered that complaints against the girl be consolidated to facilitate disposal of the case.

Miss Thompson was represented in court by Attorney Charles McLaren of Portland, sent here by her parents to assist in her defense. No effort to obtain the release of the girl on bond pending trial will be made by the parents, who fear that she will run away again.

The floor that is painted with Carmote Enamel is ready for hard wear and for soap and water when needed.

Old floors that get hard wear—back stairs, kitchens, bathrooms and nurseries—need a tough finish as well as a good-looking one. Carmote Enamel will give you the color you want—there are eight for your choice.

It will give you the wear you need, for it flows evenly from the brush, filling every pore and crack; and then dries deeply and thoroughly, giving you a thick, smooth finish, good to look at and good to wear.

WEEK OF MUSIC PROGRAM GIVEN

Club Uses Works of American Artists

Speeches, Recitals, Songs at KHJ Opening

Jazz and Mirth Feature During Noon Hour

BY MELLONINO

This artistic appreciation of the significance of Music Week and its influence on American thought, the Gamut Club of Los Angeles ushered in the important occasion with a musicale utilizing the works of American composers.

The program was opened with an address by Ben F. Pearson, who spoke of national consciousness through music. He was followed by a trio composed of harp, violin and 'cello, which gave two movements from Arthur Farwell's suite, "The Gods of the Mountain." This was an appropriate setting for Mme. Anna Ruzena [illegible], contralto, who, accompanied by Evelyn Paddock Smith, sang the "Three Songs to Odysseus" by Charles Wakefield Cadman.

A. J. Gantvoort told of the development of music in America. The address was illustrated later by Winifred Hook, who played Henry Cowell's piano suite in three parts, "The Tides of Manaunaun," "Episode" and "Exaltation."

OWN COMPOSITIONS

Frederick N. Hutman, tenor, accompanied by Gertrude Ross, sang two of her compositions, "Cargoes" and "Work." And by special request added "My Golden California," a melody by Grace Adele Freebey. "A Few American Poets" was the subject of an address delivered after these solos by Dr. J. J. Carter.

An exquisite strain of music then came from the harp of Alfred Kastner, who played his own composition, "Concert Study," and then joined Mary Hogan in a harp duet entitled "Remembrances of Worcester," by E. Schnecker.

What could be more stimulating to a singer than to have a cycle of songs dedicated to her and to be accompanied by the composer? Therefore Constance Balfour, contralto, gave her best to the interpretation of the "Four Winds," which were dedicated to her by Grace Adele Freebey, who assisted at the piano.

A male quartet composed of Jay [illegible], Mrs. Helen M. Little, Harry [illegible] and Sidney T. Exley, added pleasing variety to the musical program. The lingering strains made a restful background for the [illegible] solos of Carl Cantvoort, who next appeared, accompanied by William Tyroler.

WOMAN'S CLUB CHORUS

The Hollywood Woman's Club chorus, under the direction of Hugo Kirchhofer and accompanied by [illegible] Jacobson, contributed several numbers with excellent blending of voices. It proved a befitting conclusion to a noteworthy program, which was broadcast by KHJ from the Gamut Club by line telephone.

The KHJ studio during the noon hour became a temple of jazz and mirth. Uncle Remus (E. M. Bonner, of Barnes Music Company,) carried on a running patter with M. [illegible] Taylor in the quaint dialect of the care-free negro, and the result was a continuous roar of laughter from the studio audience. Uncle Remus obliged with selections on the harmonica and autoharp, but found it impossible to keep up with the demand which followed over the telephone.

Carl Allen and his Rendezvous Ballroom Orchestra from Crystal Pier, Santa Monica, furnished the music. Its rhythm was irresistible and those who trip the light fantastic found it too brief. Carl Allen was compelled to repeat his famous violin solo, "Valse [illegible]." Jazz was in the ascendancy yesterday noon at KHJ.

CUSHION THIEVES JAILED

Irving Rosenberg and Otto Groebli were each sentenced to 180 days in the City Jail by Police Judge Richardson yesterday for stealing an automobile cushion from a car belonging to C. V. Guerin.

MURDERER SUSPECT IS ARRAIGNED

Hearing of Oscar Perry, Asserted Bank Bandit Chief, Set for Thursday

Oscar Perry, asserted leader of the band of highwaymen who shot and killed Patrolman Glen E. Bond during an attempted hold-up of the Merchants' National Bank agency at Seventh and Hoover streets, was arraigned yesterday before Judge Keetch on a supplementary indictment charging him with murder and first-degree robbery. Date for hearing his plea was set for the 8th inst.

Perry previously had been indicted with his brother, Louis, and Tom Bailey and Ed Montijo for the murder of Bond, but in view of the new developments in the case this indictment was dismissed in so far as it concerned Oscar Perry. The supplemental true bill accused Perry specifically of Bond's murder and with the robbery February 15, last, of Harry F. Osgood of the Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings Bank. Perry is asserted to have obtained $5000 in the hold-up.

Trial of Louis Perry, Montijo and Bailey was continued to the 7th inst. by Judge Keetch in order to give the juvenile authorities time to determine the age of Louis Perry, who professes to be under 18, and is seeking disposition of his case in the Juvenile Court. The case was transferred to Judge Archbald's department yesterday for a hearing on the age matter but with the understanding that it would be returned to Judge Keetch's department for further consideration. Judge Keetch also denied a motion for separate trial of the men.

GUARDIAN APPOINTED IN HEART BALM SUIT

COURT TO DECIDE MENTAL STATE OF A. P. SPENCER IN $151,000 ACTION

Relatives of Amos P. Spencer, 76-year-old defendant in a $151,000 breach of promise suit brought by Mrs. Clara Bell Lessig, yesterday obtained the appointment of Will T. Shepherd as guardian of his estate, after a hearing before Judge Willis. They declared him incompetent to administer his own affairs, citing the pre-nuptial agreement with Mrs. Lessig, whereby he is said to have contracted to make a will placing virtually his entire estate in trust for her.

The question of the mental condition of Spencer is pending before Judge Shaw, who will hear preliminary matters in connection with the affair Friday. Spencer was taken from Mrs. Lessig's home April 25, last, an hour before the time set for their wedding, on a lunacy warrant obtained by relatives, and at a hearing before Judge Shaw April 28 was declared mentally sick and released in custody of the psychopathic probation officer.

TRIAL OF ASSERTED GIRL BANDIT PUT OFF

Because the court was engaged with another case, the trial of Pearl Redmond, called the "flapper bandit," yesterday was continued by Judge Hahn until the 8th inst. The girl is charged with the robbery of C. R. Morgan. Leroy C. Maxwell, arrested with her in Justice Russill's courtroom as they listened to the hearing of Homer Redmond, the girl's husband, on a charge of burglary, pleaded guilty Saturday and was present to yesterday testify against the girl.

BRANNON IS GIVEN LIFE IN SLAYING

Defendant is Sentenced to San Quentin for Death of Wife's Sister

Barney Brannon, found guilty recently by a jury of the murder of his sister-in-law, Margaret Cronin, yesterday was sentenced by Judge Hardy to life imprisonment in San Quentin. Brannon's attorney, S. S. Hahn, served notice of appeal.

The shooting took place at Mrs. Cronin's home at 1129 South Grand View avenue when Brannon, separated from his wife, called on her there and attempted a reconciliation which developed into a quarrel. According to the theory advanced by police, Brannon shot at his wife, but hit and killed her sister when she stepped between the couple.

Brannon was first tried on a charge of assaulting his wife with intent to murder her, but was acquitted. He then faced the murder trial. No eyewitnesses were called, his wife, the only person present, not being allowed to testify under the rule that a wife's knowledge might be unfairly used against her husband.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Jordan prosecuted the case.

FLAG DRIVE TO START

Hollywood School Children to Aid "One in Each Home" Plan

Approximately 15,000 Hollywood school children will take part in the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce campaign to put an American flag in every Hollywood home, it was announced yesterday. The campaign is to start Wednesday when a fleet of government planes will maneuver over Hollywood as a signal that the drive has been opened.

The campaign will last from Wednesday until Memorial Day, the 30th inst., when it is hoped, every home and business house in Hollywood will display an American flag. Hollywood has been divided into districts and every home will be canvassed by the campaign workers. The Hollywood chamber recently purchased 2000 flags which it has placed on sale at twelve different stores in Hollywood at cost price.

EXTRA MATINEE FOR JOLSON THIS WEEK

There will be a special matinee performance of "Bombo" at the Mason Opera House Friday afternoon. Al Jolson has been doing such a phenomenal business that Manager E. D. Smith has prevailed upon him to give this extra performance to take care of those who have not been able to secure seats for other performances during his two weeks' stay. The cinema colony is expected to be out in force Friday afternoon. Scores of Jolson's screen friends have signified their intention of knocking off work for the day and visiting the Mason.

Suit Reporting Husband-Trade Offer Blocked

The divorce suit of Mrs. Anna Borlin, who charged that the woman she named as co-respondent suggested that they trade husbands, was temporarily thrown out of court yesterday when Judge Collier sustained a demurrer of Mike Borlin to the complaint.

Mrs. Borlin named Mrs. Joe Stanisauske as the "other woman" and quoted her saying: "Let's change husbands; you take my husband and I take yours—I've got yours already."

Mrs. Borlin also asserted the co-respondent prepared food for her husband and then served it to him by "holding a dish against his face and tenderly feeding him." The Borlins are said to have been married for more than twenty years. In sustaining Borlin's demurrer, Judge Collier gave the plaintiff ten days in which to file an amended complaint in the action.

THEFT OF AUTO FOR JOY RIDE IS CHARGE

Complaints charging joy riding and receiving stolen property were issued yesterday against Peter Thelan and J. A. Wynn. It is charged that Thelan stole a machine valued at $100 for joy riding purposes from Arthur J. Glade of 821 East Sixth street, on January 26, last, and that later he turned the car over to Wynn. Thelan was arraigned before Judge Reeve of Superior Court and his hearing set for Thursday.

Wife Changes Mind; Husband Gains Divorce

Mrs. Betty C. Taylor has exercised woman's ancient prerogative and changed her mind, according to Joseph F. Taylor, her husband, who was granted a divorce yesterday by Judge Summerfield.

When Taylor filed his suit Mrs. Taylor failed to answer, indicating intention to let it go by default. But when the case came up for hearing several days ago she unexpectedly appeared in Judge Summerfield's court and declared she still loved him. The court then continued the case.

Taylor's suit came up again yesterday and he informed Judge Summerfield that he had tried to "make up" with her after the former hearing but to no avail. She told him it was "no use," he said. So he was awarded a decree.

WIFELY TONICS

A medical authority was quoted the other day as saying that a nagging wife has her uses. He averred that there was evidence to prove that a nagging woman acted as a tonic or stimulant and added to the strength and length of days of the husband. But who wants length of days with a nagging wife?

THE REAL MUSIC

Let it be known that the celebration of music week is not to be turned over to the jazz babies and the fox-trotters. What do they know about music, anyhow? Wallowing over a waxed floor to the din of a battery of saxophones is not indicating devotion to harmony. This is the time to stage a return to the benignant music that has served as milestones to the world's progress.

THE SQUAW-MAN'S PARADISE

According to the report of the Biological Survey, each mazinka, or Eskimo squaw, has a dower right in 325,000 reindeer, worth $7,500,000 in actual meat value. This is $300,000 more than Secretary Seward paid for the whole of Alaska. Reindeer are not native to Alaska. Up to 1902 a total of 1280 were imported from Siberia. As the imported stock has increased at the rate of 30 per cent a year it is estimated that, if only 10 per cent are killed each year, there will be some 4,000,000 reindeer in Alaska eleven years from now. Then each Eskimo debutante's income should be about $4000 a year and we shall probably witness another grand rush for the land of the aurora borealis.

GASSING GERMS

The Chemical Welfare Service has discovered that chlorine gas, which the Germans used with such deadly effect during the war, is a sure cure for colds, influenza, bronchitis, pneumonia and other germ-afflictions of the breathing organs. To inhale the gas in undiluted form kills the host as well as the parasite; but a thin dilution in air, gases the disease germs without injury to the host. Col. Gilchrist of the Army Medical Corps has confirmed the claims of the Chemical Welfare Service and the "chlorine treatment" is now being administered as a cure for colds in both the Army and Navy. Anyone with a microscope can observe the effects of the gas on the germs found on the handkerchief of a person suffering from a bad cold; a thin mixture of the gas and air quickly kills them. As there are more than 100,000,000 colds in this country every year, quite a percentage of which result fatally, chlorine gas may prove to be mankind's best friend. In the long run it would be worth a war to find a cure for colds, provided the discovery could have been made in no other way.

THE "GIMME" PROGRAM

Argentina furnishes an excellent answer to that large body of loose thinkers who still believe that governments exist to support people, forgetting that the people are the government. These are always ready to back any scheme by which a government shall furnish support to any numbers of people who are either unable or unwilling to support themselves. Where the government is to obtain the needed money for these altruistic purposes is merely a side issue with these benevolently inclined persons. Thus the people of Argentina voted a charitable arrangement by which the government would provide for all workers who had completed twenty-five years of good service—a very worthy desire. But to support those who don't work it was, of course, necessary to tax those who do. So 5 per cent of all wages were set aside to carry out the generous program the good people of Argentina had voted on themselves. And the result has been a general strike against paying for what they voted for, that has tied up every industry in Buenos Aires. Human nature is strange, very strange in its reactions!

DO PLANTS FEEL PAIN?

Certainly sensitive plants act as if they could feel. Upon being touched, for example, the Venus Fly-trap closes its leaves. The mimosa plant not only responds to touch, but acts as if it could count as much as three; for it takes three taps to close its leaves. There is something akin to memory in such plants—a storing of the first and second impressions, causing sudden movement when the third tap is felt. If mimosas cannot count three, how do they keep count of the taps? Now Prof. Clifford Farr of the University of Iowa says: "Recent developments in the study of plants point unmistakably to the likelihood that plants have a mental life, a consciousness, closely resembling that of man and the animals . . . suffer pain and experience emotions." He has discovered a special motor organ, called the "pulvinus," at the base of each leaf, wherein impressions give rise to responses, analogous to our brain responses. He says plants can be taught—the marigold, for example, has been taught to respond to artificial light and close its leaves every six hours, instead of every twelve. Apparently, according to experiments, hearing is the only sense lacking in plants. The corn we grind and the potatoes we peel must think man monstrous if they possess feeling and are sensitive to pain.

YOUR DUTY AND YOUR PRIVILEGE

The polls open at 6 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. In the course of those thirteen hours a quarter of a million Angelenos will have the chance of determining a number of issues which vitally affect the future of themselves and their families.

Every bond proposition has been thoroughly discussed and analyzed—both pro and con; California should by this time understand what her vote in the Presidential primary means for the welfare of the State.

Arguments by opposing counsel are all in. The case has been summed up. Today the jury must deliver its verdict. That jury includes every man and woman to whom the country has given the duty and the privilege of registering a vote.

Our forefathers fought a bloody war against the tyranny of "taxation without representation." Every Los Angeles voter who fails to go on record for or against any bond issue on today's ballot is voluntarily re-entering the servitude our forefathers freed us from.

Whatever his political or economic views may be every true and loyal American will record them at the polling booth whenever an election has been called at which he is a registered voter.

Today's election in Los Angeles will decide some questions of the foremost importance to the people of Southern California. Such questions are more likely to be settled right if they are settled by a preponderant vote of those interested. However they are settled, it should be by a large majority so that the decision may have the true seal of popular approval.

Let the people of Los Angeles on this 6th day of May set an example to the whole nation by turning out a banner vote on every one of the twelve local issues, as well as on the Presidential primary, so that whatever be accomplished it may at least be something final.

HARRY ELLINGTON BROOK

With the death of Harry Ellington Brook there passes one of the unique and striking personalities among California writers. His was a trenchant and vigorous pen and he wielded it for half a century, more than thirty years as a writer for The Times. He was best known to Californians as the writer of the "Care of the Body" department of the Sunday Times Magazine.

From boyhood his chief interest in life was in caring for the body by nature's methods and on this subject he wrote uncompromisingly and at times vehemently. Few, if any, of his readers were indifferent to his opinions. His heavy mail attested to his great army of followers, while there were many who violently disagreed with some of his assertions. But always he maintained the courage of his convictions and the "Care-of-the-Body" department of The Times Magazine has for many years been the most conspicuously successful newspaper department of its kind in America.

In private life the charm of his personality won him many devoted friends. Few could match him as a toastmaster or in ex tempore remarks. His was a rapier mind, of keen humor, the caustic flavor of which was tempered by his kindly heart expressed through friendly, twinkling eyes.

His faith in Southern California as a favored land of destiny never wavered during the forty years he wrote here. In earlier days, when Southern California's greatness was more apparent to men of vision than to those who insisted upon actuality, he was a valuable contributor to the newspaper and magazine literature of progress. He wrote thousands of articles describing the advantages and opportunities of this community and lived to see most of his glowing predictions fulfilled.

Men live and do and die and eventually are forgotten, but it will be a long time before the impressive personality of Harry Brook will be forgotten by the thousands of Californians who knew him.

TAMMANY SHOWS ITS STRIPES

Before the flowers are wilted on the grave of Boss Murphy, the great Tammany leader, the Tammany organization has rushed into the national campaign, determined to exalt one of its elect and anointed to the Presidency. Tammany is solidly back of its favorite son, Alfred Emanuel Smith, for the Democratic nomination. He is a Tammany man, openly and unashamed; and Tammany is openly and unblushingly for "Al" Smith.

He is now Gov. Smith; for Tammany has sent him from the Bowery to Albany; and one has but to peruse the columns of the eastern press to discover that the organization is to make the supreme effort of its existence to send him on to Washington.

Gov. Smith's personal popularity in New York is vastly greater than that of the organization whose colors he bears. He is serving his second term and, for a Democratic Governor, is doing remarkably well. The surprise to the outside is that he has given Tammany so little and has permitted the people to retain so much. Tammany has not plundered the State under Smith as it has so often plundered New York City under Tammany Mayors.

Is it because Gov. Smith is a tiger-tamer? Is it because Tammany has sought to give the State of New York a model administration in order to capture that office which in eighty years it has never been able to win, the Presidency?

Two Democratic Presidents have been elected since the Civil War, which is to say since the Republican party was born, Cleveland and Wilson. Both were opposed for the nomination by Tammany. Tilden came the nearest, perhaps, to being elected to the Presidency of all those who have failed; and it was on the prostrate body of Tammany that Tilden rose to national prominence. Bryan was never favored for the Democratic nomination by Tammany.

How happens it that Tammany has suddenly come to the front with a candidate of its own? Would the organization have risked this hazard if Murphy had lived? Answer these questions as one may, there is no mistaking that Tammany will make Gov. Smith a powerful contender for the Democratic nomination. On the curb in Wall street wagers of two to five are offered for Smith to win against the field. The odds are as much as four to one against each of the other contenders.

Gov. Smith is the lone hope of the "wets;" for he is generally considered as still more moist than Cox. One can easily imagine Bryan sitting on the back porch burnishing up his verbal hardware for the coming encounter.

McAdoo is expected to lead on the first ballot in the Democratic convention, just as he did in San Francisco in 1920; but not with enough votes to give him a majority and far from the required two-thirds vote. Tammany turned McAdoo's picture to the wall in San Francisco, and the Tammany adherents are confident they can repeat the performance on their own stamping ground.

One not unimportant element of strength in Smith's campaign, one that has its influence in the betting, is that Hearst and the Hearst press are against him.

TAXING AMERICAN TRADE-WINNERS

An income tax payable monthly has been put into operation by the Mexican government, applying to all residents in the southern republic, and Americans affected by it now feel more strongly than ever what they consider the injustice of being compelled to make income-tax returns to their own country.

For several years the American chambers of commerce of Mexico City and Tampico have been protesting against the assessing of income taxes by the American government on incomes earned and paid in Mexico. They assert that English, French, Germans and other foreigners in Mexico do not have to pay any taxes to their home governments on their Mexican incomes and American business men in Mexico, therefore, are placed at a competitive disadvantage. They contend that they are carrying American trade to Mexico, increasing the demand for American goods there, acting as unpaid commercial representatives. They also point out that their expenses are often high and, though their profits also may be high, they endure all the inconveniences and deserve the rewards. They assert that their competitors from Europe receive much more encouragement from their governments in their efforts to secure foreign trade than Americans do.

Heretofore Mexico has not collected income taxes except in 1921, when a levy was made against all incomes for one month to provide funds for the centennial celebration. The United States government then permitted Americans in Mexico to deduct the amount of the income taxes paid Mexico from the total due the United States. Now that Mexico has begun collecting income taxes monthly the same policy doubtless will wipe out the taxes due the United States. Still Americans there will be compelled to go before consular officers and file returns as before. It really seems that the American government could afford to tax Americans living in foreign countries only on the incomes they derive from their own country—especially since they are, as they assert, doing much for the spread of American trade.

Wherever Americans are numerous in Mexico there are American stores, and American goods are in increasing demand, not only from Americans, but from Mexicans, to whom the Americans introduce them. Golden State butter, as an example, now is used by tens of thousands of Mexican families who never heard of it till Americans introduced it. Hundreds of other articles of daily use are likewise in demand. Yet the American grocer or other merchant who introduced them there has had to pay income taxes to his government at just the same rate as if he had stayed at home, gone to no trouble to learn the language and laws and ways of a foreign land, taken no risks such as any merchant is bound to take in a strange country and done nothing for American foreign commerce. That hardly seems in line with American fairness.

ANOTHER MOON?

Astronomers are looking for another moon, supposed to be revolving 'round the earth at a speed of three and one-half miles a second, in an orbit only 2500 miles away. It has been suggested that this "new moon" might be one of Big Bertha's unexploded shells.

THE SAGE OF CALABASAS

Newspapers carried a dispatch a few days ago from some Michigan town which declared an open-air chef planned a stew of thousands of trout, bass and perch for a big picnic gathering.

No objection to the bass and perch, but it would be downright sinful to put trout to any such base use. Maybe they were lake trout, though—it sounds more reasonable and Michigan has both kinds. The dispatch didn't specify.

Few chefs know how to cook trout, anyway. In the first place trout should be cooked near the stream and as soon as possible after they're caught. They're just fish when you take them home.

Rolling them in egg and cracker crumbs is another desecration to which chefs are specially liable.

There are two schools of trout cooks—those who prefer frying them with bacon and those who prefer olive or some other vegetable oil. It doesn't much matter so long as they are cooked slowly—and with a cover on the pan. They mustn't be fried crisp in any event.

The best result is had when one catches, cleans, cooks and eats them oneself. Then filet mignon and lobster and all those other delicacies fade out of the picture—one knows what real flavor is!

HOW IT STARTED

BY JEAN NEWTON

"As Lively as a Cricket"

For the origin of this phrase one must go further than its obvious analogy with the chirping little insect that inhabits the countryside.

The use of this expression to describe a person who is full of activity comes to us from England, where it was originally "as lively as a cricketer."

It is well known that in the popular English game of cricket which somewhat resembles our baseball, a man has to be wide-awake and constantly "on the go"—hence the expression, "as lively as a cricketer," which in its trip across the water become our "as lively as a cricket."

RIPPLING RHYMES

THE ORANGE

The orange is a noble fruit, a wondrous virtue in it lies; when it is near I care no hoot if I lack turkeys, roasts and pies. The orange grows upon a tree and is not fashioned in a mill; it grows outdoors and it is free from punk preservatives that kill. Developed in the sunny air, the mellow zephyrs make it sweet, and no adulterants are there to warp men's vitals as they eat. All its ingredients are fine and it is wholesome through and through; no poison dyes of aniline have given it its golden hue. Long since when I had grievous pain athwart my midriff and my spine a wise physician said, "In vain will you take pills and drugs of mine; fruit acids are the stuff you need to make your works as good as new; eat oranges—this is my rede—eat oranges the long day through." And so I eat them when I rise, I eat them ere I go to bed; I eat this fruit instead of pies, instead of codfish balls and bread. I have cut out the starchy spud and everything the baker bakes, and now I'm full of rich red blood and fit to whip my weight in snakes. I'm bearded like old Santa Claus and once my whiskers wouldn't grow; new teeth are growing in my jaws and like a rooster oft I crow. We eat too much of patent things, of victuals cooked upon a stove; and still the golden orange swings out yonder in the sunlit grove.

PEN POINTS

Vote! Vote!! Vote!!!

Don't be a political slacker.

The ballot is mightier than the bullet.

Today the little X is the big letter in the alphabet.

Every citizen when he enters the polling booth occupies a king's throne.

Talk of using radio to break up fogs. Seems as if we were getting an awful lot of fog by radio as it is.

The fact that Harry Thaw has taken up golf was probably the best evidence of his sanity, but the fact was not stressed in the hearing.

Jim Reed also declines to wear any man's collar, but the real reason is that he wants his Adam's apple to have plenty of air and exercise.

They are operating one-man cars on some of the interurban lines in Illinois, but the people agree that it is nothing to give three cheers over.

There would have been no Congressional investigations if this had not been a Presidential year. This is another argument for an extension of the term.

Miniature autos and trolleys now used in Los Angeles courts to demonstrate traffic accidents. Might borrow a "glass crash" from some theater to make them more realistic.

President Coolidge lived modestly and in a rented house even while Governor of Massachusetts. Now he is keeping a Butler. Thus proving that it is a long beat that has no policeman.

If municipal electric business is so profitable it's a wonder it can't make repairs from earnings instead of needing a bond issue. A good share of the $21,000,000 demanded is for "replacements," which looks like repairs under a fancier name.

THIS IS THE DAY

The first patent for an ice-making machine was issued to the inventor, John Gorrie of New Orleans, in the year 1851.

Dr. Samuel Pierrepont Langley demonstrated the first successful flight of a heavier-than-air machine in the year 1896. The flight was made at Quantico on the Potomac River, near Washington. There was no person in the machine. It flew 3000 feet, remaining in the air one minute and twenty seconds. In 1903 Dr. Langley attempted to fly the first man-carrying airplane, but because of inefficiency in the launching apparatus it fell into the Potomac River and the experiment was abandoned. Eleven years later, after the death of Dr. Langley, Glenn H. Curtiss successfully flew the old Langley machine over Lake Keuka, thus vindicating the dead Dr. Langley, who is now honored as the inventor of the airplane.

POLITICS IN THE ORIENT

BY EUGENE J. YOUNG

In the crisis which has arisen over the passage by Congress of the provision of the immigration bill barring Japanese from this country our State Department and the White House have given warning that the American "open-door" policy is imperiled. Leading Senators and Representatives have had that idea stressed to them in secret conferences. It is no bluff. There is deep concern in Washington over the situation in the Orient and other parts of Asia; and fear that the policy carefully wrought out in the last three years will receive a serious check.

Without taking any position on the merits of Japanese exclusion—which is a domestic question and within our rights—it might be well to point out to my readers some of the elements which are engaging the attention of those who are watching the development of the great drama in Asia.

"Who Will Succeed Britain?"

Old balances of power in the Far East are upset. Once Great Britain was dominant. Recently Britain and the United States were dominant. Now there is a progressive weakening of Britain's influence. All the strength she can spare for Asiatic equilibrium has to be centered in India and on its menaced borders. She has been unable to build the Singapore naval base, which was to be her outpost to meet the aggressions of Japan—and Japan's allies.

The question all through the Orient is: "Who will succeed to the power of Great Britain?" We could do so if we wished to exert ourselves sufficiently; but the Orient knows America is in no mood to exert herself energetically. So there are others who would take the leadership. And here are some circumstances which are highly interesting:

(1.) Soviet organs and speakers in Moscow for weeks have been charging that France and Japan are working in close accord in the whole Asiatic field. That they prevented recognition of the Moscow government by China. That the sending of a special Japanese mission to Rumania at the moment when France was encouraging Rumania to resist Russian demands was part of this entente. That these nations are taking a special interest on identical lines in Afghanistan, Persia and Turkey, as well as in the Far East.

France Aids Tokio's Intrigues

(2.) At the Washington arms conference it was charged that France and Japan were working in close accord. Japan helped France to defeat the British plans for limitation of submarines and aircraft. France afterward held up the treaties made at the conference for more than a year; and the one permitting China to increase her customs duties is still held up. This inaction serves Japan's purposes, first by keeping heavier duties from being imposed on her goods, and, second, by keeping the Chinese central government from getting funds with which to organize the country and protect itself.

(3.) Chang Tso-lin, in Manchuria, is preparing for an advance on Peking as soon as the spring floods are over. Sun Yat Sen, in the southern provinces, is preparing to march into the Yang Tse-kiang Valley. Chang's army is partly officered and trained by Japanese and has been receiving ammunition from Japanese and French sources. Sun has had the benefit of French as well as Japanese expert assistance and has drawn supplies from French Indo-China, which abuts on the provinces he controls.

Champions of the Dark Races

Finally, through all the propaganda we have had from Japan has run this note: That the dark-skinned races must get together to "throw off the yoke of the white man." And France has adopted (the only one of the white races to do so) the policy of arming and training the darker races. She is doing this not alone in Africa, but in Indo-China.

Japan has her "Monroe Doctrine of the Orient," her claim of leadership in the policy of "Asia for the Asiatics." France, for the last three years, has engaged her diplomacy in championship of the Turks, the Afghans and the Egyptians as against the Russians and British.

Denials have met every charge that these two nations are working in an entente, but constantly circumstances crop up to show their diplomacy working along parallel lines. France is always practical. She is the second great empire in the world. She had India before Britain took that domain away. She has claimed Southern China as her sphere of influence. And she needs some ally to keep Russia engaged elsewhere, so that great power will not interfere with the Eastern European combination built up against Germany. So the Moscow charges of a French-Japanese entente may have a great deal of substance.

Is It a "Smoke Screen" Again?

As to the Japanese end of the combination, it might be well to recall that four years ago, when the California laws had roused the same sort of outburst of indignant protest, I pointed out that such demonstrations had always been the accompaniment of some strong policy of Tokio on the continent of Asia. At that time I said the evidently inspired chorus was used as a "smoke screen"—and the phrase stuck.

It was in 1907 we had our first real experience with it. The Japanese campaign was then so violent that President Roosevelt became alarmed and sent the American battleship fleet on its trip around the world to impress Tokio. Out of this incident came the "gentlemen's agreement," which satisfied Americans at the time. But there was something far more important for Japan. Korea, which had been invaded during the Russo-Japanese War, had a treaty with the United States whereby we guaranteed the independence of the country. While the immigration row was on Japan annexed Korea; and Washington,

Says She Looks Twenty Years Younger
How She Did It With a Home-Made Remedy.
Mrs. E. H. Boots, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:
"Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray or faded hair, and look twenty years younger with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger.—Advertisement.

"International Music Bringing About an International Peace," the thought which was expressed by Ben F. Pearson, chairman of Music Week, at yesterday's luncheon of the Electric Club, seemed to be more than a dream after the enthusiasm manifested in all parts of the city where American Music Day was observed yesterday.

At the Biltmore, where the Electric Club held its Music-Week luncheon, the thought of internationalism was brought out by Mexican dancers and a Swiss singer singing American songs, while in another part of the hotel the MacDowell Club of the Allied Arts presented an American opera written by an American woman.

OPERA PRAISED

The great body of women who gathered yesterday afternoon to listen to "Narcissa," the opera of the great Northwest, written by Mrs. Mary Carr Moore, attested to the popularity of American opera and of the author herself. Mrs. Moore based her opera on the story of Marcus Whitman who, after penetrating the far boundaries of the West, took back with him to Vermont many of the Indians so that they might learn the Christian religion. About this motive the whole action is based.

Although there were no scenery and costumes, the atmosphere of the opera was carried through the songs themselves. The role of Narcissa was sung by Lucy Dumas, that of Waskema by Mme. Anna Ruzena Sprotte and Marcus Whitman by George Page Wiley.

The "daily good deed" of the Boy Scouts during Music Week appears to be entertaining the sick and disabled throughout the country.

GOING TO SAWTELLE

Last Saturday they sang and played for the inmates of the Children's Hospital and this afternoon after school hours the forty-five members of the Boy Scout band will go to Sawtelle to entertain the disabled soldiers in the north ward. In the evening they will play in the Memorial Theater there. The boys are elated over the plans which are being made for them to go to London in July to play there, for theirs has been pronounced the best Boy Scout band in America.

It was announced that, following the custom of last year, the City Council yesterday appropriated $500 for Music Week. MOTHER GETS CHILD

Court Favors Mrs. Christina Nehr; Moral Effect a Factor

Acting on the theory that custody of her 6-year-old daughter Dolores will have a desired moral effect on Mrs. Christina Nehr, Judge Schenk yesterday denied the petition of the father Frank Nehr, and gave the child to the mother. Judge Schenk previously had granted Nehr a divorce when it was revealed to the court that Mrs. Nehr was under three years' probation on a bigamy charge. In his action against Mrs. Nehr the plaintiff charged adultery.

PLAYS GOOD SAMARITAN; VICTIMIZED

Man Says He's Turned Into Cynic, as He Has Two Held for Robbing Him

The testimony of B. D. Hillebrandt, once an all-around good Samaritan but now a hard-bitten cynic, caused Justice Russill yesterday to hold John Cramp and William Brown for trial in Superior Court under $5000 bail each.

Hillebrandt testified that he met Cramp at Pershing Square some weeks ago and that the latter told him a pathetic story and asked for the price of a meal. Hillebrandt, his heart touched, invited the stranger to his apartment at 710 West California street, he said. The supposed down-and-outer, the witness stated, told him then he had a friend who was also hungry and asked if the friend could be taken along.

They both came, Hillebrandt said. When they reached his apartment he went into the kitchen to prepare a meal for his guests. One of them found a flashlight in the room, he said, and threatened to strike him unless he obeyed orders. They laid him out on his own bed, he said, stripped him of his clothing and valuables, placed these in a suit case and then departed. Since then, Hillebrandt stated, he has given up the habit of being a good Samaritan.

Spurious Baron and Secretary Held for Trial

"Baron" George Van Garden, who is said to have admitted to police his claim to membership in the Swedish nobility was false, and his secretary-valet, Dolander Dean, wehe held to answer yesterday charged with the larceny of diamonds worth $3000 from Mrs. Mary Gresley of 6234 La Mirada street. The pair were arrested recently in San Francisco.

It was testified Mrs. Gresley met the "baron" on a train from the East bound for this city, and invited him to be her guest in Hollywood. One night the "baron" complained of feeling ill and Mrs. Gresley sought to aid him, Dean taking advantage of the opportunity to rifle her jewel case, it is charged. The next morning she found them and the gems gone. The police recovered the bulk of the jewelry when the pair were arrested. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Lucas prosecuted.

John J. Mullen, last member of a gang known to Long Beach police as the "match bandits," yesterday was sentenced by Judge Hardy to serve a prison term of five years to live. He recently was convicted of the robbery of George Scobie.

The bandits, two of whom are in San Quentin, were in the habit of robbing persons asked for a match. Mullen was identified by Scobie as the man who drove the bandit car when he was robbed.

Deputy Public Defender Faries served notice of appeal yesterday. Judge Hardy allowed him three days' stay of execution to prepare a brief. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Costello prosecuted the case against Mullen.

The hearing of Sacarillas Urbina, charged with assault with intent to murder Lorenzo Silva, will be continued tomorrow at Silva's bedside in the General Hospital, where he lies in a critical condition with stab wounds of the abdomen. The hearing was begun yesterday before Justice Russill.

Officer Lopez testified Urbina told him Silva came to his soft drink stand and demanded liquor, and that when Mrs. Urbina told him they had none he became abusive. Urbina heard the commotion and ran out to defend his wife, and the stabbing followed. The case is being prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Heinecke.

WRIT TO STOP PUBLICATION OF NOVEL SOUGHT BY FILM DIRECTOR

The suit of Erich Von Stroheim, motion-picture director, to restrain Gladys and Selma Lewis from further publication and distribution of the novel version of "Merry-Go-Round," a screen play produced under his direction, was taken under advisement by Judge Shaw of the Superior Court yesterday.

In his petition, the director set forth that Gladys Lewis, under the non de plume of Georges Lewis, usurped his right to the book and copyrighted it under her own name. After a lengthy court argument, Judge Shaw instructed the attorneys to file briefs in the case and took the matter under advisement.

BICYCLE DEALER IS HELD IN THEFT CASE

J. Z. Adamson, who conducts a bicycle shop at 2163 West Washington street, was lodged in the City Jail yesterday on a charge of receiving stolen property, following the arrests of Elwood Brown, 1530 West Twenty-Fourth street, and Francis Fitzgerald, 2814 Budlong avenue, both of whom are charged with bicycle thefts. Complaint against Adamson was filed by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Vobayda. The youths, arrested by Detective Lieutenants Ryan and Jolin, are said by police to have admitted the thefts of four bicycles which, they asserted, they sold to Adamson.

This is the Iron—Price $6.75

There are more Hotpoint Irons in use than any other make of Electric Iron

The Strength-Saving Cantilever Handle—what it contributes to the electric iron

TAKE any ordinary electric iron in your hand as you would when ironing. Note that your fingers must be clasped tightly around the handle. Also that your arm is bent at a sharp angle at the wrist—and that to exert any ironing pressure your arm and shoulder muscles are decidedly cramped.

NOW take hold of a Hotpoint Iron. See how the strength-saving Cantilever Handle helps you with comfort in ironing.

You grip it lightly—with the thumb extended.

Your muscles are free and relaxed. You iron without unnecessary strain or fatigue.

Now add to the strength-saving Cantilever Handle such other Hotpoint features as the "Hot point"—the Attached Heel Rest—the All-way-through Handle Bolt and the Hinged Cord Plug with Ball Joint that prevents snarling and breaking of the cord.

More Hotpoint Irons are sold year in and year out than any other make.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

Of much interest to local society is the announcement of the engagement recently in Washington, D. C., of Miss Elizabeth Taylor Jones, daughter of James K. Jones, Jr., and grand-daughter of former Senator James K. Jones of Arkansas, to Lieut. Harry Browning Slocum, U.S.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Slocum of El Centro. Lieut. Slocum has been assigned to the Presidential yacht, the Mayflower, and after the engagement announcement a reception was given in honor of the young couple by Mrs. Coolidge at the White House. Miss Jones is one of the most popular members of the younger social set at the capital and many charmingly arranged affairs are being given there in her honor. Lieut. Slocum, who was graduated from Annapolis in 1918, received his appointment to the academy from Congressman Hayden just after being graduated from the high school at Phoenix. The wedding will most probably be one of the brilliant events of next month in Washington.

At Washington

Mrs. Chester C. Ashley of La Salle avenue is enjoying a delightful visit in the East, where she went several weeks ago. She was for several days in Washington, D. C., later attending the meeting of the world's committee of the Y.W.C.A. in New York City. While in Washington she was a guest at the Grace Dodge Hotel.

Church Wedding

One of the beautiful weddings of the season was that of last evening when Miss Dorothy Botsford, daughter of the late William F. Botsford and Mrs. Mona Laux Botsford plighted her troth to Ernest A. Klokke, son of the late Maj. and Mrs. E. F. C. Klokke of this city. The ceremony was read by Dean MacCormack of St. Paul's Cathedral in the pretty little church of St. Athanasius in Eagle Rock at half-past eight, the church being filled with relatives and friends of the two families. The church and altar were beautifully adorned with a profusion of pink and white carnations with ferns and greenery, the pink-and-white color scheme being effectively carried out both in the church and home decorations. The charming young bride wore a becoming wedding gown of duchess satin with trimmings of duchess and rose point lace, heirlooms of the family. She also wore her mother's wedding veil, which also had been worn by her sister, Mrs. Ben Williams (Margery Botsford,) at her wedding. The veil was caught by a coronet of natural orange blossoms and she carried a bridal bouquet of orchids, orange blossoms and lilies of the valley. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Wilma Botsford, who wore a gown of embroidered organdy over a blue satin slip, a pink tulle scarf and picture hat of the same color completing the dainty costume. The carrried an armful of pink roses and maidenhair ferns. Frederick L. Botsford gave his sister into the keeping of the bridegroom at the altar. Karl Klokke served as his brother's best man. Mrs. May MacDonald Hope presided at the organ and played the wedding music. Following the ceremony a wedding reception and supper was held at the home of the bride's mother in Edgeware Road for the relatives and a few close friends only. The house was transformed into a spring garden of flowers and ferns and the bridal table held a centerpiece of orange blossoms and sprays of maidenhair ferns and tulle surrounding the exquisitely iced bride's cake. Mr. and Mrs. Klokke left last evening for a fortnight's wedding trip and after their return will be at home at the country home of the Klokke estate in Eagle Rock until their own home, which is now being builded, is completed.

May Party

Among the delightful affairs of the week was the May party with which Mrs. Harold Meloth entertained at her home in De Longpre avenue yesterday afternoon. The centerpiece of the tea table was a beautiful May pole with flowers and ferns and the place cards were tiny mannequins dancing around a May pole. Mah jongg and bridge games were the feature of the afternoon's entertainment and forty guests responded to the invitations. Mrs. Meloth was assisted in receiving by Mrs. John Bogardus, Mrs. J. T. Holmes, Mrs. Russell Buffum, Mrs. Parker Foster, Mrs. Eugene Ransey and Mrs. Alfred Ogan of Pasadena. The punch table was arranged in the beautiful flower gardens of the home, a yellow color scheme being effectively used in the flowers and tulle of the tables.

Birthday Party

Honoring Mrs. Henry Meier of Pasadena, who celebrated her birthday anniversary, Mrs. Charles W. Hinchcliffe entertained yesterday afternoon with a charmingly arranged luncheon party at the Mary Louise in West Seventh street. The decorations were carried out with a beautiful riot of lavender and pink, the centerpiece being a long low mound of lavender sweet peas and sprays of maidenhair fern fronds, while at either end were large baskets filled with pink roses, lavender sweet peas and Easter lilies with great bows of blue and lavender satin ribbons tied to the handle. The place cards were pink bordered with tiny pink candles set in pink rosebuds and marked covers for sixty-two guests. After luncheon mah jongg and bridge formed the afternoon's entertainment.

Children's Hospital

An interesting event of the week will be the salvage tea which the salvage department of the Children's Hospital is giving tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Rufus H. Horton, 14 Chester Place. The invitations asked each guest to bring her "white elephant" for the benefit of the department, and Mrs. Joseph B. Lippincott will be in charge of the salvage shop for the afternoon's affair. Mrs. Horton and Mrs. Walter Eaton will be hostesses for the afternoon and a liberal patronage is earnestly urged by the salvage shop. Mrs. Budd Frankenfield is director of the salvage department of the Children's Hospital.

Dinner Party

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Michael Narlian entertained Saturday evening with a dinner party and dance at the Marcell Country Club, the guests of honor being Mr. and Mrs. Herman Webber. Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Leistikow, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Barker, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Tombin, Miss Harriet Bayer, Mrs. Jordan, Mike H. Lewis and Edward Reisman.

Barnes-Medley

Formal announcement is made of the marriage of Mrs. G. Oswell Barnes of Hermosa Beach to H. L. Medley of Los Angeles, the ceremony being performed Saturday at high noon at the Bible Institute, Rev. W. R. Hale officiating.

Kappa Beta Pi

Kappa Beta Pi, national legal sorority, Omega chapter of the College of Law, University of Southern California, entertained Saturday evening at the home of Wickliffe Stack, the occasion celebrating the initiation and pledging of several members. The dinner tables were beautifully adorned in blue and gold sorority colors, and a basket of spring flowers was sent by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heron, patron and patroness of the sorority. The wedding march, played by Mrs. A. H. Darling, announced the entrance of tiny Dorothy Darling, who passed corsage bouquets to each member, a card announcing the engagement of Miss Cecil Betz to Edward Davis being attached. The wedding will take place June 6. Miss Alta Phillips will assist as maid of honor to represent the Kappa Beta Pi. The pledges and initiates were Helen Sander, Mathilda Bardenstein, Maurine Siegiaff, Harriet Pugh, Jeanette Hertz and Esther Cecile Adam. The ceremonies were conducted by Dean Helen Hardman and those enjoying the evening included Mathilda Bardenstein, Loraine Beth Beyer, Cecil Betz, Ella Rae Briggs, Anna Brockow, Jeannette Crop, Helen Hardman, May Hogan, Ruth Hudson, Alma Jones, Amelia Fiedler Johnson, Bertha Josephs, Katherine McKenna, Lois Mead, Alta Phillips, Harriet Pugh, Wickliffe Stack, Maurine Siegiaff, Helen Sander, Ruth Thomas, Ella Volstead, Lois Webb, Alice Wieder and Audrey Zeman.

At University Club

Mrs. Willoughby Rodman will give a most interesting lecture on "Interesting Interviews with Modern Makers of History" at the Women's University Club, 948 South Hoover street, Thursday evening, the proceeds to be devoted to the fund for the education of exiled students of Russia. This is the last of a series of talks which Mrs. Rodman has been giving this spring for this worthy philanthropy, the entire proceeds being sent direct to the university at Louvain. A number of dinner parties will precede the talk, among the hostesses being Mrs. Alice Lynch, Mrs. Harvey Mudd, Mrs. Woolcott Rhodes, Mrs. Ray R. Thomas and Mrs. Michael J. Creamer.

MANUFACTURERS ASK TEMPORARY BRIDGE

COUNCIL SHOWS INCLINATION TO AWAIT PERMANENT SPAN OF AVENUE 26

Manufacturing interests crippled by the recent collapse of a superannuated city bridge over Avenue Twenty-six, appeared before the Finance Committee of the City Council yesterday with a request that $6000, as originally requested by City Engineer Griffin, be appropriated for the immediate construction of a temporary bridge. It will take at least from nine to twelve months, Maj. Griffin told the committee yesterday, to build a permanent structure, and perhaps eighteen months or two years.

The Council, on recommendation of the committee, rejected the first request and showed disinclination yesterday to alter its position. Action was deferred for one week.

GIVEN HEAVY FINE IN ILLEGAL STOCK SALE

W. A. Bondurant, who pleaded guilty to two complaints charging nine counts of violation of the Corporate Securities Act, was fined $2250 by Judge Reeve of the Superior Court yesterday. In the event that he is unable to pay the fine, Bondurant must serve 1125 days in jail. Bondurant sought probation when brought up for sentence but this was denied by the court. He was accused of selling stock in an Arizona mine without a permit from the State Corporation Commission.

GOODCELL SPEAKS

[illegible] Rex B. Goodcell spoke in [illegible] Auditorium with Mrs. [illegible] T. Coleman presiding. His subject was "A Greater Industrial Los Angeles."

"In all the history of civilization there is nothing to equal the growth of the city of Los Angeles in the last five years," said the speaker. "And the wealth has grown in proportion to the population. Of the new residents 80 per cent are those who make tax returns. The collections of taxes in March were greater than ever before in the history of the city. The figures received this morning show an increase of $4,000,000 over 1923 and the increase in the whole United States is only $39,000,000. The uneasiness of which we [illegible] a little is not because of lack of population or of money, but lack of the will of the people to do and to dare. There are four things that make a city great industrially: Location, transportation, abundance of raw materials and capital. We have a great advantage in all of these respects and the will to do is more than all of them combined.

ADVANTAGES

"It costs us less to get material by water than it does by land from Pittsburg to Philadelphia. We have the Pacific at our doors and the orient within reach. We have fuel and oil and power, a harbor and the capital. There is enough iron in the San Bernardino mountains alone to enable us to build the greatest steel plants west of Chicago. We pay more income tax per capita than any other city in the country. Indeed, we have everything to make this a great industrial center. We must now—and here you women can help—generate the will to do. We must sell Los Angeles to itself, and to all the rest of the world."

When the meeting was open for discussion from the floor it became [illegible] unanimous, enthusiastic, sane [illegible] for Los Angeles, where, according to the presiding officer, some of the members were so fortunate as to be born and others had the good judgment to come.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

"Dear Doctor: I have lost sixteen pounds since the first of the year by following your directions. I still have forty more I want to lose and I have confidence that I will lose them before spring rolls around again.

"What do you think of the inclosed idea for reducing? One would think our stomachs were distilleries to read this literature.

"I cannot begin to tell you how glad I am in having found something that will rid me of this unsightly fat. My overweight however, hasn't affected my activity. I had more vim and vitality than when I was ten pounds underweight, but when a woman gets to need size forty-four underwear, it's time she sat up and took notice of her personal appearance, particularly when she has a handsome hubby several years her junior. What say?

ONE OF YOUR BOOSTERS.

Yes, I agree with you, whether having handsome hubby, unhandsome hubbies, or no hubbies, it's time for her own health and happiness and efficiency.

That reducing fake you mention I will write on soon.

Mrs. J.: Don't be influenced by articles you read which tell you that tonsils are vital organs and should never be removed, no matter how badly they are affected. Healthy tonsils are undoubtedly very important, but they are not vital; and when they are chronically infected, they are worse than no good because they furnish a focus for chronic poisoning to the system. Joint disorders, heart disease and other diseases can be caused by them. In one of the recent journals of the American Medical Association there was a report of three cases in which marked mental symptoms were completely relieved by the removal of the diseased tonsils.

THE VALUE OF INSULIN IN DIABETES

It is not thought that insulin will cure diabetes. But with its aid the patient can take a more liberal and more pleasant diet, and this results in a general all-around improvement. There is hope that the strain on the pancreas (the disorder of which is usually the cause of diabetes) can be so far relieved that the pancreas can develop its own natural powers ultimately.

Don't forget that 75 per cent of the diabetics are overweight before coming down with the disease, so the prevention of overweight will prevent this disease in the majority of cases. In general, the diet for diabetes is to be very low in carbohydrates (starches and sugars.) The acid fruits, green-leaf vegetables and nuts, especially peanuts and chestnuts, are the foods that have the smallest amounts of carbohydrates. The soy bean has very little starch and is very high in a splendid complete protein. The foods highest in carbohydrates are bread, potatoes, cereals, legumes (except the soy bean,) macaroni and the sweet fruits.

Diabetes is not a case for home treatment. The insulin remedy is now distributed to physicians who are experienced and competent in the treatment of diabetes. Write your county or State Medical Society and they will furnish you with a list of such physicians, and then consult one of them.

Mrs. F.: Somethimes at the change of life there is a heavier flow at the menstrual period than usual. If there is no flow between periods this may be normal. If there is much of an excess, you had better see your physician. There may be some disorder that needs attention, and if there is not you will be glad to know it. The average age at which the menopause comes is 48.

AVIATOR HELD FOR WILD RIDE

Police Seek Law on Which to Base Charges

Flyer Declared Intoxicated on Reckless Dash

Said to Have Looped Loop at Low Altitude

Walter I. De Laguay, said to be a veteran of the British Royal Flying Corps during the World War, was arrested yesterday at Santa Monica for an asserted reckless flight in a small scout machine late Sunday afternoon while under the influence of intoxicants. During the course of the flight the aviator is said to have looped the loop while fifty feet from the ground and to have narrowly missed automobiles parked by the roadside near Clover Field. A woman passenger was with De Laguay at the time, it is said.

Despite the fact that the aviator performed in a manner that would have rivaled famous stunt flyers and put them to shame, officers at the local field said he made a perfect landing and was none the worse for his adventure. Local aviators are condemning the actions of the aviator and are seeking a means of barring his further use of the local field.

Although De Laguay is said to have flown his plane without a permit, he stated yesterday morning that he had made application two months ago and had not yet received it. Officers in command of the field state that the flyer has made no application for a permit.

Santa Monica police yesterday were endeavoring to place a charge against De Laguay which will cover low and reckless flying. Late last night they had been unable to find an ordinance prohibiting low flying.

OFFICER SHOOTS FUGITIVE

San Diegan, Found With Bullet in Shoulder, Denies He Sought to Commit Robbery

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, May 5.—W. J. Curtis, 58 years of age, is at Seaside Hospital here with a bullet from a policeman's revolver in his shoulder. Police are investigating his record.

Curtis was shot by Detail Officer A. G. Houske at 3 o'clock this morning after he opened fire on Officers Houske and Authier, who were pursuing him through Elm avenue. Although badly wounded, the man continued to flee and eluded the officers, being found two hours later in a house at 821 Elm avenue, where he had sought refuge.

Houske and Authier were answering a call that a burglar had been working in the neighborhood of Elm avenue and Ninth street. They encountered Curtis on the street and commanded him to halt. He fled, however, and the officers shot in the air to frighten him.

Curtis, the police say, responded to their shots by firing three shots point blank at the officers. None took effect and Officer Houske, leveling down on the fleeing man, emptied his weapon at him.

Curtis told police he lives at 3709 Thirty-third street, San Diego, and that he came to Long Beach for his health. He suffers from insomnia, he said, and arose from his bed to take a walk early this morning. He carried a revolver for protection against hold-up men, he told police. Curtis denied that he was engaged in wrongdoing when the officers accosted him.

BIRTHDAY IS CELEBRATED BY JACOBY'S

Brothers Have Sales for Forty-ninth Anniversary of Business Life

BY OLIVE GRAY

When an establishment has occupied a prominent place in the business life of a city for almost fifty years, there's a reason.

With Jacoby Brothers, celebrating this month their forty-ninth birthday, that reason is family pride in honor upheld by fair dealing, from those early days to now; for the business has been handed down from father to sons, the first Jacoby Brothers leaving to their sons the tradition of high ideals.

From humble beginnings in a small store on the old Plaza, forty-nine years ago, Jacoby Brothers have kept up the march along lines of progress, never relaxing those principles upon which the founders of the business based their success. The slogan, "Jacoby's for values," is especially emphasized, just now, when, in marking the forty-ninth anniversary of their business life in Los Angeles, they have chosen to celebrate by continuous offerings of high-class merchandise at lowered prices, rather than by loud events. Every department of the store, on Broadway, between Third and Fourth, is participating in the attractive offerings which will continue throughout the present month.

Throughout the sections wherein are offered yardage cotton, wool, silk and linen in substantial and in fancy weaves, to those devoted to ready-to-wear, millinery and accessories of women's attire, and including draperies, lamps, art-needle work and other merchandise for home and for personal use, prices are compelling and the standard of excellence in merchandise undiminished.

THEATER ROBBERY SUSPECTS IN COURT

PAIR ENTER NOT GUILTY PLEA; ONE FACES CHARGE OF MURDER

Carey Wilson and George H. Cowdrey pleaded not guilty yesterday to charges of robbery when they were arraigned before Judge Hardy, and their case was assigned to Judge Reeve's court to have a date set for trial. This will be done today.

Cowdrey is charged also with the murder of Joseph Langley, manager of the Alvarado Theater, on September 20, 1923. Langley was shot down in the street by a man who snatched the theater cash box from his hands.

Two-Year Burn Believed Healed by Chum's Skin

The devotion of a comrade and the skill of a surgeon probably will return George Selsing, telephone company worker, confined to his bed for two years as the result of a burned leg, to his employment.

Carl Strickland, devoted friend and fellow worker, offered a part of his cuticle to Selsing, and Dr. C. W. Cook performed the operation on April 29, last, in Angeles Hospital.

Dr. Cook said yesterday that he had grafted a piece of living skin from Strickland's healthy limb to Selsing's burned leg; the men having been tied together and placed in the same bed. The surgeon announced that the grafted skin was growing to Selsing's leg and that the unusual operation is giving every indication of being a success. He said the men probably will be cut apart in twelve to fourteen days.

Authorities at the hospital who are watching the operation with interest stated that, while skin grafting is common, the grafting of live skin is unusual.

PETER GADD LOW BIDDER FOR SEWERS

Main-Street Offer is Far Below Estimate; Contract May be Awarded Soon

Contract for the Main-street storm sewer system, estimated to cost $3,500,000, was expected to be awarded next week, it was announced by the Board of Public Works, which opened three bids for the work yesterday.

The lowest bid was submitted by Peter R. Gadd, whose figure was $2,705,991. Thomas Haverty Company tendered the highest proposal, which was $3,683,915. The third bid, for $3,198,225, was submitted by Thomas Kelly & Sons.

Gadd, the low bidder, was said to be backed by a syndicate of Los Angeles and San Francisco financiers. He formerly was general manager and a member of the California State Reclamation Board.

According to city officials, Gadd has been associated with many large construction activities in the West, the most prominent being the Sutter-Butte by-pass project on the Sacramento River, involving an expenditure of $8,000,000 and a project for opening the mouth of the Sacramento River at a cost of $6,000,000.

Heat two tablespoonfuls of lard in a saute pan, add one chopped onion and one crushed clove of garlic, stir and cook until the onion is clear, not brown; add two pounds of round steak cut in one-inch cubes, stir and cook until the meat is nicely browned, add the chili pepper puree, cover and simmer until the meat is tender; about one hour. Proof Reading 890,778 lines of want ads, containing 4,453,890 separate words, passed through The Times proof room during the month of April.

Reading these advertisements for errors, correcting street names, checking prices and telephone numbers, is another step in the publication of Times want ads—part of the swiftly-moving process by which thousands of pieces of copy are converted into printed pages, all within a few hours.

Although The Times frequently handles over 50,000 lines of want ads in a single issue, a surprisingly small number of errors occur.

The Los Angeles Times prints more want ads than any other newspaper in the world.

GIRL STOWAWAY HOME IN JERSEY

Reticent as to Adventure Aboard Arizona

Tells Reporters It Was Her Own Business

Found as Fleet Was on Way to This Port

Madeline Blair, pretty girl stowaway who was discovered in sailor's garb aboard the U.S.S. Arizona as the Pacific Fleet was returning from winter maneuvers in the Caribbean to this port, has arrived back in New York, according to dispatches from that city.

The dispatches add that she was accompanied on her return by Patrolman Charles Comanto of New York, who is given credit for making the discovery of her presence on the warship while he was a sightseer at Balboa.

Madeline, who gave her address to the immigration officials at Irvington, N. J., was reticent on her adventures. The patrolman, however, talked more freely, despite her requests to tell her own story when she got ready.

DISCOVERY ACCIDENTAL

Discovery of her was, as might be expected, entirely accidental, but it was not by any of the ship's complement. She had eluded the watchful eyes of every officer for five weeks. It was a sudden gust of wind that was her undoing, that and the presence aboard as a visitor of Patrolman Comanto.

He had gone to call on a friend in the crew and was watching a squad of sailors at work on deck. A riffle of wind swept the deck and lifted the cap from the head of one of the "men," disclosing a crown of telltale hair.

"Say, look!" Comanto exclaimed to his friend, pointing to the "sailor." "That's not a bluejacket, that's a girl."

There wasn't any doubt about it and within a short time the ship's officers had been notified of the discovery. In short order the girl was put overside and sent back by train to Cristobal. There she was put aboard the steamship Cristobal of the Panama Railway Steamship Line, which came in with the girl and also with Comanto today.

GIVES JERSEY ADDRESS

The girl gave her name to the immigration authorities as Madeline Blair. She is pretty, black-eyed, black-haired, 19 years of age and was born in Irvington, N. J. She gave no address in New York.

She was annoyed when reporters asked her about herself. "It's my adventure and my business, and you'll not get anything from me," she declared. When the reporters talked with Comanto she came up to him and said: "You needn't tell my story. I'll tell it when I get ready." Comanto told her she might be arrested as soon as she went ashore, but she flouted this and stalked off.

The girl was met by a man, said to be a detective from the Missing Persons Bureau, and a young woman, believed to be her sister. Another woman, thought to be her mother, met her on the West Twenty-sixth-street pier and all went away in a taxicab. The destination was declared to be the Hollywood Hotel on East Twenty-eighth street. But just before she left the ship the girl dictated to the purser a letter to the captain of the Arizona, asking him please to forward to her at the Y.W.C.A. in this city a suit case she had left on the battleship.

LAST STATE ROAD BONDS TO BE SOLD

Present Contracts to Use All Money in Sight for New Construction

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, May 5.—Sale of $3,000,000 worth of State highway bonds, bearing 4½ per cent interest, which was authorized by the State Finance Committee last Saturday and which will take place on June 19, will raise the last installment of a $40,000,000-bond issue voted in 1919. The bonds represent the last money the State has available for new, or primary, construction, with the exception of certain fixed allotments by the Federal government under the Federal-aid system, it was announced today at the offices of the State Highway Commission.

Since the highway program was begun about twelve years ago, three bond issues aggregating $73,000,000 have been voted by the people, one of the earlier issues having been for $15,000,000 and another for $18,000,000.

Contracts already awarded or pending will require the expenditure of practically all the money in sight for new construction, it was stated. The bond fund is expected to be exhausted within the next few months and it will devolve upon the next Legislature to work out a new plan to finance future projects.

Under the law, funds derived from the gasoline tax and the revenue from motor-vehicle fees can be used only for maintenance and reconstruction.

Edgar L. Larkin Recovering; to Leave Hospital

Edgar Lucien Larkin, for twenty-four years director of the Mt. Lowe Observatory, who has been dangerously ill at the Pacific Hospital for many weeks, yesterday was reported to be sufficiently convalescent to leave the hospital probably by the end of the week.

The name of Edgar Lucien Larkin is known to thousands of readers of newspapers and magazines. He has been a contributor to several publications for more than twenty years, and as a syndicate writer is widely known. He has had published 8800 articles, according to his own statement, sufficient to fill forty volumes of 265 pages each.

BREAK LIQUOR FINE RECORD

Asserted Bootleggers Are Taxed $7616 in Police Judge Sheldon's University Court

All local records for fines in liquor cases were broken yesterday when $7616 was assessed violators of the Eighteenth Amendment in Police Judge Sheldon's University Court.

It was a big day in court. Officers staggered in under loads of evidence and asserted bootleggers staggered out bowed under a heavy fine, though considerably relieved in the region of the pocketbook.

Everybody and his brother and sister, it seemed to the clerks of the court, was accused of being on intimate terms with John Barleycorn. Italians, Japanese, Greeks, Americans and other nationalities were represented. Among these the name of Fred Boozer stood out quaintly, though somewhat subdued beside the cognomens claimed by Russian and Italian violators.

ONLY $90 FINE

Boozer, in spite of his name, drew a comparatively light fine of $90 for possession of some illicit spirits.

Miguel Rodriguez, however, accused of operating two stills at 1138 Wilson street, according to the testimony of Officers Mortenson and Gray, was what might be termed an unfortunate. Convicted on three counts of violation of the Wright Act, he was fined $1101 with the alternative of 231 days in jail.

Joe Shindo, Japanese, asserted by the police to be a sake manufacturer, drew a fine of $1000 or 300 days in jail. Officers testified that they found seven forty-gallon barrels and two fifty-gallon barrels of the rice spirits in Shindo's place at 220 Rose street.

ASSESSED $1000

Damasco Aguelera was asserted to have attempted to liven up the scenery in the region of Santa Monica Canyon by coaxing the spirits of corn and rye into hectic communion. Judge Sheldon decided he ought to pay the city $1000 for his trouble.

In all, seventy-one Wright Act cases were tried and eleven persons were charged with drunkenness. Eight women were among the accused. Of the total fines assessed, more than $2000 was collected, asserted bootleggers paying what they had with them and scurrying out in search of the remainder with the permission of the court.

RAT HORDE IS NO MORE AT HARBOR

Poisoning Campaign Has Such Efficient Results All Rest in Grave

The proverbial statement that a harbor is for vessels and rats must be corrected when used in connection with Los Angeles Harbor, the City Bureau of Sanitation and Housing declared yesterday.

Following a three months' campaign to rid the water front of the pests, Arthur Potts, chief sanitary inspector, and C. K. Stewart, in charge of rodent control, announced that the entire area has been cleared of the rats.

Some time ago an appeal was made to the department in which it was stated that the rats not only were overrunning the wharves but were making life miserable for storekeepers along Front street. The Sixth-street wharf was mentioned as their special rendezvous.

An inspection tour of the water front yesterday disclosed but one remaining animal alive beneath the ferry landing. He was promptly disposed of.

According to Mr. Potts the poisoned animals have been kind enough to select an obscure cave in which to choose a grave.

The department also announced that the ground squirrels which have done considerable damage in the Oro Vista district at San Pedro are now practically gone. The district is said to have been opened recently and the squirrels ruined much of the shrubbery and grass in the area.

PENALTY IS LIKELY

Contractors May be Forced to Pay Damages in Work Delay

Penalties are to be imposed by the county on contractors engaged in road and bridge work who fail hereafter to carry out their contracts by the time specified, it was indicated yesterday by the Board of Supervisors.

The board adopted a resolution instructing the road commission to include in all future road and bridge contracts a sum of liquidated damages in case the work is not completed on the date specified. The action of the board, it was stated, was taken to prevent irresponsible contractors from accepting such contracts and then indefinitely delaying the work.

GROCER SENT TO JAIL ON VOLSTEAD CHARGE

Herman E. Johnson, 1764 Glendale Boulevard, pleaded guilty yesterday before Federal Judge James to a charge of violating the Volstead Act. He was sentenced to three months in the Orange County Jail and to pay a fine of $10.

Johnson, manager of a grocery store on Glendale Boulevard, was arrested a month ago after prohibition officers bought five cases of synthetic gin from him at $40 a case. Johnson said he obtained the liquor from Harry Soglafsky and Isaac Yelowitz, 1622 Mohawk street, both of whom are held for trial on a charge of violating the Volstead Act.

DR. MONROE TO SPEAK

Dr. William B. Monroe, professor of economics at Harvard, will be the principal speaker at a luncheon of the Harvard Club at 12:15 p.m. today at the University Club. Plans for raising here a part of the $10,000,000 Harvard endowment fund will be discussed.

"Never Drunk" Plea Wins Cut in Film Alimony

The solemn avowal of George Cairncroff, known to the moving-picture studios as Stuart Paton, a director, that he had "never been drunk in his life," won for him in Judge Summerfield's court yesterday a reduction from $75 to $25 of the temporary alimony he was ordered some months ago to pay Lillian Cairncroff pending settlement of a divorce action instituted by the wife.

Cairncroff was haled into court on the representation of the wife that he was $1000 in arrears in alimony and that his failure to meet the payment of $75 a month was due to expenditures for liquor. Cairncroff denied the assertions regarding the liquor and assured Judge Summerfield of his abstemious inclinations. He further denied ability to pay alimony of $75 a month because he is now out of work and his been for some time.

Until Cairncroff gets work he will be required pay only $25 a month.

THREE ROBBERS GET YEAR TO LIFE TERM

PRIETO, ORRAJ AND MONTIJO SENTENCED FOR HOLD-UP OF LANCASTER BANK

Tony Prieto, Antonio Orraj and Fernando Montijo, who pleaded guilty last week to charges of second-degree robbery in connection with the hold-up, March 11, last, of the Antelope Valley Bank of Lancaster, yesterday were sentenced to serve from one year to life in San Quentin penitentiary. Sentence was pronounced by Judge Keetch, sitting in the absence of Judge Avery, in whose court the men had been arraigned.

The three men were asserted to have held up and robbed L. A. C. Waite, cashier of the bank, obtaining $2250. They were indicted by the county grand jury on a count charging first-degree robbery, but were allowed to plead guilty to the lesser offense through arrangement with the District Attorney's office.

ACTOR IN VAUDEVILLE WEDS EVELYN RIEDE

Harry Seymour, Orpheum actor who is headlining this week's bill with Anna Seymour in "Breezy Bits of Mirth and Melody," was in a hurry yesterday afternoon. As soon as the matinee performance was over he made a dash for the marriage license bureau. The bride is Evelyn "Dimple" Riede, 21 years of age, who was "Miss St. Louis" in the Atlantic City beauty contest two years ago. The bridegroom's full name offstage, as given to the license clerk, is Harry Seymour Bittner of Detroit. Ralph Ince conducted a reception for the pair last night.

The name of Lydia Knott has always been prominent in the list of the screen's delineators of mother roles but her characterization in Charles Chaplin's "A Woman of Paris" brought a distinctly new type of mother to the silversheet. For one thing it was thoroughly imbued with a new understanding of dramatic reactions as pertaining to the maternal figure in story plot and it had a distinctly "continental" flavor that has rarely been seen before in motion pictures.

The usual wish-wash of mother hokum that had graced film for so many years was prominent in the Chaplin drama by its absence and substituted therefor was a keener realization of the hitherto untouched possibilities of such a role. The

Some of the greatest motion-picture stories in the world are, literally, walking the streets of Los Angeles. George Melford believes so, at any rate, and some day, he declares, he is going to search for them.

These stories, the director says, are in the hearts of the people who have seen much of the world. If these people only knew how to put their life and experiences into writing, they would many of them startle the most

EASTER TWENTY YEARS AGO

Then the Easter season was early and straw hats, strangely different from those that are worn now, were beginning to appear in the advertisements. They were low, wide-brimmed and rakish. Fashionable young gentlemen were wearing abbreviated coats and long, peg-topped trousers without cuffs. They looked right well, too. At the same time Kaiser Wilhelm was having an enjoyable voyage on the yacht Hohenzollern. His Imperial Majesty visited Sicily and there entertained several American social celebrities at luncheons on his ship. Wilhelm and the German monarchists, even, then, were preparing for the big war which was to cost Wilhelm his throne.—[Capper's Weekly.

STARS GATHER AT "ROMANCE"

Notable Audience Welcomes Doris Keane

Playhouse Opening Proves Auspicious Affair

Will Rogers Makes Speech of Dedication

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Another new theater!

The expression has been heard so often this season that it might seem to lose its novelty. Yet despite the continual round of house-warmings and premieres each event manages to be sufficiently distinctive to call forth a new set of descriptive adjectives, and the opening of the Playhouse, the latest home of stage production, evokes again the usual outbrust of excitement.

Doris Keane was the star of this event which took place last night, and the crowd that thronged near Ninth and Figueroa streets, proved the general popular expectation of a gala guest list. It was in no sense an unrealized expectation either, for of all the select gatherings at an opening presentation this season, the audience that attended "Romance" was one of the most remarkable in starry brilliance.

Practically every primary luminary of the pictures was present, and though they had possibly in many instances seen the play several times before they tendered Miss Keane an ovation that in certain aspects must have rivaled some of the best that she has ever enjoyed. Seldom indeed has any star been the recipient of more beautiful American beauty roses, pansies, and other spring flowers than were carried to her by a long line of ushers following the opening act.

There were various major points of interest in this particular theatrical opening, including a speech of dedication by Will Rogers and the first glimpse of a new theater, but after all it was Doris Keane and the memories that she stirred in the minds of many that made the deepest appeal.

"Romance," as a play, is really a message from another age. The stage has progressed to a more rapid tempo even in the treatment of such a theme of sentiment as this elusively pathetic drama presents. Victorian modes and customs are not as popular, perhaps now, as when it was written.

PERSONAL TRIUMPH

Yet for all that, "Romance" has some great scenes. And when it is played with the fine artistic inflection with which Miss Keane invests her portrayal of a temperamental opera singer, and one feels the real and genuine heart throb of her personality and her art, "Romance" is still something to awaken a certain enchantment in the imagination.

The story everybody should know by now, but it always bears repetition. The plot is simply the carrying out of a story told by an aged bishop of his love for an opera singer. He makes the recital in order to prevent his grandson from marrying an actress, and though his purpose does not work out as he expects, it provides a picturesque three acts, set off by a prologue and an epilogue.

Doris Keane has been playing "Romance" for nearly a decade. She has made of the role of Mme. Margherita Cavallini a study of temperament perhaps true, perhaps more as people like to imagine temperament. It would be difficult to visualize anything more flashing than that charm and fire with which she imbues her interpretation.

When Miss Keane herself was not upon the stage I could not develop a frantic interest in the plot. Much of it seems very dull and obvious now. The dialogue never succeeds in being luminous except with the personal light of the star.

I would not on that account underrate the quality of the cast. Support is more than passably satisfying.

Niles Welch looked very dashing as the young vicar, and played the part with romantic feeling. He was less effective as the aged bishop.

Mabel Van Buren offered a convincing character, and Tina Stevens was ingenuously pleasing as the banker's niece. Hugh Huntley, Vivian Faust and others were successful.

ROGERS TALKS

The play was staged under the direction of Lillian Albertson, who introduced Will Rogers just before the first curtain went up about 9 o'clock. Rogers spoke very feelingly of his efficiency in superintending openings, and urged strongly that any others that were to be held in the near future be postponed until he returned from his forthcoming appearance with the Follies. His speech was a leading diversion.

He introduced Pauline Frederick from the audience, as she is to appear shortly as the star in "Spring Cleaning" at the theater. He incidentally mentioned that the play had nothing to do with the real estate business.

Following the performance Louis Owen MacLoon, sponsor of the new enterprise, and Miss Albertson (who in private life is Mrs. MacLoon) entertained many of the prominent stars at a supper party. This gave to the event a further charm of intimacy that was one of its leading attractions, in addition to the alluring personality of Miss Keane.

The theater, which is simple and attractive, as well as unusually spacious, should prove a favorite haunt of the playgoers. It is very distinctive.

COLORATURA SOPRANO IN FAREWELL RECITAL

Mme. Teodora Wisniewska, coloratura soprano, who is leaving Los Angeles to enter the Rabinoff Opera Academy at Stony Point, L. I., was heard in a farewell recital Sunday evening at the Polish Auditorium. She was assisted by Stanislaw Michniewicz, pianist, and Bogdan Gilewicz, baritone. Mme. Felicia Romanowska, teacher of the soloist, presided at the piano. Mme. Wisniewska began with "Charmant Oiseau," by David; this was followed by "The Wren," by Benedict. Mr. Archie Wade played flute obligato. Both numbers were brilliantly executed, with particular brilliance in her high staccato notes.

Comedy Acts Headline Bill at Hillstreet

You have to sit through a number of acts before you get to the comedy on the Hillstreet bill this week. But it is worth it—in fact, it is about the only thing that really is worth while. Fenton and Field are the bright boys, all made up in blackface. Their gags are refreshing, not alone because they are new, but because they are offered in a breezy fashion. They have the audience in merry spirits before the curtain goes up, and laughing by the time they are through their first number. From then on it is an easy matter, each attempt meeting with greater hilarity.

Ed and B. Conrad, assisted by Charlotte, present another comic offering that ranks second only to the headline pair. Ed Conrad is the best of these three, although Charlotte draws a laugh or two and gives the act form.

"The China Blue Plate" is a musical version of the legend of the well-known Chinese plate, enacted by a cast of four, and in three scenes. The chief novelty of this offering is in the easy manner in which one scene dissolves into another without any break of interest.

Some of the latest of the popular songs provide Mildred Myra with a fairly good reason for coming out on the stage. She is assisted by Sam Green, who works through half of the act from the orchestra pit, and could stay there for all of us.

The Three Danoise sisters do a little acrobatic stuff, with all the heavy work falling to one girl. But she seems to enjoy it, so it's all right. The Three Original Blanks open the program, registering slightly more than their name indicates.

"Children of the Dust" is the title of the screen feature. This is a Frank Borzage production with Johnny Walker, Lloyd Hughes and Pauline Garon in featured roles. The story is of not more than medium interest, dragging in many places. An Aesop's comedy, as usual, gets more laughs than anything else on the bill.

DIVERSE PROGRAM OF AMERICAN MUSIC

The works of American composers were featured on the program which was presented at the Gamut Club Auditorium last evening. The musical numbers were interspersed with short speeches by Mrs. J. J. Carter and other prominent persons identified with the musical progress of Los Angeles.

The first numbers were from the suite, "The Gods of the Mountains" by Arthur Farwell, rendered by the Philharmonic Trio. Mr. Kastner contributed a harp solo of his own composing, a concert study. The number was given a beautifully delicate rendition. The harp duet played by Mr. Kastner and Mary Hogan was also worthy. This was "Remembrances of Worcester," by E. Schnecker, and was an attractive number.

The charming "Wind Cycle" suite, by Grace Adele Freebey, was sung by Constance Balfour, soprano, with the composer at the piano. Notable among these were "The North Wind" and "The West Wind," Mrs. Balfour giving a good interpretation to both selections.

Three piano numbers, the compositions of Henry Cowell, a California composer, were performed by Winifred Hooke. For musical worth, the "Episode" was the best of these.

A distinctive number was the Rondo Capriccioso, by Robert Russell Bennett. This was played by a flute quartet, Jay Plowe, Mrs. Helen M. Little, Harry Baxter and Sidney T. Exley, and was very well received, the quartet maintaining a fine ensemble throughout the rendition.

"Three Songs to Odysseus," by Charles Wakefield Cadman, were sung by Mme. Ruzena Sprotte, contralto; Carl Gantvoort, baritone, and Frederick N. Huttman, tenor. The program closed with a group of numbers by the Hollywood Woman's Club Chorus, directed by Hugo Kirchhofer.

Musical Act at Pantages Heads List

When a vaudeville presentation combines novelty with skill there is but little doubt of its future success. At Pantages this week there are a couple of clowns, Palo and Palet by name, who offer one of the most interesting and entertaining acts seen her ein many a day. Besides playing at least fifteen musical instruments, they introduce some very pleasing selections, including classical, popular and jazz arrangements. Their versatile performance easily places them in headline row.

Another act that is comprised of skill and novel stunts is the bicycle offering given by the four Girton girls. These girls are billed as tomboys on wheels, but are really more than that, because they are athletes, vocalists and daredevils. Some very clever performances in wheel riding is demonstrated, requiring not only considerable nerve but adeptness at balancing.

"Love Fables," a romance of song and dance, is so gripping in its theme that one is apt to forget their existence in this realm. Composed of a number of original song and dance presentations, the act is a little out of the ordinary and good. The Fenwick sisters, featuring attractive dresses and songs, have the usual line of entertainment, except that their numbers are rather slow and not adapted to the girls' personalities.

Race and Edge as suggested by the program, could either be a race for life or the edge of a razor blade. However, neither article is featured in the act, but is the identification of two comedians Taking off the English dude with his monocle and silent "h's," the pair get away with some good cross-fire dialogue. Barto and Melvin close the vaudeville with a bit of acrobatic manipulations applied in a novel way.

Program of American Compositions

A program of music by American composers took place before a large audience last evening at Bovard Auditorium, University of Southern California. It was given under the auspices of the American music committee, of which Adelaide Trowbridge is chairman.

Not only were all the compositions by Americans, but fully three-fourths of them were by resident composers, and with several of them appearing in their own works.

Numbers by Charles Wakefield Cadman were much in evidence. Mme. Anne Ruzena Sprotte sang three numbers, "Songs from the Odessy;" in these Cadman has shown a greater talent than in many of the simpler songs which have been so much responsible for his popularity. Mr. Cadman's "To a Vanishing Race" was performed with distinction by the Zoellner Quartet.

Homer Grunn's "Chant of the Five Hills" was sung by Ruth May Shaffner. The number is colorful and reminiscent of Indian music.

Throughout the program, which offered a splendid array of the creative work of Southern California musicians, certain tendencies were evident. There was in most instances a striving for simple beauty, directly told. The Indian influence is strongly felt, in a modernized form. There is much originality, and more than a few of these numbers will undoubtedly still be played in years to come.

A beautiful number was Charles Skilton's "Sunrise Song." This was performed by the Zoellners, as was "Fantasie for Strings," by Frances Marion Ralston.

Three songs by Anna Priscilla Rischer were effectively sung by the Madrigal Octette, with Miss Rischer at the piano.

Fred McPherson sang three songs by Gertrude Ross, which were well received. Dean Walter Skeele, organist, opened the evening with two numbers. Very popular with the audience was a Marche Fantasie for two violins and piano by Helen Livinstone, played by Marie Webb, Harriett Beckett and Dorothy Gleason.

Two compositions by Vernon Spencer "Scotch Romance" and "Valse Fugitive" were ably interpreted by Sol Cohen, violinist.

PLAYLET SCORES

EMMETT CORRIGAN IN TABLOID DRAMA ORPHEUM HIT

By Grace Kingsley

Dividing the capitals are Emmett Corrigan and Henry Santrey's band. Santrey gives a new burlesque descriptive song that hands the big-league challenge to the other one in his talented keeping.

Squeezed dry of its pungent dramatic essence, and boiled down to tabloid size, Augustus Thomas's noteworthy play, "The Copperhead," is strikingly presented by Corrigan and his players. It is the story of the patriot who risked his life and sacrificed family and honor, and even the chance of looking his last on his dead son's face, for his country during the Civil War, told and played poignantly and impressively. Corrigan plays with a simple naturalness, yet quiet force, that is very effective. Doris Kemper as the girl is pretty and is very good in places, but seemed a trifle wooden in others. Excellent types and excellent portrayals were given by Jeffrey Williams, Frank Crayne, Harry E. Willard, Travers Vale and Aida Woolcott. The shadowy presence of President Lincoln was potently suggested, and added incalculably to the feeling and dignity of the playlet.

Grette Ardine has the doxology spot, and proves worthy of an easier fate. A finely trained acrobatic stepper is Miss Ardine, and originality as well as pep season her act. She is likewise that rare being, a graceful acrobatic stepper. Her two dancing boys, Messrs. Tyrell and Fynan, have nice personalities, and give us a generous helping of new steps. The whole act is nicely dressed, especially Miss Ardine, who shows a repertoire of gowns as charming as her dancing.

It does seem as though Charles Olcott and Polly Ann should register better than they do. But their home-made songs, except in the "When a Feller Needs a Friend" number prove only mild entertainment. They are a pleasing couple, but apparently should buy somebody else's songs.

Up in the take-off place are Strobel and Mertens, who have a spine-tickling aerial act that departs to good returns.

If there had been another season in addition to the four, as presented by James Conlin and Myrtle Glass, I don't know whether I could have bourne it. They seemed to me rough and un-funny. But the house loved them, judging from the applause.

N.V.A. Ball Thursday

Mal St. Clair Busy

Mal St. Clair, whose "Fighting Blood" stories have achieved such popular success, has been added to the Warner Brothers directorial staff.

This is Mr. St. Clair's second engagement at the Warner Brothers' West Coast Studios, he having recently completed George M. Cohan's "George Washington, Jr.," with Wesley Barry in the title role. The Warner program calls for the production of twenty pictures for the current season, and a story is to be assigned Mr. St. Clair just as soon as the scenario is prepared. Darryl Francis Zanuck, whose story, "Habit," was a popular seller, has been engaged to write the first of the director's stories.

"THY NAME IS WOMAN" TO CLOSE THIS WEEK

Fred Niblo's Metro production, "Thy Name is Woman," has entered upon the final week of its run at the Mission Theater.

Angelenos, by their attendance, have seemingly agreed that this picturization of Florence Reed's stage triumph is Niblo's most interesting production to date, while considerable interest is centered in the bringing together again of Ramon Novarro and Barbara La Marr in the leading roles. The entire cast is individually fine, the deft portrayals of William V. Mong, Robert Edeson, Edith Roberts, Wallace MacDonald and Claire MacDowell adding to the effectiveness of the picture to no small extent.

"Thy Name is Woman" will be shown at the Mission for the final time next Sunday, its succeeding attraction being the Sawyer-Lubin screen version of "The Shooting of Dan McGrew" in which Barbara La Marr, Percy Marmont, Lew Cody and Mae Busch interpret the quartet of Robert W. Service characters.

HEADACHE GONE TIRED NO MORE

Gives Credit to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Hopes Other Women Will Benefit by Her Experience

Skowhegan, Maine.—"I was sick most of the time and could not get around to do my work without being all tired out so I would have to lie down. One day when I was reading the paper I saw the Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertisement and saw what it did for other women, so I thought I would try it. I have taken three bottles, and cannot begin to tell you what it has already done for me. I do all my work now and keep up the whole day long without lying down. I have no more headaches nor tired feelings. I hope every woman who takes the Vegetable Compound will get as much benefit out of it as I have."—Mrs. PERCY W. RICHARDSON, R.F.D. No.2, Skowhegan, Maine.

You have just read how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped Mrs. Richardson. She gave it a trial after she saw what it had done for other women. For nearly fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been doing good.

Life in Los Angeles is What We Make It. If You are Not Well, Here is Your Key to Health

Los Angeles.—"Over fifty years ago I first heard of Dr. Pierce's remedies. I was recovering from typhoid fever and my doctor thought I would not pull through, as I was left in such a poor, weakened condition and had an ulcerated stomach. I could not eat, to regain strength. I heard of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and found in it the healing, building-up my body needed.

"My husband wants to join with me in praising the 'Discovery.' He has used it frequently as a tonic, is 84 years old and says Dr. Pierce's medicine has kept him young. I am 82, and I know it has prolonged my life." — Mrs. N. J. Salsberry, 3331 Gleason Avenue.

Health is your most valuable asset. Do not neglect it. Obtain Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, in liquid or tablets, at drug store. Write Dr. Pierce, President Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice, or send 10c for trial package of tablets.—[Advertisement.

CITIES INQUIRE ABOUT CHARTER

Tulare's Clerk Gets Letters Asking for Details

Ranchers Use Mt. Whitney Water for Planting

TULARE, May 5.—Tulare's city charter is attracting attention in other California cities. City Clerk C. W. Cobb is in receipt of communications from two cities asking for details, to assist them in preparation of charters of their own.

One letter was from Burton Washburn, secretary of the newly elected Board of Freeholders of Hanford, and the other was from F. A. Lewis, secretary of the Roseville Freeholders. Each of the inquiries stated that the city was framing a new charter and requested full information.

STORES TO CLOSE

DINUBA, May 5.—Dinuba stores likely will remain closed for several hours on the morning of the 6th inst. in order that merchants and employees may actively assist in the clean-up campaign in progress all over Tulare county.

All civic bodies in Dinuba will participate in this drive, the Chamber of Commerce, Woman's Club, Merchants' Bureau and other organizations having announced approval of the movement.

IRRIGATE RANCHES

SPRINGVILLE, May 5.—A full head of water is being received at the Mt. Whitney ditch, which is in good shape to carry it since the annual spring cleaning has been completed. Thorough irrigation is in progress on all ranches since the turning in of the water, many flooding their land for planting corn.

Ranchers and poultrymen report a somewhat larger acreage of field corn being planted this season. Barley sowings on many ranches are smaller, owing to the unusually dry season.

CHARITIES MEET

EXETER, May 5.—At a meeting of the Associated Carities in the Chamber of Commerce a constitution and by-laws were adopted and reports of officers heard. The report of Mrs. E. H. Miles, secretary-treasurer, showed a present membership of 256 and that about $215 had come into the treasury from all sources. Of this amount to date practically all has been spent for relieving the suffering of individuals in Exeter.

OROSI, May 5.—Pupils of the Orosi grammar school will present the operetta, "A Visit to Fairyland," in the high school auditorium Wedensday evening. Mrs. Glen Campbell, musical instructress, will act as stage directress and has been assisted by others of the grammar-school faculty in training the participants. Principals of the cast are Kathleen Putnam, Howard Yeager, Hazel Gilliand, Louise McMurchy, Linnie Harrison and Vivian Goble. The chorus consists of fifty or more voices. This entertainment is expected to be the best ever given by the grammar school.

THREE SAFES ROBBED IN SANTA BARBARA

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, May 5.—Safe crackers last night entered three of Santa Barbara's largest shops, blew the vaults in each one after making expert preparations and departed with a total of $1000. The largest single haul made was $800 taken from the safe of a women's shoe store. From clews found and because of similarity in methods used it is thought by police that the robberies were accomplished by the same gang that last month raided two stores and blew the safe in another. In each case lock screws in the street doors of the stores were loosened during the day when the door was open so that it was possible to open the door at night without forcing the catch.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SAN FERNANDO, May 5.—The red, white and green and the spread eagle of the Mexican standard, interwoven with the red, white and blue stars and stripes of the United States emblem featured the decorations of floats and automobiles participating in the parade in connection with the celebration here today by several thousand of the Spanish-speaking residents of the valley. They came from near and far to commemorate the anniversary of the birth of freedom for them. Games, speaking, songs, athletic contests and dreamy Spanish music and graceful dancing constituted the program, which was continued far into the night. Native costumes and foods were much in evidence, while the songs, music and dances harked back to other days and other lands.

CITIZENS TO PROTEST CEMETERY PROPOSAL

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

CHATSWORTH PARK, May 5. Residents of this place are preparing to descend en masse Wednesday on the Los Angeles City Council to protest against the adoption of an ordinance permitting the establishment of a cemetery in the town, as recommended by the City Planning Commission. Opposition is on the ground that the location of a cemetery in the vicinity of residential property decreases its price. Opponents of the project question the statement that the Associated Chambers of Commerce of San Fernando Valley has gone on record in favor of the cemetery.

SEEN IN BERLIN

German Speculators Have Money to Spend and Spend It

Food shops in Germany are open four hours in the day, from 12 to 2 and 3 to 5. Long lines of women and children wait in front of these stores. If you stand near them, you learn that a week's wages evaporate in two pounds of meat, several pounds of margarine and four loaves of bread. Milk is so scarce it is sold only by card, issued by the municipal authorities. Manufacture of cream is forbidden. Eggs are 25 cents apiece and consequently prohibitive. The most skilled German workman rarely makes more than 50 cents a day.

Yet, on Saturday nights, Kurfurstendamm, Berlin's Broadway, is crowded with earnest drinkers and revelers. The consumption of champagne, German and French, must outrival that of milk. Cafes and cabarets are packed to the doors. Not foreigners, but Germans. And it must be remembered that these places are operated on the "gold" basis—that is, prices are marked in accordance with the exchange. A Martini cocktail, and a poor one at that, costs 75 cents; prohibitive for a foreigner, but a trifle, apparently, to these corpulent gayety seekers.

Who are they? Speculators. Young men employed in banks who gamble on the Bourse and Exchange; traders from Eastern Europe; a few legitimate factory owners; but in the main the floating class of fortune-seekers and makers who profit by a land's misery. You will find them in Russia, in the Balkans. They were in Austria until the crown was stabilized. Now they are hovering near the Bourse in Paris, waiting for the franc to descend further. You cannot judge a country's prosperity by their mode of living, no more than you estimate the wealth of America by the stickpin of a Broadway confidence man.

To a certain extent everyone in Germany is a speculator. Even the railroad porter has a few dollars salted away with which he manipulates petty deals in the various kinds of paper money and state loans. But the profits of speculation are only for a few. The man who lives on wages is not actually starving—there is no famine in Germany such as I saw in Russia—but he is undoubtedly poorer than our poorest. The professional class are even worse off. They haven't the aggressiveness nor the opportunity to demand equitable wages. The class that lived on an income is of course finished. The destruction of the paper mark did that. — [Samuel Spedack in Collier's.

SEES LEGLESS COUNTRY

Walkers' Club Says Motor Cars Tend to Atrophied Limbs

The novel doctrine that man's legs and feet were made for walking and not for stepping on the gas, is put forward by a little group of serious hikers who fear that civilization is in peril. The particular peril they see ahead of civilization s that of losing the use of the human leg.

Organs or appendages that are not used, they assert, have a tendency to atrophy and disappear. Nature gets rid of them in the course of evolution. And they add that this country, which leads all the nations in the multitude of motor cars, logically would be the first to become legless.

George Washington had a handsome pair of legs, according to the sculptors and painters, and those legs should be enshrined as an ideal in the thoughts of all good Americans. Such legs as he showed to the world could never be developed by roaring around in a roadster. Working the foot brake and juggling the clutch would not endow their shapely muscles with power and elasticity.

No; they say that the Father of his Country was too good a farmer, country gentleman, horseman and military leader not to have used his magnificent underpinnings to their full capacity, and that any American who aspires to have Washingtonian legs will have to get out and hike.

They assert that the joys of hiking are infinitely greater than any known to the feverish motorist. Hunched over the steering wheel with his eyes glued to the traffic he is unaware of natural beauty except as a name, and his leg muscles slowly but surely deteriorate for lack of exercise more strenuous than "stepping on it."—[New York Sun.

THE SECRET OF GIRLS

I was amused to read Mrs. Russell's naive admission that she married because she was sick of being pestered by men.

Dear, dear, what an interesting complaint! I can think of quite a dozen women of my friendship who would only be too pleased to give their glad eyes for a week of it.

Why is it that some of the nicest girls, nice to look at, nice to talk to, nice to be with, are never pestered by the too persistent attentions of the male sex?

While others equally nice, and all that, are escorted from the cradle to the grave by a never ending procession of gents, all willing and anxious to pet, pamper, protect and pester?

It is that curious something which gets a woman four or five husbands in one lifetime, while her better looking, worthier sister never gets a serious beau.

It is a secret behind glad eyes. A certain curious sense of comfort and ease about their presence. An ever-young, roguishness of heart. And, oh! just a little dash of sauce piquante.

Men cant' keep away from them. And that's all a lot of us ask for.—[Glad Eye News, by Jane Doe.

Reducing the Surplus

Twins had arrived at Bobby's home and he and his sister, Dorothy, were rather in the dumps, feeling that they were neglected for the newcomers Bobby was scouting through the upper halls one morning when he saw the nurse preparing a bath for the twins and, having in mind the fate of several litters of kittens, he rushed to the head of the stairs and called to his sister in a hoarse whisper: "Dottie, come on up, quick! They're goin' to drown one of 'em."—[Boston Transcript.

Hot Air Runs Flivver

Kansans have been noted for doing the unusual, but it took Roy Mathis of Emporia to "operate a flivver on hot air."

As Roy tells it, he started for Kansas City one morning in his car, and believing his gas supply low, stopped at a station several miles out of town to fill up. When the station attendant went to fill up, there was no tank to fill. Roy turned around and started back over the road. Three miles back he found the tank.—[Exchange.

RICHMOND HIT BY MINISTERS

Reputation is Assailed by Defense Witnesses

Refusal to Admit Plaintiff to Pulpit Cited

Shuler Counsel in Attempt to Impeach Standing

A vigorous effort to impeach the character of Rev. George Chalmers Richmond, whose $50,000 defamation-of-character suit against Rev. Robert P. Shuler is on trial in Judge McDaniel's department of the Superior Court, was begun yesterday afternoon by the defense. Three ministers were placed on the witness stand in succession during the afternoon by the defense.

The first of these was Rev. W. G. Johnston, ex-officio member of the credentials committee of the Congregational Church. He told of receiving an application from Rev. Richmond asking admittance into the church as a minister. The witness was asked to answer "yes" or "no" to a question as to whether he thought Rev. Richmond's character was good or bad.

"I can't say it's good," he replied, "so it must be bad."

Rev. Benjamin Boller of Hollywood, also an ex-officio member of the credentials committee, followed Rev. Johnston on the stand. He stated that he voted to deny Rev. Richmond's application to enter the ministry in the Congregational Church because he had two suits pending in Superior Court, the present one and another against Bishop Thomas of the Episcopal diocese of Wyoming.

The last ministerial witness was Rev. E. F. Daugherty, pastor of the First Christian Church. Rev. Daugherty declared in unmistakable terms that he considered the reputation of Rev. Richmond to be bad.

Counsel for the plaintiff cross-questioned the minister and brought out that he was a personal friend of Rev. Shuler, that he had never seen Rev. Richmond before coming into the courtroom and that he had never heard him preach.

To this, however, Rev. Daugherty replied that "a man's reputation precedes him to a community" and that he formed his judgment of Mr. Richmond from talks he had with other ministers of the city.

The case for the plaintiff was closed at noon. Promptly thereafter the defense moved that the case be dismissed on the grounds that Rev. Richmond had failed completely to refute the charges made against him in Rev. Shuler's magazine of January, 1923. The suit is based on this article. Judge McDaniel, however, overruled the motion, and the defense then began its case.

The first witness for the defense was Don Ryan, a local newspaper man, who wrote an interview with Rev. Richmond on which the article appearing in Rev. Shuler's magazine is said to be based. Ryan stated that his article was written in a satirical vein and therefore should not be taken too literally. A wrangle also developed over the two slang words "kicked out," it being charged that Rev. Richmond was thus referred to in the magazine article. Judge McDaniel settled this point with the statement that these words meant "thrown out."

Rev. Shuler also was on the stand for a short time and read into the evidence the article written by Ryan. He also stated that he had read the same article from the pulpit when Rev. Richmond was in the congregation but that the latter had refused to make any explanation when invited to do so.

LECTURER WHO FACES A TRYING SITUATION

"Gentlemen," said the chairman, looking first at the audience and then at me, "I know you are going to have a rare treat this evening, for our guest is a speaker of the highest caliber. Now, gentlemen, you can't expect to get something for nothing. Our attraction this evening costs us—costs—us—(business of fumbling in his pocket for a page of memoranda while I prayed God to strike me dead) costs us $390.60. There must be 1000 men here tonight. Now, if they'll give 40 cents apiece it will cover everything and leave $10 in the treasury for the next time."

Ushers passed the hat. The chairman counted the receipts with a growing expression of disgust. He stepped forward and flung up his hand.

"Gentlemen," he exclaimed in a tone which would have wrung remorse from a tiger, "the returns are all in and they amount to just $28.75! Less than 3 cents apiece!"

Though I knew I was worth less than half that sum, this knowledge did not diminish the pain of the situation. I looked vainly about for means of escape. Guests of honor were sitting between me and the only exit. I became aware that the chairman was speaking again, or still. He was asking the audience if they seriously thought such a speaker as myself was worth only $28.75. He was making the most of the rhetorical question, he was gloating over it. I was about to yield to the impulse to rise and fell him with my chair when he paused. He was offering the audience the alternative of having the hat passed again immediately or giving more the following Sunday. Vociferously the audience chose the latter alternative. Probably most of them would not be there next Sunday. Neither, thank Heaven, should I.—[Gregory Mason in the May Scribner's.

Our Intelligent Book Clerks

"You mean Thomas Edison?" said the clerk.

"No, no," said the customer, "Joseph Addison—Addison and Steele, you know."

Kith and Kin

"What were you and Mr. Smith talking about in the parlor?" demanded Miss Blushes's mother.

"Oh, we were discussing our kith and kin," replied the young lady.

"Yeth, you wath," interposed her little sister. "Mr. Thmith asked you for a kith and you said 'you kin.'"—[Unidentified.

WOMEN CLEANERS

Paris Authorities Gradually Eliminating Them From Service

The decision of the Paris municipal authorities to eliminate gradually from their service the women street cleaners, who help to keep the capital spick and span, has been received by some of them with a sniff of increduality.

The women join issue with the authorities on the question of motive for the decision, which is that the work is too hard for them. such humane scrupples are worthy, but wasted, seems to be the opinion of the women themselves. They are generally sturdy examples of the feminine laborer, and practice has inured them to whatever hardships the work entails.

Certainly, to the Montmartre reveller who meets them in the early morning looking pink and fresh as they wield their brush, they look considerably more vigorous than he feels. The city fathers are not indifferent to the faithful service of the women, and do not propose to dismiss them; it is just that they would like to make it entirely a male staff, and to attain this end only one vacancy in every three among the women will be filled by a woman. —[Continental Edition of the London Mail.

SURPLUS GIRLS

French Councillor Suggests They Raise Chickens for the Market

Poultry farming as an alternative to marriage has been recommended to girls by M. Ambroise-Rendu in a letter written to the Paris newspaper L'Oeuvre.

There are some hundreds of thousands of girls, says the oldest of the municipal councillors, who cannot possibly be provided with husbands, and as all cannot wish to be typists, secretaries or shop assistants, he suggests that they should form themselves into groups and rear chickens.

There is, says M. Ambroise-Rendu, a farm in the Oise department where such groups would be warmly welcomed, and the work is easy to learn and lucrative, as well as interesting.

"I know some young girls who are working in this way and have charge of five hundred hens," he says. Girls who prefer freedom in the fresh air of the country to a strenuous life in the city might in this way form colonies on the land in some of the beautiful agricultural districts of France and carve out an excellent career for themselves.—[London Daily Mail.

DOCTOR DENIES CHARGE

Charged with performing an illegal operation on Mrs. Dorothy Conner, Dr. Ernest M. Freeman, Long Beach physician, yesterday appeared before Judge Hardy. He entered a plea of not guilty. Trial was set for June 9.

"COPIES" NOT "TONS"

Houghton Mifflin recently received the following amazing telegram: "Rush twenty tons each Riverside Series Number Sixty-eight and Eighty-three." A careful estimate of this order showed that two freight cars filled to their capacity would be necessary to deliver these two little books to their destination. Unfortunately the books are not sold by the pound, and the telegraph operator had made a slight mistake. Copies were ordered and not tons. — [Boston Transcript.

Women More Careful Than Men

According to reports of the London police department, only a third of the traffic victims in that city are women. Even the provincial women visitors, say the police, are more careful of their personal safety then men. The department intends to start a campaign to educate men to look after themselves when a way from home.—[Pathfinder.

TRAP IS FOILED BY M'CARTNEY

Eludes Galveston Officers by Only Few Hours

Suspect Now Thought to be on Yacht in Gulf

Blaire Makes Guilty Plea on Charge of Assault

Police in Galveston, Tex., missed Grant McCartney, Los Angeles real estate man, under indictment here for an asserted frame-up against his wife, Mrs. Paule McCartney, only by a few hours, it was disclosed yesterday by Deputy Sheriffs Stensland and Weir of the homicide squad at the Sheriff's office.

The trail of the missing man was picked up, deputies declared, through a telegram received by Mrs. Caroline Faltis, society woman and admitted aide of McCartney in his escape after April 6, last, the day of the asserted frame-up.

Mrs. Faltis is said to have notified deputies several days ago she had received a telegram from a prominent Galveston business man, who declared he had been approached for aid in cashing a bank draft by a man using the name of Robert De Mille and posing as a friend of Mrs. Faltis.

ESCAPES TRAP

The society woman told deputies she knew no Robert De Mille and believed the man to be McCartney.

Immediately Deputies Stensland and Weir communicated with the Galveston police and a trap was arranged for the suspect, who is said to have planned to return later and get the draft cashed.

Something must have frightened the man, deputies declared, for he did not reappear and when Galveston police searched his room at a local hotel they found their quarry had escaped.

Through telegrams a net was spread at all Gulf Coast cities, and deputies declared they received information a man, answering the description of McCartney, has chartered a small but seaworthy yacht and has cleared harbor in New Orleans in a southerly course.

Boats on the Gulf of Mexico and the South Atlantic have been requested to report the appearance of the yacht, deputies said.

PLEADS GUILTY

Meanwhile, in Judge Crail's court yesterday, Sidney Blaire, former private detective, implicated in Mrs. McCartney's charges, pleaded guilty to a charge of assault against the society woman.

Through his attorney, S. S. Hahn, he yesterday filed application for a hearing on possible probation. This was granted by Judge Crail and the date of the hearing set for the 19th inst.

Mrs. McCartney charges she was lured to a road house by Blaire on April 6, last, and that she was forced into a compromising position while a flashlight photograph was taken. She accuses her husband of being present and also of striking her with the butt of a revolver.

FEARS LOVE LOST, TRIES TO END LIFE

Woman Shoots Herself in Fit of Despondency; Will Recover

Despondent because she believed her husband had ceased to love her, Mrs. Pearl Rosenberger, wife of Dr. C. F. Rosenberger, living at the Inglewood Hotel, attempted suicide yesterday afternoon by shooting herself in the left breast with a revolver. She was taken to the Inglewood Hospital where it was said she will recover.

Mrs. Rosenberger arrived about three weeks ago from San Antonio, Tex., where she had been visiting. Her husband is in charge of the Federal officers during the foot-and-mouth disease quarantine in the Inglewood district.

In a statement to the police Mrs. Rosenberger said:

"I don't know why I did it but I hope my Heavenly Father will forgive me. My husband had nothing to do with the affair."

Mrs. Rosenberger was treated at the hospital by Dr. Gail Fehrenson. Dr. Rosenberger had been in Inglewood about a month, coming from Texas.

According to Dr. Rosenberger, his wife, who is 43 years of age, has been subject to spells of mental depression.

"We were in our room at the Inglewood Hotel yesterday afternoon," said Dr. Rosenberger. "She had a gun in her hand and threatened to shoot herself. When I attempted to take the gun from her she threatened to shoot me. Before I knew what had happened she shot herself."

Dr. Rosenberger summoned medical aid for his wife immediately. His statements, according to Chief of Police White and Patrolman Larue of Inglewood, have been borne out by a police investigation.

ESPEE ENGINEER DIES IN WRECK OF LIMITED

DITCHING OF GOLDEN STATE TRAIN BELIEVED DUE TO SPREAD RAILS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

EL PASO (Tex.) May 5.—G. S. Thumm, veteran engineer of the Southern Pacific, was killed this morning when the Golden State Limited passenger train went into the ditch one mile east of the Lordsburg (N. M.) station.

The engine, tender, baggage car and mail car went into the ditch. Every one on the train received a shaking up, according to information received here. It will require but a few hours to replace the cars and engine on the track and resume traffic, railroad officials said.

The accident is thought to have been caused by spreading of the rails.

CAN YOUR TAXES BE CUT?

Series of Concise Articles on Cost of Government; Where the Money Goes and Why

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1924, in United States and Great Britain by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.]

DUPLICATING WORK

In Washington the American people are bearing the expenses of two great offices of general administration, the function and general character of whose work are almost identical. They have two separate and independent services for handling the matters of manufacture and purchase of munitions, equipment and supplies; the warehousing and transportation of supplies; the recruiting of their personnel; the disbursement of funds; the keeping and auditing of accounts. From a business standpoint these operations are practically identical in character.

We might continue the comparison down into hundreds of details, but the fact remains that we today are maintaining two separate and distinct plants to do what one can do much more effectively. True, their field activities are and should be independent, but that does not affect the issue in the least. The Navy, for instance, right now, is maintaining as a branch of itself a larger army force than the United States maintained previous to the Spanish War. That is the Marine Corps, which is the army of the Navy, and is probably the most efficient Army Corps in the service of the United States today.

The second major point of agreement between these two studies is the conversion of the existing Interior Department into what in effect is a Department of Public Works and Public Domain, though the Brown report retains the name Interior.

Take the engineering activities of the government as a present example of overlapping. (a) The work on the rivers and harbors, which cost the United States $49,000,000 in 1923, is under the jurisdiction of the War Department. (b) Construction of public buildings for the government is in charge of the supervising architect in the Treasury Department. (c) The Commission of Fine Arts has certain supervisory powers over certain public buildings and monuments. (d) Construction of irrigation works, and the construction and operation of railroads in Alaska are under the supervision of the Interior Department. (e) The building of roads is under the direction of the Department of Agriculture. All these are merged under one bureau in the new arrangement.

PUBLIC DOMAIN CONTROL

Or take the control of the public domain. The administration of the public domain is in charge of the General Land Office in the Department of the Interior, but the Geological Survey, the National Park Service, the Forest Service, in the Department of Agriculture, the Military Parks Commission in the War Department, and the Federal Power Commission, an independent body, all help to regulate the public domain.

Both the Brown and Willoughby plans merge all those activities into one department. Willoughby says: "The basic arguments in favor of the creation of this department are those which have been repeatedly given, bringing together under a common direction services having the same general function, or whose activities are of such a character that those performing them should maintain close working relations with each other."

The third major point of similarity between these two plans is that both advocate a new Department of Education with a Cabinet member in charge. The Brown report asks for a Department of Education and Welfare and to have four major divisions: Education, health, social service, veterans' relief. Under this plan six bureaus are taken from the Department of the Interior—the Bureau of Education, Indian schools, Howard University, St. Elizabeth Hospital, Friedmans Hospital and the Bureau of Pensions; two from the Department of Labor—the Woman's Bureau (part) and the Children's Bureau (part;) one from the Department of Justice—the office of superintendent of prisons; and five independent establishments—Smithsonian Institution, Federal Board of Vocational Education, National Home for Disabled Soldiers, Columbian Institution for the Deaf and the Veterans' Bureau.

RESEARCH PROVIDED FOR

The Willoughby report recommends a new Department of Education and Science under a Cabinet member. This report insists that the government is now engaged in the prosecution of scientific research on a very wide scale. This work should be given every assistance. It can be only by the recognition of scientific research as one of the specific functions of the national government and the creation of a separate department to have it in charge. This report would have all research institutions of the government transferred to this department, but no administrative work. There has developed some opposition to this department, but more to the Brown type than to the Willoughby type.

The Willoughby report adds one more new department, that of public health. All work dealing with the health of the people would be included under its jurisdiction.

Only those departments or bureaus which are by their very nature quasi-judicial or quasi-legislative in character would be left independent and free from departmental control, such as the Civil Service Commission, Federal Trade Commission, Tariff Commission, Federal Reserve Board, War Finance Corporation, Budget Bureau, Railroad Administration and also the government printing office.

Then this is a summary of what is being discussed in the government reorganization today. Will it save the taxpayers any money when it is accomplished? In the future probably a very great deal, but for the present very little.

But let Mr Brown himself tell us what he thinks: "I would do away with every scrap of duplication, every shadow of overlapping. I would reorganize the departmental service in accordance with the best practices of modern business. I would have the people get full returns on every penny expended in running the government offices, but what I want you to understand, and understand clearly, is that, whittle away as we may, we can only reduce the total public expenditures by perhaps a fraction of 1 per cent."

This is probably an understatement, but the fact remains that little saving, relative to the total expenses of the government, can be made in this way.

HONDURANS MAKE PEACE

Discordant Factions Sign Pact in Presence of President Coolidge's Representative

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

SAN SALVADOR, May 5.—A treaty of peace was signed Saturday at Amapala by the three discordant political factions in Honduras and representatives of the Central American nations. The document was signed in the presence of Sumner Welles, who was sent to Honduras by President Coolidge to mediate in the situation and endeavor to bring about a cessation of the revolution.

The signatures were affixed by the treaty on board the United States cruiser Milwaukee. The pact provides that free Presidential and Congressional elections shall be called by the provisional President, Gen. Vicente Tosta. All the parties to the compact agreed to abide by the results of the elections.

Under the provisions of the treaty, amnesty is to be accorded all political offenders. The carrying out of the treaty is guaranteed by all the signatories.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—A formal convention was consigned Saturday by the warring factions in Honduras, the State Department was advised today by Sumner Welles, personal representative of President Coolidge.

The delegates of the Central American powers and Mr. Welles telegraphed President Tosta that their governments would accord recognition to a government constituted in accordance with the agreement. Mr. Welles left on the Milwaukee for Santo Domingo to resume his post as American Commissioner to the Dominican republic.

The State Department said it was understood that President Tosta's Cabinet has not been definitely constituted and "in view of this situation it is hoped that the provisional government will be able to carry through its task in such a manner that there will be no recrudescence of the disturbed situation."

IRISH ENVOY COMING OVER

Prof. T. A. Smiddy Awaits United States Approval; to Deal Only With Affairs of Erin

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DUBLIN, May 5.—Within a few days an announcement will be made of the appointment of Prof. Timothy A. Smiddy as Minister Plenipotentiary of the Irish Free State to Washington. Great Britain has given its consent and has notified all the other Dominions of the pending appointment, and all that is required now is formal notification from Washington of Prof. Smiddy's persona grata.

Prof. Smiddy's status and powers will not be similar to those suggested for the Canadian envoy when his appointment was discussed a couple of years ago. It then was proposed that the Canadian envoy be a sort of assistant to the British Ambassador, substituting for him when absent. Prof. Smiddy will concern himself only with Irish affairs and will have no connection with the British Ambassador. Canada also has abandoned the plan of having an assistant to the British Ambassador, which was the idea of Sir Robert Borden.

It is hoped that this appointment will disarm much Republican propaganda in America, which now makes great play of the fact that Ireland is represented by the British Ambassador. The American appointment is regarded by the Free State as most important.

LEWIS WINS—COLLAPSES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ROCHESTER (N. Y.) May 5.—Ed "Strangler" Lewis successfully defended his title in a match with Joe "Toots" Mondt, of Colorado, winning the only fall in one hour, thirty-seven minutes and four seconds. The second fall was called after twelve minutes because of the time limit set by the State Athletic Commission.

A near riot followed Lewis's victory. The challenger made a rush at the champion at the end of the fall, claiming that he had been taken at a disadvantage when Lewis, apparently all in and lying stretched out beyond the ropes, rushed quickly and threw himself against Mondt to throw him to the mat. Police climbed into the ring from all sides, while Referee Sidell threw his arms around Mondt and led him to the dressing room. Lewis, after he had won his fall, collapsed on the floor of the ring. Fans hooted him, while Mondt was cheered to the echo.

OPEN ROYAL OPERA WITH HIGH PRICES

California Woman Will be Presented at Court During Gay London Season

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, May 5.—Fabulous sums of money changed hands on the sidewalks of Covent Garden today when speculators fixed their own prices for tonight's reopening of the Royal Opera for the first time since 1914. Even more fabulous were the stories told, such as $176 for an orchestra seat.

The occasion is heralded as the beginning of London's gayest season since the days of King Edward, as the whole royal family and court returned to London during the week-end and the program of the coming courts includes two state visits from the King and Queen of Rumania and the King and Queen of Italy.

Many American women will be presented at court, including Carol Glorner of New York and Constance Deighton Simpson of California.

MILLION-DOLLAR MAIL THEFT SUSPECT SHOT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

COLUMBUS (O.) May 5.—Joe Urbaytis, wanted for asserted participation in the million-dollar postoffice robbery at Toledo February 21, 1921, was probably fatally wounded in a gun fight with city detectives here today when they sought to arrest him.

Captain of Detectives Neal said that the wounded man is Urbaytis, although he asserts he is Alfred Walton of Boston, Mass. Identification was made by Bertillon measurements and photographs.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 5.—Ships arriving at and departing from San Francisco during the first four months of 1924 totaled 4357, according to the marine department of the Chamber of Commerce, a gain of 979 over the total for the same period of 1922 and of 226 over the first four months of 1923. They represented 9,455,759 tons of shipping.

The liner Ruth Alexander took to drydock today and a jagged hole about twelve feet in diameter near the bottom of the port side below No. 2 hold, was disclosed. The damage was greater than had been expected.

Shipyard officials gave the opinion that the vessel, while northbound from San Francisco to Puget Sound, had dropped into the trough of the sea and onto a pinnacle of rock. She rested there just long enough to have her bottom punched and then was lifted off by the water, they thought.

Capt. M. E. Cousins, master of the ship, said he did not feel the ship striking any object, though other members of the crew claim to have felt the impact. The liner was off the Mendocino coast at the time of the accident and was forced to anchor and let the H. F. Alexander of the same line take off her passengers.

Due to the extent of the damage the Ruth Alexander, which had been scheduled to sail for the north again today, will not be able to resume her schedule for some time. Bids for repairs will not be asked until a complete survey of the damage has been made. Company officials were unable today even to guess the probable cost of the necessary repairs.

Directors of the downtown association today approved unanimously the suggestions of Admiral E. W. Eberle, U.S.N., regarding the further deepening of channels into San Francisco Bay. Bonita Channel is being dredged to a depth of forty feet. Admiral Eberle said, in part:

"Dredging of the main ship channel to a depth of forty feet at mean low water would be of little material benefit to battleships.

"The commander-in-chief concurs with the opinion of the Pacific American Steamship Association to the extent that Bonita Channel, with its present rocks, is dangerous for navigation at certain stages of the tide and during heavy westerly weather and further that the main ship channel should be dredged to a depth of fifty feet at low water."

The Panama Pacific liner Manchuria, with passengers and freight, arrived here today from New York via Havana and Los Angeles. David S. Kennedy, marine editor of the New York Tribune, with Mrs. Kennedy, was among the passengers. The ship also brought 7-year-old Louise Schmidt, who completed the trip from Germany alone. She will join her father at Pittsburg, Cal.

SEATTLE, May 5.—Capt. John Alwen, acting master of the Shipping Board steamship West Hartland when she collided with the Governor off Wilson's Point, near Port Townsend, April 1, 1921, was exonerated of charges of negligence in a mandate of the United States Supreme Court received here today by District Clerk F. M. Harshberger.

After investigating the cause of the collision, which has resulted in huge claims for loss being filed against the government, William E. Fisher, supervising steamboat inspector for this district, filed charges of negligence against Capt. Alwen. The latter then filed a suit in equity in Federal Court, asking that Inspector Fisher's charges be annulled.

Ranking as the fastest vessel of her type in the world, according to marine agents, the Navy Yard route's new automobile ferryboat Seattle went into commission today in the Seattle-Bremerton route, covering the distance between the two ports in fifty-five minutes. The vessel replaces the ferryboat City of Bremerton, which has been drydocked for repairs in order to place her in first-class condition for the summer tourist season.

Another new ferryboat will be placed in commission by the Puget Sound Navigation Company early in June. The vessel will be the Olympic, formerly the steamship Sioux. She will rank as the first ocean-going ferryboat on the Pacific Coast, operating in the Port Angeles-Victoria route.

Water-borne commerce of Elliott Bay here reached the record total of 1,849,315 tons of cargo for the first quarter of the year, a gain of 393,302 tons, as compared with the first quarter of 1923, according to data given out for publication today by Port Warden Paul Edwards.

That a storm was brewing in the North Pacific was indicated today in a wireless message received by the City Harbor Department from the Dutch steamship Tjikandi, about 500 miles west, en route from Vancouver, B. C., to the Orient. A forty-mile east wind was blowing and the barometer falling, the message said.

With more than 100 Bering Sea whalers and whaling station hands as passengers, the Alaska Steamship Company's liner Victoria sailed tonight for Akutan Island and the whaling station there of the North Pacific Sea Products Company.

The steamship Alaska arrived tonight from Southwestern Alaskan ports, after making a call at Kodiak Island, bringing a cargo of fresh fish and copper ore for the Tacoma smelter.

The British steamship Knockfierna, one of two vessels afloat flying an Irish house flag, arrived tonight to load in the service of the newly established Pacific-European Line, for which concern Percy S. Laing & Co. of Seattle acts as agent.

PORTLAND (Or.) May 5.—With 16,000 bales of hemp and 1000 tons of copra from the Philippine Islands, the steamer West O'Rowa of the Columbia Pacific Shipping Company's tran-Pacific fleet arrived tonight.

Nitrates will be brought here by the Norwegian steamer Bannenfjord, expected from South American West Coast ports the 14th inst.

A large movement of alfalfa meal is to be started through this port in the near future, it was stated here today by L. A. Hunt, manager of the Northwest Hay Growers' Association of Yakima. Hunt is here investigating terminal, insurance and other charges relative to the handling of the meal here.

To complete a cargo of approximately 4,000,000 feet of lumber for New York, the McCormick steamer Felix Taussig shifted here today from St. Helens. The steamer loaded 2,000,000 feet at Aberdeen and takes the remainder on the Columbia River.

Coast and Geodetic Survey

Tides. Los Angeles Harbor.

Note—The following tabulation of the tides is compiled from the Pacific Coast Tide Tables of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey. The tides are arranged in the order of their occurrence, beginning with the first tide after midnight in the left-hand column. There are usually four tides, two high and two low, each day; but occasionally what would be the fourth tide occurs after midnight and thus becomes the first tide of the next day. The columns of heights give the elevation of each tide above the plane of reference of the Coast and Geodetic Survey chart soundings, except where the numbers are preceded by the minus sign, or dash, when heights are below the plane. The tabulations are furnished by the Field Station of the Survey, Customhouse, San Francisco, Cal.

Sunrise and sunset are computed for Los Angeles Harbor. Moonrise and moonset for Los Angeles.

PORT NOTES

Among passengers on the Danish motorship Panama from Antwerp yesterday were Lieutenant-Commander P. B. Kraup of the Danish Navy and Mrs. Kraup, who are touring the world. Commander Kraup was badly burned during an explosion on the Danish flagship Geiser while testing fog bombs last summer and has been in hospitals ever since. The trip is given him to help him recuperate. Eight American passengers disembarked here, all from Panama. They are Mrs. Marion Hutson, wife of Lieut. Hutson of the U.S.S. Nevada; Mrs. N. Brugge and two children; A. S. Brown, veteran customs officials at the Canal, and Mrs. Brown; G. E. Hancock, lieutenant of police at the Canal, and Mrs. Hancock. The Browns and Hancocks will motor through Washington and Oregon. The Panama is unloading 5700 bags of chalk, cement, cast iron pipe, pig iron and window glass, and will sail tomorrow for San Francisco.

The Haida Papoose, power cruiser built for Max Fleischmann by the Wilmington Boat Works, was launched yesterday and put through her first trials, making more than 30 knots, three more than anticipated. Because of the engines' newness they were not opened up. The craft will be used in sport fishing.

The little Mexican two-masted schooner San Antonio sailed for Lapaz yesterday after her annual overhaul at Fellows and Stewarts'. She carried a lone flivver above deck, for one of Lapaz's wealthy men, although the roads are said to be something no one ever mentions. The craft is owned by the Rufio store at Lapaz and transports merchandise between little ports on both sides of the Gulf of Lower California.

The liner Guerrero of the Mexican Free Ports Commission arrived from Corinto and way ports yesterday evening with five passengers for here and a big cargo of tomatoes, coffee and sugar. She will sail north today.

The Japanese freighter Lisbon Maru of the N.Y.K. Line arrived from Hongkong via San Francisco yesterday and is discharging 5600 bags of linseed cake, porcelain ware, soye beans and several hundred bamboo fishing poles. She will sail today for New York.

The Dollar round-the-world liner President Van Buren and the Pacific Mail liner Ecuador, both due yesterday from New York, arrived too late to pass quarantine last night and will dock shortly after sunrise this morning. Both are carrying large passenger lists of noted persons. Both vessels are said to have bucked heavy headwinds the past two days, preventing them arriving before the closing quarantine hour of sundown.

RADIO REPORT

The Radio Corporation of America, in co-operation with the United States Public Health Service and the Seamen's Institute, will receive requests for medical and surgical service from ships at sea through the KSE station at Los Angeles Harbor and its KPH station at San Francisco, without cost.

PALATIAL ESTATE AT BIG SACRIFICE

Owing to a bereavement in the family we have been authorized to sell this magnificent estate at a figure far below its actual value.

The house is constructed entirely of reinforced concrete with a basement running full length of the house. From an architectural standpoint there has been nothing left undone. Hardwood floors throughout, nothing but the best woodwork has been used and interior decorations are of the finest.

This wonderful home, and it is truly such, is completely furnished, no expense having been spared to make it a most attractive and livable home. The rugs, drapes and furniture are the finest that money can buy.

The house itself placed on a knoll and overlooking the surrounding country, makes it one of the most desirable locations in Southern California. Ten acres of grounds, improved with lawn, fish and lily pond, flower gardens, tennis courts and wooded parks, makes this property a veritable Garden of Eden.

Six large bedrooms each with private bath comprise the master bed chambers. Spacious living room and sun parlor, beautiful amusement room, dining room and breakfast room, kitchen and butler's pantry, also two maid's rooms and bath on the first floor. Garage for four cars and bungalow for caretaker and family, also fine accommodation for other servants.

Priced more than a hundred thousand less than the bank appraisal of $375,000. Small cash payment, balance very easy terms and low interest. Phone for an appointment, MR. CHISHOLM.

PLANTED
FIG GARDENS
NO PAYMENTS DOWN

J. C. Forkner, president of the J. C. Forkner Fig Gardens, Inc., hereby offers to 100 families a most remarkable proposition.

I have planted and sold 10,000 acres of fig gardens; I have spent $5,000,000 during the last ten years in development, there are 100 happy families living on these home acres now. I want 100 more families.

I have decided to sell 1000 acres of planted fig gardens, just coming into bearing, on the following conditions:

You may move upon 5 or 10 acres, adjoining the city of Fresno, and build a home and farm the land; will give you ten years in which to pay.

THE CROPS WILL PAY FOR THE LAND

Roads, ditches, highways, electric lines are built; townsites on land being developed; best water right in State; canning factory already built, church, schools and $5,000,000 lumber mill, employing 1000 men, on tract; only 15 minutes from center of Fresno.

I live on the land and have developed these fig gardens myself; any man who joins me cannot fail, for I will help him to succeed.

For details, see my personal representative, or, if you cannot personally call, write to address below, telling frankly what your circumstances are and what you plan to do.

A 5-minute interview with my personal representative will relieve you of any doubt as to the sincerity of this proposition.

ROCK BRIDGES NATURE'S OWN

National Monument in Utah Has Three Spans

All Are Result of Eccentric Stream Erosion

Largest is Hopis' Portal of Lower World

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Three natural rock bridges of great size and beauty, occurring within a few miles of one another near the head of White Canyon, are included in the Natural Bridges National Monument, located in San Juan county, Utah.

The Owanchomo (Rock Mound Bridge) from the conical rock mound upon it, locally called Edwin bridge, is probably the oldest, for it has been carved and chiseled until its span is comparatively a narrow strip of rock. One viewing it at a distance is surprised that it supports its own weight. It is the smallest of the three bridges, and yet it has a span of 194 feet, being thirty-five feet wide on top but only ten feet thick in the center. It rises 108 feet above the stream bed of a short, unnamed canyon at its confluence with Armstrong Canyon.

Three miles down Armstrong Canyon, at its junction with White Canyon, the Kachina or, at it is better known, Caroline Bridge, is reached. A symbol carved on this bridge, recognized as that of the Kachina, the sacred dancers of the Hopi Indians, gives it its name. This is the most massive of the bridges; rough hewn, it gives an impression of great weight and strength. The huge fragments of rocks and piles of sand and gravel in the canyon in the immediate vicinity are in harmony with the bridge, as if the Master Workman, not yet having finished his work, had not thought it necessary to clear away the debris. This bridge has a span of 186 feet, a width of forty-nine feet, and a thickness of 107 feet at its smallest part. It arises to a height of 205 feet above the stream bed.

About two and a half miles above the Kachina, in White Canyon, is the Sipapu, the Portal of Life. All Pueblo Indians believe they come into this world from a lower world through a hole or opening called by the Hopi "Sipapu." After death they return through the opening to the lower world, where they remain a period before going to the sky to become "rain gods." The Sipapu, or, as it is also known, Augusta Bridge, is the largest. It has a span of 261 feet, is 128 feet wide, and sixty-five feet thick at its smallest part, and rises to a height of 222 feet above the stream bed. It has been so carved and smoothed and is so beautifully proportioned that it is difficult to realize its great size. Nature has carried out the general scheme by providing a more beautiful setting than in the case of the other two bridges.

There are numerous ruins of cliff dwellings in the vicinity of the bridges perched in the canyon walls in almost inaccessible places. The monument also includes two large coves, which are separated some little distance from the bridge region. The larger, Cigarat Cave, is in the face of a cliff under the rim rock of a canyon wall. It is about 150 feet wide, twenty feet high, and gracefully decreases to a terminus at about fifty feet from the entrance, forming a sort of half dome. There is a spring in the further recess of the cave, which forms a stream that winds its way around the edge of the cave and sinks into the sand at its mouth. The vista looking into the canyon from the depths of the cave is a magnificent one.

SANDSTONE RAISED

The natural bridges are the result of eccentric stream erosion. Prof. Byron Cummings of the University of Arizona, who has spent a great deal of time in studying the bridges and the country in which they are found, gives the following explanation of their occurrence:

"Agest ago the great sandstone beds overlying this entire region must have been pushed upward by the internal forces of the earth, until in the places of their greatest elevation the various strata separated, mountains were formed, nd large cracks opened up that extended in zigzag lines way through the slopes of this vast tableland. This process of elevation was undoubtedly a gradual one, and as the waters of the mountains sought a lower level, they took their courses through these irregular crevices, searching for the ocean, which was then not far away. Their rushing currents and surging eddies were off the sharp corners, sought out the soft places in the yielding sandstone, dug out deep caverns and recesses in the cliffs, and left behind them a series of graceful curves and fantastic forms that amaze and delight the traveler at every turn.

"As the formation was pushed upward from time to time, these rushing torrents and surging estuaries kept on with their work of cutting, smoothing and filling until they have produced the deep box canyons so prevalent in this section, which sometimes widen out into small valleys of rich alluvial deposit and again narrow down to mere slits between huge masses of cliffs.

"This elevation and opening of the formation often left a narrow section of the cliff extending out into the gorge for rods, around which the stream had to make its way as it rushed onward in its course. The constant surging of the waters against this barrier revealed a soft place in the sandstone, where it gradually ate out a half-dome shaped cave. In a few instances as the waters swirled around the other side of this barrier, they reached the corresponding soft place on the opposite side and ground out a similar half-dome there.

"When, in the course of time, the backs of these two semicircular caves came together, the waters found a shorter course through that opening, enlarged the archway and smoothed off and rounded into graceful curves the sides of its massive buttresses. Thus a bridge was formed and became a mighty span of enduring rock, whose foundations and graceful superstructure were laid by the ages. All of the White Canyon bridges and the great arch of Nonnezoshie evidently have been formed in this manner."

REACHED BY TRAIL

The natural bridges lie about fifty-five miles west of the town of Blanding, Utah, and are reached from that point by trail. A guide, horses and pack outfit are necessary for the trip. Zeke Johnson of Blanding, custodian of the monument, is an excellent outfitter and guide. The trail extends east across a series of canyons and then climbs Elk Mountain and passes through the Bear Ears, 9040 feet above sea level. Elk Mountain is heavily timbered with giant western yellow pine and makes an ideal camping country. The trail descends the west face of Elk Mountain to the head of White canyon, where the bridges are located. White Canyon enters the Colorado River about thirty-eight miles west at Dandy Crossing. On the opposite bank is the town of Hite, which has one lone resident. From Hite it is fifty miles by trail to the nearest settlement, Hanksville, Utah, from which point a road may be traversed by automobile to the main road system of Western Utah. The entire trail trip across is one of unusual beauty and interest, the country being rich in coloration and forms.

Blanding, Utah, is reached by automobile road from Colorado points via Mesa Verde National Park and from Thompson, Utah, on the Pikes Peak Ocean-to-Ocean Highway, and the main line of the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad. There is automobile stage service from Thompson to Blanding, which is about 130 miles south of Thompson.

NEGRO YEGG SHOT; BABY GAVE ALARM

Child Calls Home Owner, Who Kills Intruder at Window

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) May 5.—Watchfulness of a 3-year-old girl caused William W. Melton, 657 South Fifth street, to discover a negro entering his home through a window. He fired one shot, at the intruder with a pistol he kept near his bed. The man disappeared.

Later the body of a negro, identified as Robert Mentor, 633 South Sixth street, was found in an alley between Fourth and Fifth streets, near Melton's home. He was shot near the heart.

Mr. and Mrs. Melton retired early last night and were asleep when the negro attempted to enter their home Mr. Melton was awakened at 8:30 o'clock by his daughter crying that she was afraid of the man at the window. He heard the window rattle and, thinking it was the wind, returned to sleep. A few minutes later his daughter awoke him again. This time Melton discovered the housebreaker.

After firing the shot he called the police and a squad of detectives were sent to the home. They found no trace of the negro except blood on the outside of the bedroom window.

In the meantime Robert Atkins, a taxicab driver, found the body in the alley. The negro was identified by his wife, Clara Mentor, who was located through a card found in his clothing.

Melton is a salesman for the Ben Snyder Department Store. He was arrested on a murder charge and paroled by Maj. Ben F. Griffin, Assistant Chief of Police.

How to Avoid Grade Crossing Accidents

Automobile drivers, when approaching railroad crossings, should go into second speed. Then look and listen. Absolute control thus is assured. Stop or go ahead, as conditions warrant.

During 1923 one hundred and three persons were killed and four hundred seventy-four injured at highway crossings on the Santa Fe Railway.

These regrettable accidents might have been avoided if these motorists had been careful.

The rapid increase in these grade-crossing accidents is due to the greatly increased and general use of the automobile in the hands of drivers ignorant or willfully disregardful of the perils which attend careless driving. Sometimes it is the careless driver alone who pays the penalty, but usually innocent ones pay it in part or entirely.

Automobiles should be safer at railroad crossings than horses, because they do not become frightened and are better controlled; but the opposite seems to be the case. An experienced driver of horses describes the proper method of approaching a railroad crossing asfollows: "Gather up the reins tight, take out the whip, and bring the horses to a walk." An experienced automobilist advises: "Always go into second speed."

The method is precisely the same in either case. The driver has absolute control, can stop or go ahead as conditions demand, and is alert to the situation.

If all drivers would but adopt this simple rule and adhere to it faithfully the problem would be solved. What a saving there would be of priceless human life, of grief untold, ambitions wrecked, and hopes lost forever!

You are urged to give this "Safety First" suggestion most earnest consideration. Better be safe than sorry.

NAVAL RESERVE OIL GROUP HERE

President's Commission to Study Situation

Hopes to Further Policy of Saving Supply

Tour Has No Significance in Scandal Inquiry

The Commission on Oil Reserves recently appointed by President Coolidge arrived in Los Angeles yesterday to investigate the reserves located here, Nos. 1 and 2, at Elk Hills and at Buena Vista.

The commissioners, who are at the Van Nuys, include the chairman, George Otis Smith of the Department of the Interior at Washington, Rear-Admiral Hillary Jones, representing the Navy; R. D. Bush of San Francisco, connected with the California State Bureau of Mines, and Lieutenant-Commander M. C. Robertson, who has been assigned by the Secretary of the Navy to serve the commission as its secretary.

KEEP OIL IN GROUND

"The President has adopted a policy relative to the oil reserves which aims to retain the oil in the ground wherever possible," said Mr. Smith. "Our mission is to study the situation in the various reserves with a view to ascertaining to what extent this policy can be carried out.

"An approaching shortage of oil is forecast and conservation measures are the part of wisdom at this time. Practices that will make for thrift in the use of oil may well be adopted by many industries and the general public, but the plan of reserving oil for use in national defense even more insistently demands public approval.

"The commission regards the needs of the Navy as fundamental to its study of the situation, but at the same time fully appreciates the broader aspect as to the whole question of national security and prosperity.

NOT ON INQUIRY TOUR

"The Navy itself is a national insurance policy and adequate reserves of the best fuel for the Navy form an indispensible part of this provision for the national security and prosperity."

Mr. Smith said the commission has nothing to do with the oil investigation that has been conducted by the Senate.

"Whatever may be the outcome of litigation now pending, in the prosecution of which the several government agencies are co-operating, the President's commission intends to base its immediate recommendations for administrative action upon the broad principle of preserving for the Navy as much as possible of the Navy's oil reserves until the Navy's need is most urgent," he explained.

The commissioners will spend several days in California, going over the situation and conferring with different persons interested. They then will go to the Teapot Dome field in Wyoming to continue their investigation.

Chicago Lawyer Seeks Vainly for Hectic Sights in Hollywood

"Lock me up. I came to Hollywood to get a thrill and that seems to be the only thing in sight."

Howard F. Kirk, a Chicago lawyer, uttered these words early Sunday when Officer Toledo found him at Vermont and Melrose avenues with a small bottle of liquor. The officer tried to persuade him to go home.

Kirk failed to appear when his case was called yesterday before Police Judge Sheldon and his bail of $100 was forfeited.

CLASS VOTE IS IN FAVOR OF CHARTER

When it comes to voting intelligently on the adoption of the new city charter today, students in the municipal government classes at the University of Southern California, will be well prepared, for the charter has been their only textbook for the past semester.

The classes, under direction of Prof. Roy Malcolm, who is the head of the political science department of the university, have made a careful study of all of the different phases in the new charter, and when a vote of the class was taken yesterday, it was unanimously in favor of the new charter.

"I am glad that you will be able to go to the polls tomorrow and vote intelligently on at least one issue," said Dr. Malcolm yesterday to one of his senior classes. "The old charter is as inadequate for the needs of a city of a million people, as is the old horse-drawn fire engine. We have been able to finish the study of the new charter before the end of the semester. If we had studied the old charter, with its flock of amendments, we might have finished it this semester, but is is so complicated, I doubt if any of us would have understood it."

Electrician and Taxi Driver Are Held After Fight

John R. Smith, electrician, of 1417 Yale street, Santa Monica, is being held by police on a charge of mayhem and C. R. Henderson, taxi driver, of 5919½ Moneta avenue, the asserted victim, is being held as a material witness following a cab ride on Sunday night which ended in a serious altercation. Both men last night were in jail after several hours in Receiving Hospital.

According to Detective Lieutenants Vail and Williams, who investigated, a fight started when Henderson forcibly placed his fare back into his cab after Smith is asserted to have attempted to desert the machine. Smith is asserted to have ordered the cab driven to 1417 Yale street without designating the city of Santa Monica. It was when the driver failed to locate the desired designation that the altercation ensued.

PASADENAN IS ACCUSED OF MANSLAUGHTER IN AUTO MISHAP FATALITY

Trial of Dr. W. C. Schley of Pasadena, charged with manslaughter in the killing of Mrs. Ida Elizabeth Walker of Pasadena in an automobile accident, was begun yesterday before Judge Hahn and will continue today. Witnesses were C. B. Walker, Mrs. Walker's husband, J. M. Hartley and W. H. Long, bystanders, and four Pasadena policemen. The latter testified Schley had been drinking.

When the case first came up April 17, last, Walker, principal prosecution witness, was missing. He was found the next day and taken to court. Judge Hahn lectured him severely and sentenced him to three days in jail for contempt.
